U. S. SPEEDS UP FIGHT TO BRING BACK INSULL

Extradition Hearing Nears in Athens.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 24.—The American government's second attempt to extradite Samuel Insull to face charges of fraud in connection with the bankruptcy of a group of his operating, holding and securities companies will resume an active phase again this week, it was announced today.

The Greek foreign office, which obtained the documentary proofs relating to the American charges against the former Chicago utilities magnate last Tuesday, is conducting careful certification and translation. The task will be completed about Friday or Saturday, after which the documents will be transmitted to the Greek Court of Appeals through the ministry of justice.

To Iron Out Procedure.

Forrest Harness, assistant attorney general of the United States, expects to interview the Greek minister of justice some day this week to discuss thoroughly the formalities of Greek court procedure and other matters. Harness probably will consult with the minister on whether the American government may retain Greek lawyers to assist the prosecutor in presenting the case and on what his own position in the court may be.

American authorities regard it as essential that Harness sit in the court during the hearing. The assistant attorney general then could have ready communication with the prosecutor and elucidate legal points as they arise. It is impossible for Harness as a foreigner to address the Greek court directly.

Lincoln MacVeagh, American minister to Greece, who last week presented his credentials, had an interview this week-end with D. Maximos, foreign minister. It is believed he may have informally conveyed the importance which the American government attaches to the extradition of Insull.

Judge Olson Leaves Greece.

Apart from this, there appears to be a better realization among Greeks this time of the interest of the American public and American justice in the Insull case and that there is no politics pushing the case.

Several undercurrents of the Insull affair developed locally last week during the long wait. The first was the visit here of former Judge Harry Olson, at one time chief justice of the Chicago Municipal court. Judge Olson arrived from Cairo, Egypt, saw Insull and his lawyers and proceeded yesterday to Italy on his way to London.

Judge Olson denied he was representing Insull, but said he is interested in the Insull case. He saw Harness and told him he would sail for Chicago from England on Oct. 5.

Sent by Insull Jr.

According to trustworthy information, Judge Olson's visit here was made at the request of Samuel Insull Jr. His interest in the case is said to concern Insull money. Judge Olson has been in Europe since July and is reported to be investigating reports circulated about Insull and the so-called "mystery woman." Mrs. Helene Kouryoumdjoglou. She is now Insull's closest friend and adviser. She pays him regular and lengthy visits at the hospital where he is confined and is seen at other times in audience with politicians.

Judge Olson will see Mrs. Samuel Insull in Italy before continuing to London to consult with the law firm of Simmons & Simmons. This firm handles the funds which Insull receives here.

Family Break Reported.

It is rumored in Athens that Insull has been abandoned by his relatives and that his son Samuel is displeased with his father's reported friendship with the so-called "mystery woman." It is known also that when Mrs. Insull left here hastily just before Insull's arrest her husband was not at the station to bid her farewell. Greek gossipers are saying they had an open break. Insull explains the fact that he does not correspond much with his family with the explanation that he fears the American government will steal his letters and give them to the newspapers.

Insull is beginning his fifth week of detention in his luxurious hospital quarters overlooking Mount Hymettus. His growing bitterness is seen by many to indicate he fears he will not be able to avoid extradition this time.

Insull has a Greek "sojourn permit" expiring in January. Should this not be renewed he would be without credentials and could be deported.

SERBIAN RULERS TRADE KISSES AT RUMANIAN FETE

SINAIA, Rumania, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Kisses were liberally exchanged in an atmosphere of royal cordiality today with the arrival of King Alexander and Queen Marie of Jugo-Slavia to celebrate the anniversary of Pelesch castle.

Prince Nicholas of Rumania, who eloped with a commoner in 1931, renouncing his rights to succession to the throne, accompanied them and was warmly greeted by his brother, King Carol of Rumania. The prince's marriage had caused an estrangement.

Foreign Minister Benes of Czechoslovakia and Boshko Jeftich, Jugo-Slavian foreign minister, who are here for the conference of the little entente [Rumania, Jugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia], lunched with King Carol and high state officials. The little entente held sessions in the royal council chamber this afternoon and issued a communique which said "the general political situation, particularly in middle Europe, as well as disarmament," was discussed.

Visitor Takes Poison in "Streets of Paris" Cafe

David K. Andrews, 28 years old, of the St. Clair hotel, whose father is head of the Richmond Hosiery company in Chattanooga, Tenn., attempted suicide last night in a café in the Streets of Paris at the World's Fair. He swallowed a quantity of poison, but his life was saved by Wesley Brown, a Fair guide, who rushed him to the emergency hospital on the Exposition grounds for treatment. A letter addressed to his father, Garnett Andrews, was found in the young man's pocket. It stated that he was taking his life because he deemed himself a misfit in society and had failed to succeed in business.

Pastor Wins Church Fight; Elders Resign

The entire governing board of the Crerar Presbyterian church at 81st street and Calumet avenue resigned yesterday after the congregation voted to refuse to accept the resignation of its pastor. The vote was a victory for the Rev. Willard H. Reeves, young pastor of the church whose theology had been termed "too liberal" by some of the elders.

A new governing board, or session, as it is called in the Presbyterian polity, will be elected next Sunday. Seven of the ten members of the old board were actively opposed to the Rev. Mr. Reeves. They and the three remaining members resigned in a body after the vote was taken. A. A. Stagg Jr., son of the former University of Chicago football coach, was among the latter three.

Dismiss Choir Leader.

It was explained last night that the trouble started last spring when Choirmaster W. B. Graham, a friend of the pastor, was dismissed because funds were running low. Graham was also a member of the session. His dismissal was opposed by the young folks in the church. More recently there have been rumbles of dissatisfaction among the older members of the church over the pastor's ideas. One of them said last night, in explaining the church rift, that the minister was "lacking in leadership."

Ten days ago the pastor called a meeting of the session, of which he is the ex-officio chairman, and informed the members that he was ready to resign if they wished. They indicated the resignation would be acceptable. However, as is customary in the Presbyterian church, the board put the question of accepting the resignation up to the congregation as a whole.

Vote Against Acceptance.

The congregation of the church yesterday voted overwhelmingly against accepting the resignation. The board immediately resigned after the pastor's victory. The board members, however, charged that the supporters of the Rev. Mr. Reeves had brought in unqualified voters.

The members of the board who opposed the Rev. Mr. Reeves are Luther Johnson, Waldo Shaver, Allen McKenzie, John Whitesford, L. N. Jordon, F. A. Reker, and C. W. Brott. The other resigned members are Stagg, W. B. Graham, and W. J. Tall.

TURNER FLYING WEST TO EAST TO SET NEW RECORD

Airport, Burbank, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Col. Roscoe Turner, noted speed pilot, took off at 10:38, Pacific standard time, tonight in an attempt to break the present Los Angeles to New York air record of 10 hours 19 minutes established by James Haizlip of St. Louis during the 1932 national air races.

Col. Turner, flying his red and gold low winged monoplane, in which he set the present New York to Los Angeles record of 11 hours 30 minutes last July, planned to stop for refueling at Albuquerque, N. M.; Wichita, Kas., and Indianapolis, Ind.

The aviator said he hoped to make it to New York in less than ten hours. His plane is powered with a 900 horse power motor and Col. Turner said he expected to average 250 miles an hour. In the last year Turner has made three unsuccessful attempts to better the west-to-east mark, but each time was forced down. His wife, Mrs. Corline Turner, now is in New York, where she expects to greet her husband Monday morning.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The ice scarred Bear of Oakland, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's main contact with Little America, tonight was awaiting the dawn for the start of the glacial regions about the south pole.

Last minute preparations filled the day as foodstuffs and scientific equipment were placed into holds and the crew and party of scientists who will sail with her were assigned to quarters in the sturdy, compact old whaler.

Relatives and friends crowded the decks for final farewells to the men whose adventure will keep them from America for the next two years.

Gus Winkler, north side gang chief, was arrested last night in connection with the killing of Policeman Miles Cunningham last Friday. The policeman was slain by a gang of machine gunners escaping from a loop robbery in which they seized a consignment of federal reserve bank mail.

Winkler was linked with the crime when police traced the ownership of the killers' automobile, wrecked in their getaway, and learned that it had been outfitted with bullet-proof glass, a smoke screen contrivance, and fake police equipment at the instance of Joseph Bergl, Cicero garage owner who is a former partner of Winkler.

The police also learned yesterday from ballistic tests that one of the machine guns used in the slaying of Policeman Cunningham was used in the Kansas City Union station massacre of June 17, when five men were slain.

New Evidence Against Kelly.

The ballistics clews were additional evidence, the police said, that George [Machine Gun] Kelly was one of the slayers of Policeman Cunningham. Kelly's connection with the murder had been previously established through the automobile abandoned at the time of the killing and by the identification of eyewitnesses.

Kelly is a pal of Harvey Bailey, known as one of the toughest outlaws in the southwest, who is now on trial in Oklahoma City for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire. There is a price of $10,000 on Kelly's head for this kidnaping. He is also wanted for the Kansas City massacre.

Winkler Seized with Wife.

The capture of Winkler occurred in his five room apartment on the fifteenth floor at 3300 Lake Shore drive. His wife, Georgette, was with him and was also taken into custody. Both refused to answer police questions.

The arrest of the gang chief, who had been sought since Friday's killing, was the result of the constant shadowing of his Negro chauffeur. The police finally trailed the chauffeur to the apartment building and demanded information about Winkler from the building manager.

The manager asserted that no such man lived there, but when confronted with a photograph of Winkler at the detective bureau he declared that the man pictured was living in the building under the name of M. J. Michael.

Delivery Boy Helps Police.

Sergt. Al Schuetz and a squad went to the apartment and were about to break in when a delivery boy arrived with packages for the Winklers. The policemen waited until Mrs. Winkler opened the door and then seized her.

Her screams were heard by Winkler, who was in another part of the apartment and he was arrested when he ran to her rescue. The police learned that the couple had been living in the apartment since Jan. 1, though they declared their home was at 4151 West 26th street.

A search of the apartment revealed a small arsenal. The police found an automatic rifle, two automatic pistols, a large quantity of ammunition, and two arm stocks for pistols.

The Winklers were taken to the detective bureau and locked up for the night, police announcing they would not be questioned until this morning when Chief of Detectives Schoemaker and federal authorities would interrogate them.

Questions Bergl Again.

Chief Schoemaker spent two hours yesterday questioning Bergl, Winkler's former partner, who has been in custody since Friday. The chief announced that he had learned nothing more than Bergl had told before about the equipping of the killers' automobile, but the police said they had evidence that Bergl has done a thriving business in selling automobiles to gangsters.

Winkler's pal, Fred [Killer] Burke, had an automobile which he had bought from Bergl when he was captured in Missouri and taken to St. Joseph, Mich., there to be sent to prison for life for murdering a policeman. Francis Keating and Thomas Holden, Chicago mail robbers who escaped from Leavenworth prison, came back to Chicago while government agents were seeking them and bought a car from Bergl. Feudist Slays Benefactor of Hill Folk Waynesville, N. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Thomas Price, 65, of South Orange, N. J., who retired this year as secretary of the Union Pacific system, was shot and killed from ambush this afternoon while he was riding horseback with two mountaineers on his 1,200 acre estate near here.

His companions, Virge Williams and Charles Buchanan, were wounded by shotgun charges, Williams seriously. Messrs. Price and Williams fell from their horses to the trail, but Buchanan, who suffered minor injuries, was able to summon aid after the assailants, three men, had fled through the woods down Lick Stone mountain.

Man of Many Activities.

Mr. Price was a wealthy man, helped manage 19 railroads and other utility companies, was director in a large group of industrial and mining companies, including some in Illinois.

For 25 years, ever since he first obtained his summer home, Mr. Price had mingled among the hill folk, providing them with medical care at his estate, maintaining a circulating library there for them, contributing to their schools and churches, intervening as a peacemaker in the feuds.

It was the last named public service, Sheriff Lowe said tonight, to which Price fell a victim. Dewey Potter of Haywood county had sworn a blood feud against him, the sheriff charged. Mr. Price had intervened in a feud involving Potter and the latter resented it.

Fined as Trespasser.

Although he knew Mr. Price was opposed to it, Dewey Potter went hunting on the Lick Stone mountain estate last Saturday. Mr. Price had him arrested and haled before a local magistrate. The magistrate convicted Potter, fined him $5 and warned him against molesting Mr. Price.

When the ambuscade became known, a posse of mountain friends from this town set out on horseback after the feudists.

Hard Job to Surrender.

Potter came to Waynesville with his brother, Clarence, and Eric Ledford. They met W. C. Ireland, a teacher in the high school here.

"Where is the law?" Ireland quoted the men as asking him.

He inquired what they wanted with a policeman and Clarence told him, he said:

"We got Dewey Potter."

Potter told him he had been to the jail, but couldn't find any one there.

"I shot him and I want to be locked up," Ireland quoted Potter as saying.

While they were talking Fred Caldwell, a policeman, came up and the Potters and Ledford went off with him to the jail.

A guard was thrown about the jail in the fear that some of the hundreds of mountaineer folk whom Mr. Price had befriended would attempt to avenge his death. The news spread quickly throughout the section, which is in the shadow of the Great Smoky Mountains National park.

Potter Admits Shooting.

In a later confession Potter said that he was alone in the ambush. Williams and Buchanan said, however, that he was accompanied by several men. Examination of the body showed that Mr. Price had been struck in the right chest by a pistol or rifle bullet, while the wounds of his companions yielded shotgun pellets.

From his hospital bed Williams described the ambush to the authorities. They were about three miles

RECOVERY DRIVE LAGS; PRESIDENT SEEKS NEW SPUR

France Is Warned

PARIS. — Leading French financial authorities warn nation that it must either balance its budget or resort to inflation. Marcel Regnier asserts that balancing the budget will be hard, but it will lead to safety. Inflation, he stated, is the mother of misery, ruining retired workers and the possessors of small wealth and threatening to drag the country "into the worst sort of adventures." Story on page 23.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Confronted by the failure of his recovery program to produce the expected results up to date, President Roosevelt summoned a group of high administration officials tonight to consider expedients to overcome the depression.

Participating in the White House conference, which lasted till nearly midnight, were Secretary of the Treasury Woodin, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Attorney General Cummings, Gov. Eugene Black of the federal reserve board, Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget; Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation; Walter J. Cummings, conservator of closed banks, and J. F. T. O'Connor, controller of the currency.

Seek to Expand Credit.

The conference, according to the participants, was confined to consideration of ways and means for further expansion of credit and of plans for reopening closed banks and release of several billion dollars of their frozen deposits.

When the conference had been in progress about an hour Stephen T. Early, one of the President's secretaries, left the White House, stating that the President had called in the officials to discuss the program for reopening closed banks which he desires to complete and make public this week. He said he was authorized by the President to say that the question of currency inflation, devaluation of the dollar and allied monetary matters would not be considered.

Plans Opening Before Jan. 1.

Mr. Roosevelt aims to get a large proportion of the 5,000 closed banks reopened before Jan. 1, when the deposit insurance system goes into effect. In order to qualify for deposit insurance, banks must be liquid. Thousands of the closed banks, the President is advised, are solvent but not sufficiently liquid to meet the present requirements for reopening. To make them liquid, additional capital must be provided. To the extent such additional capital is not furnished by the communities in which the banks are situated it will be supplied by the R. F. C., through purchase of preferred stock in the institutions, according to the plan approved at the White House conference.

Other projects considered included government loans to railroads for purchase of steel rails, loans to industrials through mortgage loan associations formed for the purpose and other measures designed to revive the heavy industries.

Returns from River Trip.

After two days of meditation on the situation during his cruise down the Rappahannock and up the Potomac, the President returned to the White House this evening full of the conviction that measures of great scope must be adopted before the end of this week to remove obstacles to the prosperity drive.

Despite the novel and colossal manipulations of the supply and demand of commodities, despite the enormous outpouring of money from the federal treasury in loans, gifts, and subsidies, which is boosting public debt above the wartime level, economic law still stands unrepealed.

The farm relief act has failed, so far, to establish parity between agriculture and industry. Farmers receiving more for their grain than a year ago, largely because of climatic factors, are facing a rise of as much or more in the prices of the goods they consume, due to the operations of the NRA. In addition, the slowness of the farm credit administration in refinancing their mortgages leaves them groaning beneath the same old burden of debt.

From the great granary of the nation in the Mississippi valley emanate the same old outcries of distress on the farms accentuated by new outbursts of dissatisfaction with the latest panacea of agricultural ills, new rumblings of agrarian revolts, new demands for currency inflation.

From the cotton planters of the south through their recent convention in Washington has come the first formal pronouncement of the failure of the agricultural adjustment act in the demand for repeal of the processing tax on cotton. It hasn't worked out as expected, they complained.

The whole experiment represented by the NRA has arrived at a critical juncture. According to the administration, it is responsible for putting about 750,000 men back to work out of the two million reemployed since March 4. More than one economist in the administration, however, will tell you confidentially that the reemployment to be attributed to the NRA is negligible, that almost all of it is the result of the natural recovery from the depression that was in progress before the NRA was created.

Redistribution of Profits.

What the NRA is destined to accomplish more than anything else, if it survives, say the economists, is a change in working conditions and a redistribution of national income with employers receiving less and employes more of the profits than heretofore.

Th NRA, however, has already produced two results of the greatest moment, both of which are retarding recovery instead of promoting it, according to the economists. By lessening hours of work and increasing wages it has raised production costs, which are already reflected in higher prices of commodities. And the higher prices of commodities have materialized without a commensurate increase of purchasing power on the part of consumers.

Purchasing power has not increased sufficiently, because reëmployment has lagged behind price raises. Now the complaint is being heard that the Roosevelt administration has got the cart before the horse, that purchasing power should have been boosted before prices.

Blamed by Slowing Recovery.

The other outstanding effect of the NRA is a slowing down in many industries of such natural recovery as was in progress. This is due to the superhuman character of the task of regimenting the myriad activities of the business life of this great industrial and commercial nation in a few weeks or even a few months.

The army of the new bureaucracy that has moved into Washington has been working night and day for three months, but has completed only 30 codes governing the operations of as many industries. More than 1,000 codes are still in process of consideration.

The hotels of Washington are jammed with business men from every part of the country who have come here to negotiate these codes. Their days are filled with hearings and negotiations with the new recovery authorities. They don't know what the hours of labor, what the wage rates are to be in their industries. Consequently they don't know what prices they are to put on their products. Therefore their salesmen and drummers are cooling their heels at home, unable to get out on the road and quote prices to dealers.

"We are stalled all along the line," say the business men, almost in chorus.

Objections Delay Many Codes.

Hundreds of codes are hanging fire today because of the objections of employers to demands of NRA officials which are construed as efforts to place their industries under the domination of the American Federation of Labor and to insistence of inclusion of the merit rule in codes. Head Administrator Johnson, in a moment of weakness, he has said, allowed the inclusion in the automotive industry's code of the provision according employers full privilege to hire, fire or promote employés according to their merit.

Gen. Johnson has decreed that the merit rule shall be excluded from all other codes. Scores of industrial chieftains have been serving notice on the NRA during the last fortnight that they will withdraw the codes they have submitted before acceding to the exclusion of the merit clause. Many of them have asserted that they will go all the way to the Supreme court before submitting to discrimination in favor of the automobile industry.

Organized labor has turned thumbs down on the merit clause. Gen. Johnson will be compelled to decide in the near future whether he is to stand pat or yield to the demands of the employers. Until then code making is virtually stalled.

Little Manufacturers Rebel.

Most vociferous of the complainants against the new deal in industry are the little manufacturers in the little towns scattered throughout the country. They assert that they cannot pay the wages of the big cities and live, that the proposed codes with the higher production costs involved will put them out of business sooner or later, that they will shut up shop rather than try to go on under a code.

They charge Swope of General Electric, Teagle of Standard Oil, Harriman of the textile industry, and other big business men with conceiving the NRA for the express purpose of saving the big, overexpanded industries from decline through competition with the low cost manufacturers of the little towns.

One administration economist confided to me that the big danger of the NRA is that it is going to put the little fellow out of business, compel him to close down and go to work for his big competitor. The tendency of the NRA, he said, is to foster monopolies. This tendency to snuff out the small factories in the small towns is wholly inconsistent with another Roosevelt program to decentralize industry from the big cities to the towns.

Curtails Movement of Credit.

The stalling of industry by the operation of the NRA is held to account largely for the failure of the administration to get into use the vast volume of credit it has been pushing out through reserve bank purchases of government securities.

Manufacturers not knowing whether they are to survive or perish under the NRA, manufacturers waiting to find out what their production costs are to be, manufacturers uncertain how many dollars it will take to pay a dollar's worth of debt a year from now are not looking for loans.

And the banks, uncertain of the monetary policy of the administration, are unwilling to make old time loans they were accustomed to make to industry over the telephone.

Many leading bankers are now contending that there can be no recovery until the present uncertainty of monetary conditions is removed. If we are going to inflate, let us inflate, they say, and be done with it, so that some semblance of future monetary conditions may be restored. Many of those who opposed devaluation originally are now convinced that the dollar never can be brought back to par.

Now Favor Revaluation.

Under conditions as they exist, these bankers believe the best course would be to accept the present devaluation of about 35 per cent in the dollar and to legalize it by a corresponding reduction in the gold content of the dollar. Such a move, they contend, would put an end to the uncertainty over the future of the dollar and arrest the flight from the dollar that is going on. At the same time, it would tend to choke off the rising clamor of the inflationists, who are demanding a "second dose" of devaluation.

With the A. A. A. and the NRA, and the credit expansion undertaking all falling short of expectations, the public works easy money program is still hanging fire. Although nearly half of the 3 billion 300 million dollars has been allotted, only a few millions have actually been expended in pursuance of the plan which was relied upon to prime the recovery pump by increasing employment and demand for construction materials.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes is being widely blamed for the slowness of the public works program to function. He is trying to make the undertaking graft free and graft proof. Very commendable, say the economists, but to prime the recovery pump it is necessary to get hundreds of millions into circulation in weeks instead of months.

5,000 APPLAUD MAYOR KELLY AT OUTDOOR DINNER

Mayor Kelly yesterday attended an outdoor banquet given in his honor by the Greek-American Regular Democratic organization at the home of George Prasinos, assistant treasurer of the organization, in Arlington Heights. A talk by the mayor was applauded by a crowd of more than 5,000.

A resolution was unanimously adopted deploring the "unfair, unjust, and unwarranted publicity as expressed by a minority element" against the mayor and pledging the organization's support to his policies.

The organization said it "feels that a great injustice and injury has been done to the mayor and to the Democratic administration in this community" by misrepresentations.

R. F. C. TO OFFER LOAN SECURITIES FOR PUBLIC SALES

Would Lessen Burden on U. S. Treasury.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The Reconstruction Finance corporation is preparing to offer to investors about 200 million dollars in municipal securities which it has agreed to purchase in connection with loans to municipalities for the construction of various types of public works, such as water and sewer systems, toll bridges, docks, and tunnels.

These securities represent authorizations made by the R. F. C. before supervision of loans for such projects was taken over by the public works administrator under the national recovery act.

Harvey C. Couch, R. F. C. director, said that a letter and list of such securities was being sent to all municipal bond dealers and insurance companies. This action, he said, was significant in that it indicated belief on the part of the R. F. C. that the loans which have been made are self-supporting and self-liquidating.

Lessen Treasury Burden.

The liquidation of all or part of the 200 million dollars' worth of securities, Mr. Couch said, would lessen the burden upon the United States treasury to that extent. He added that information already received indicated that a substantial portion may be sold.

The letter sent to municipal bond dealers and insurance companies by Bradley Nash, financial adviser of the self-liquidating division of the R. F. C. follows:

"Under the provisions of section 201 [A] of the emergency relief and construction act of 1932, the Reconstruction Finance corporation, to aid in the financing of self-liquidating projects, has purchased, or has agreed to purchase on certain terms and conditions, the municipal bonds shown in the enclosed list.

"This corporation intends ultimately to dispose of the bonds so acquired, and if you should be interested, now or at a later date, in the purchase of such bonds, we shall be pleased to furnish you with further details upon your request.

Take Securities in Blocks.

"For your information, it is the policy of this corporation to take up bonds evidencing self-liquidating loans in blocks as construction of the projects progresses. So that in many instances the entire issue which this corporation has agreed to purchase will not have been delivered to us for another six months or longer. Also, in practically all cases, this corporation has granted the borrowers a two year option to repurchase their bonds under certain conditions and terms. Such options are, however, subject to termination by this corporation upon reasonable notice.

"This corporation has also required that all municipal bonds purchased by it be accompanied with the usual legal opinions of recognized municipal bond counsel, and complete transcripts of proceedings have been obtained in all cases.

"If you wish, on the basis of the foregoing, to indicate to us your present or future interest in any of the issues shown in the enclosed lists, we shall be pleased to have you do so, and we shall make a record of your interest."

INSURANCE TRIAL OF E. J. STEVENS TO START TODAY

The trial of Ernest J. Stevens, former official of the defunct Illinois Life Insurance company, is scheduled to open this morning before Judge Michael Feinberg in the Criminal court. Assistant State's Attorneys John O'Hara and Earle C. Hurley, who will be in charge of the prosecution, said yesterday that everything is in readiness for the start of the trial. Stevens is charged with embezzlement of $1,250,000 of insurance company funds.

The original indictment named James W. Stevens, the father, and Raymond Stevens, brother of Ernest, as co-defendants in the alleged embezzlement. Raymond committed suicide in his Highland Park home and the elder Stevens is seriously ill. Physicians have advised against attempting to bring the father into court.

Mr. O'Hara said that the prosecution will charge that from May to December, 1931, the Stevenses took approximately $1,250,000 from the funds of the insurance company and invested the money in their hotel projects in violation of the insurance laws.

Five specific acts of alleged embezzlement during the period mentioned will constitute the proof for the prosecution, Mr. O'Hara said.

Defense attorneys at the last hearing indicated that Stevens would demand a jury trial. Although the prosecution has some thirty witnesses, it is not expected that the trial will last more than two weeks, although the defense attorneys said it might take a month. Inasmuch as the defense has only ten peremptory challenges, it is not expected that it will take longer than a day to select the jury.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

SHOWDOWN DUE TODAY ON CAR MERGER DELAY

Judge May Name Citizens' Group to Gain Accord.

A conference that is expected to advance the plans for consolidation of the surface and elevated lines into one company will be held today in the chambers of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, who has jurisdiction over both transportation services because they are in receivership.

The judge has summoned to this conference the committee of three men which he appointed to unravel the tangled financial affairs of the transit companies and endeavor to bring the fifteen groups of bondholders into accord on a reorganization plan. The conflicting interests of these security holders constitute one of the obstacles which so far have held up acceptance by the companies of the ordinance providing for their consolidation. The ordinance was approved by referendum in 1930.

The committee is composed of Albert W. Harris, chairman of the Harris Trust and Savings bank; Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank, and D. F. Kelly, head of The Fair store. Each is chairman of an important group of transit bondholders.

May Name Citizens' Board.

Last week the committee was scheduled to make a report on progress to the court and when its members failed to do so Judge Wilkerson called today's conference. It was reported last night that if at this meeting the committee is unable to offer hope of a settlement, the judge may take steps to place a citizens' committee in charge of the transit reorganization plans.

Such a committee, it was said, would be empowered to consider the claims of the various groups of bondholders and propose a fair allotment of securities in the new consolidated transportation company.

It was a citizens' committee that helped win public approval of the reorganization plan adopted in 1930 after several years of transit difficulties. This plan, embodied in a franchise ordinance passed by the city council, provided for consolidation of the transit services, construction within ten years of $200,000,000 worth of improvements and extensions, and establishment of a transfer system between the surface and elevated lines.

Changed Financial Aspect.

The plan was worked out under the direction of Samuel Insull, who at that time was head of the elevated lines. Since the collapse of the Insull utilities empire, it was pointed out, the financial aspect of the transit reorganization program has undergone some changes. Principal among these are the marked decline in earnings of the elevated lines and the entrance of that company into receivership.

With these developments there came to the surface the opposition of surface lines' bondholders to the Insull plan for distribution of the securities of the consolidated company.

It was declared that under this plan holders of certain junior securities of the elevated lines would participate equally in the new company with the holders of first mortgage bonds of the surface lines. The charge was also made that some of the elevated securities were given preference over those of the street car company.

"It is now the opinion of the surface lines' bondholders that the elevated people were allotted a better share of securities in the new company than seemed fair," one observer said yesterday. "There must now be a different allocation of the securities.

Explains Transfer Problem.

"There is also the matter of the universal transfer system. Probably the reason the street car interests are opposed to establishment of transfer privileges before the whole consolidation plan goes through is that it would boost the earnings of the elevated and thus give the elevated security holders a claim on a greater share of the securities of the new company.

"The transfer plan, of course, provides that riders transferring from the street cars to the elevated would pay 3 cents extra, whereas transfers from the elevated to the surface lines would be without extra cost.

"The whole problem is one of the conflicting interests of the security holders. Every person holding a bond in either company wants in exchange for it a bond of the highest value in the new company. All are actuated by selfish interests. A compromise will have to be worked out by a disinterested citizens' committee."

Still Another Obstacle.

Another obstacle to agreement on the allotment of securities, it was pointed out, is the matter of the earnings of the two transit systems. The elevated interests are insisting that earnings over a long period of years be made the basis for distribution of the new securities, while the surface lines' bondholders are demanding that recent earnings be used as a basis.

There is still a third stumbling block, and this is the question of financing the reorganization, it was said. While some officials say the money for this is not available, others point out that the $25,000,000 deemed necessary could be borrowed temporarily by the new corporation from the existing cash funds of the present companies.

HOODLUM SLAIN BY POLICEMAN IN TAVERN HOLDUP

Sergt. Chris Callahan shot and fatally wounded Matthew Gorman, 22 years old, 6437 Bishop street, early yesterday when police interrupted what patrons described as an attempted holdup of the Nut House tavern, 132 West 31st street, by Gorman and several other young hoodlums.

Three companions of Gorman were arrested, all of them armed. They are Gus Alex, 18 years old, 2604 Wentworth avenue, brother of Sam Alex, for whom police hold a vagrancy warrant; Frank Farraro, 28 years old, of the same address, and Nick Bioni, 27 years old, 3222 South Wells street.

Earlier in the evening the police learned Gus Alex had a fight in the tavern. Joseph Robliatti, one of the owners of the place, struck Alex after he had thrown a glass of beer in the face of Robliatti's baby. Alex left and returned with his friends. He announced that they were there for a holdup and ordered patrons to put up their hands.

Sergt. Callahan, with Acting Capt. John Cartan of the Pekin station and Patrolman Frank McNamara, drove past at the moment and saw the disturbance. The policemen separated Callahan going to the rear door of the tavern. As he entered, Gorman ran toward him with a drawn revolver and Callahan killed him.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university yesterday was awarded the cross of the Legion of Honor by Andre de Laboulaye, French ambassador to the United States. The ceremony took place in Deering library on the Evanston campus of the university.

The cross was conferred in recognition of President Scott's contribution to the army personnel system used by the allies during the war, in which he invented the method of classification. The award also is in honor of his contribution to education.

Among those present at the ceremony were Rene Weiller, French consul in Chicago, and Mme. Weiller, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hardin, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. Charles Deering, and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Galland.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO TURIN CATHEDRAL TO SEE CHRIST'S SHROUD

TURIN, Italy, Sept. 24.—(AP)—A solemn te deum in the Turin cathedral with tens of thousands of devotees gathered inside and outside the basilica, today inaugurated a three weeks' period during which the holy shroud will be displayed to the public.

The holy shroud is the garment in which Christ's crucified body was said to have been wrapped as it came from the cross. It belongs to the Italian royal house.

Cardinal Maurilio Fossati, archbishop of Turin, presided at the solemnities, which were attended by the prince and princess of Piedmont. The ceremony of exposing the shroud, which can only be mended by the Italian queen and royal princesses working on their knees, ended with a reading of the customary papal bull which provides excommunication for any one daring to touch the folds of the shroud while kneeling before the jeweled casket containing it.

LEGION'S CHIEF ARRIVES TODAY FOR CONVENTION

Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, will arrive today to open the national convention headquarters on the fourth floor of the Civic Opera building at 20 North Wacker drive. Members of the official staff who arrived yesterday include Frank E. Samuel, national adjutant; Bowman Elder, national treasurer; Remster Bingham, national judge advocate, and H. L. Plummer, assistant national adjutant.

Preliminary to the opening of the national convention in the Stadium on Oct. 2, a field memorial service for dead world war veterans will be held at noon, Oct. 1, on the clubhouse grounds of the Norman J. Cornwall post, No. 275, located at Camp Kasper in the forest preserve at 28th street and Forbes road, North Riverside.

On the evening of Oct. 1 Gov. Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, former national commander, will be the main speaker at memorial services to be held on Navy pier.

BATTLE TODAY OVER LOAN FOR NURSES' HOME

Extravagant, Says Woman County Commissioner.

The county board today will be asked to reconsider acceptance of a grant of $2,040,500 under the three billion three hundred million dollar federal public works program for the completion of the $2,300,000 Cook county nurses' home. County Commissioner Grace Fleming has announced she will seek rejection of the loan on the ground that the project is "disgracefully extravagant."

"The plans call for luxury which is entirely out of keeping with the spirit of the times and utterly beyond common sense," Mrs. Fleming said yesterday. "They contemplate the construction of a veritable palace. There are to be a penthouse, a swimming pool, a telephone in every room, costly marbles and other conveniences and appurtenances found only in the most exclusive clubs.

Calls Present Housing Adequate.

"All this for 850 nurses who are being cared for adequately at present. The fact that our 4,500 county employes are seven months behind in their pay demonstrates conclusively that such extravagance borders on the criminal. I shall present a resolution demanding reconsideration of the loan and call upon the committee, which secured it, for an explanation."

A bond issue of $2,300,000 for construction of the 17 story dormitory was voted by the former county board. Only $300,000 of the issue was sold. Work was halted after completion of the foundation at Polk and Lincoln streets. The plans were approved by the present county board two years ago on the recommendation of an advistory board headed by Joshua D'Esposito, Chicago engineer.

See Economy in Extravagance.

County commissioners who voted in favor of obtaining the federal grant have explained that in doing so they chose the lesser of two evils. The county cannot order new bids without being attacked in court by contractors and cannot refuse to build the home for the same reason. Even though the plans are extravagant, the building of the home will save the taxpayers money because no suits will be brought, they said.

Favorable action on the loan was obtained by Commissioners Peter M. Kelly and Marie Plumb, chairman of the board committee on nursing. A report that Commissioner Amelia Sears was most responsible for the federal grant, through Mrs. Harold Ickes, wife of the secretary of the interior, was denied by Kelly, Mrs. Plumb, and Mrs. Fleming.

Assert Miss Sears Is Opposed.

It had been said that Miss Sears has submitted a letter urging support of the loan to Mrs. Ickes and Mrs. Ickes took it to her husband in Washington. Miss Sears is at present vacationing in North Carolina. The Ickes left Chicago yesterday for Washington.

Because the Ickes had left town, Commissioner Kelly volunteered the true story of Miss Sears' part in the loan. She had in fact opposed the loan, said Commissioner Kelly, and her letter was one asking the secretary to use influence to halt the federal grant. Before the secretary could act, Kelly added, the loan had been granted. Commissioners Fleming and Plumb confirmed Kelly's story.

President Gives His Crippled Friend, "Donny" a Federal Job

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

There will be a new assistant cashier in Carter Harrison's department of internal revenue in the United States courthouse this morning. Her name is Mrs. Lillian Keating Donovan, and she owes the appointment, the first salaried job she has ever had, to the friendship of President Roosevelt.

For twenty years Mrs. Donovan—"Donny" to her friends—has been a cripple from infantile paralysis. For twelve years she had to be carried everywhere. Oneof her greatest thrills, she says, was when she found the waters at Warm Springs, Ga., had improved her condition so she could get around on crutches. On her right leg she wears a brace similar to those used by the President.

Asks About Warm Springs.

"Things happen so queerly!" she said. "Six years ago I first wrote Mr. Roosevelt asking him about his wonderful cure at Warm Springs, and he wrote advising me to try it. Three years ago I did. He was there—he was governor then—and we have been friends ever since. They made me head of the Polio Crusaders, an organization among the patients at the sanitarium, which raises funds to help those who can't afford the treatment. So I was often at the Roosevelt cottage.

"When the newspaper correspondents came down with Mr. Roosevelt I used to sit in on all the press conferences, and I was the only woman to have dinner with the group every night. They were all fine to me. When the election was over I wrote to the President and got back lovely notes from both him and his wife. Here's one from Mrs. Roosevelt."

It read: "My dear Donny: I meant to thank you for your letter when I was in Warm Springs. I appreciate your writing, and thank you for your good wishes. I hope you succeeded in pinning another pin on my husband, and that he fulfilled his part of the bargain by giving you a kiss. Cordially yours, Eleanor Roosevelt."

Asks Secretary Woodin for Donation.

Secretary of the Treasury Woodin came down to the sanitarium of which he is a director and to which he has donated bountifully. Donny saw him registering at the desk, but didn't recognize him. She hobbled over and smilingly asked if he wouldn't like to make a donation. He did, handing her a $100 bill, which so bewildered her that she could only stutter her thanks. Then she "all but fainted" when he scribbled his name on the card she proffered, and she recognized one of the "angels" of the institution.

When Roosevelt was inaugurated thirty patients from Warm Springs, led by Donny, arrived on a special train at Washington. Each received chairs in the presidential reviewing stand and cards afterward to a reception at the White House.

Because of her handicap Donny has been given a special pass permitting her to drive into the Adams street tunnel of the federal courthouse to board an elevator there for her office.

CHARGES RUSSIA BUNCOED FRENCH GOOD WILL ENVOY

Church Service Staged, Says Eyewitness.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 24.—While the French press is filled with enthusiastic descriptions of soviet Russia following the good will visit of former Premier Edouard Herriot and Air Minister Pierre Cot, who returned yesterday, this correspondent obtained from a French observer who was an eye witness to official ceremonies in Moscow, a slant on bolshevik hospitality which escaped the principal guests.

Actually while the two good will emissaries thought—to use the words of Cot—they had "visited everything, seen everything, and examined everything," a good part of the time they were merely unconscious spectators of elaborately staged shows which were put on by the bolsheviks.

Church Service Called Phony.

A particularly striking example was furnished at Moscow when Cot, followed by his staff and French newspaper correspondents, was taken to a church to show that the bolsheviks still tolerated religion, only to see a phony service with worshippers hired for the occasion and a hook-nosed priest who officiated with Yiddish accent.

The source of this statement is a man who was an eye witness of the affair and who understands Russian. For obvious reasons his identity cannot be revealed but THE TRIBUNE is able to vouch for his reliability.

This witness declared he was frequently convinced that marvels of the Red paradise which visitors are shown are nothing but stage properties existing for no other purpose, but it was only in the Moscow church that he has had the rare good luck of catching the bolsheviks redhanded in the act of faking a church service.

Pays a Surprise Visit.

Describing how the behavior of the handful of peasants and a middle-aged woman making up the congregation and the hook-nosed priest officiating aroused his suspicions, he said he returned alone a few moments after the party had left.

He declares that just as he stepped into the doorway he saw the priest bang down the censor he had been unctuously waving, jerk off his vestments, turn back to the altar and pull out a cigaret while the "congregation" was gossiping in a corner. At his reappearance the worshippers reassumed their poses and the priest hastily disappeared.

Commenting on how Herriot was able to report that he had visited the worst section of the Ukraine famine zone and found well dressed peasants fat, healthy children and abundant crops, this informant remarked that in addition to the histrionic trick of the bolsheviks—they are capable of transporting a whole village of phony peasants to the middle of the Ukraine, he averred—the division of the country into industrial zones and the hinterland accounted for many discrepancies in the reports of visitors.

Since the industrial zones roughly follow the railroads leading to the industrial centers, visitors seldom see anything else although these areas are really a small part of the country. In the industrial zones authorities see to it that they have only as many inhabitants as can be fed after a fashion. The rest are arbitrarily banished to the hinterland to shift for themselves.

This informant declared he had never been outside the industrial zones himself so he could not talk about the rest of the country. However, from reliable information picked up in Russia, he said it is reasonable to suppose that almost any kind of conditions might be found there as the authorities paid little attention to what is going on—so much so that there is hardly any police surveillance, while elsewhere in Russia it is so strict that even official members of the French mission were shadowed.

The man who gave this account said he was personally impressed favorably with what he saw in Russia and described Russian aviation as prodigious. He saw no signs of famine or terrible misery but came out with an impression that Russia is a country where you cannot believe anything you hear officially and very little of what you see officially, and that visiting notabilities get an especially unreliable picture.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

HAMBURG, Germany, Sept. 25.—The "purity campaign" in the third reich, which would, for example, stop women from smoking or powdering their faces, has drawn a stinging rebuke from Capt. Ernst Roehm, chief of staff of the Hitlerite army. He forbids members of that force to take any further part in "such moral uplift" activity and he stigmatizes it as "very shameful hypocrisy and an expression of complexes."

"There are more useful occupations," says Capt Roehm in an order published in the Hamburg Fremdenblatt, "to which certain individuals should dedicate themselves than the self-appointed task of morally regenerating German women. It has become a veritable orgy. The most absurd commands have been put forward concerning what to wear and how to conduct one's self on bathing beaches.

"The German woman is forbidden to powder her face or to smoke in public. In big cities and places of public entertainment those who do not conform to that standard of Philistinism are to be exterminated. It represents a repetition of attempts made again and again throughout the centuries by hypocrites, parasite and victims of complexes. The practices of some of those engaged in this so-called reform movement differ from their theories. Members of even leaders of storm troops and Hitler guards have publicly posed as moral judges. They have molested women in bathing establishments, restaurants and in streets—insulted and even mistreated them."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 24.—A planned and swiftly executed weekend revolt among Ontario epileptic hospital inmates sent two institution officers, Supt. Dr. C. H. Tennant and Chief Accountant Archie Dodds, to the hospital. Dr. Tennant had one finger pulled out of joint and Dodds received a fractured skull when floored by a chair. The uprising was quelled and additional attendants sent from Toronto hospitals to maintain order.

LEAGUE TO PUT ALL EMPHASIS ON DISARMAMENT

Will Soft Pedal Touchy German Issues.

GENEVA, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, Austria's dictator, was warmly welcomed on his arrival from Vienna today to attend tomorrow's opening of the 14th assembly of the league of nations.

He arrived shortly after American Ambassador at Large Norman H. Davis and Joseph Paul-Boncour, French foreign minister, and found himself in an atmosphere primed with discussion of the disarmament problem.

The disarmament question is deemed so grave that word seems to have been passed in league circles that everything else should be softpedaled. This soft-pedaling extends to pin-pricking German issues like the anti-Semitic movement and Austro-German relations, the feeling being that disarmament itself is serious enough without starting something new.

Germans Deny Invasion Plan.

After denying issuance of counter proposals reported from Paris, Germans here to attend league sessions characterized as pure invention an article reproduced in the Geneva press stating the German general staff had prepared a plan for invading France through Switzerland.

An impression prevailed that an accord is not yet complete between France, England, and Italy on disarmament provisions to be submitted to Germany.

Indications were that Italy and the United States would make an effort to attenuate the political tension between Germany, France, and Austria, believed a necessary foundation for conclusions on disarmament.

Want France to Reduce Army.

Members of the American diplomatic and consular corps here to observe league of nations proceedings found the situation hopeful. They understood France was ready to reduce her army and to eliminate professional troops during the test period of controlled armaments which the French originally proposed. They understood France was not willing to destroy heavy armaments but would promise to build no new armaments.

The problem regarding penalties to be imposed on nations found to be building secret armaments during the period of test control was unsettled.

Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, president of the disarmament conference, today summarized the situation as optimistic. He told American women leaders that "final success depends largely upon the women of the world and the press of the world."

OTTO'S MESSAGE TO AUSTRIANS IS SUPPRESSED

HAIN, Austria, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Urgent orders from Geneva halted today the scheduled reading of the message of Archduke Otto of Hapsburg laying down important principles of a monarchistic policy for Austria.

A crowd of monarchist adherents from this town and two others which recently voted honorary citizenship to Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne, had gathered to see Duke Max von Hohenberg, son of the assassinated Archduke Franz Ferdinand, hand Otto's personal letters of thanks to the burgomasters of the three towns. He was also to read what monarchist leaders yesterday characterized as "most important declarations of policy" from Otto.

A few minutes before the beginning of the ceremonies foreign correspondents were informed that an urgent telephone message to Von Hohenberg from Geneva had upset the plans and that "in order not to embarrass Chancellor Dollfuss at Geneva" not even the text of the letters given the burgomasters would be made public. It was understood the message from Geneva was from Dollfuss himself.

Von Hohenberg handed over the letters in the presence of a crowd cheering "Hail, Otto! Hail, Austria!" The texts of the individual letters given the burgomasters leaked out with customary rapidity, revealing that they were similar to previous letters Otto had written. The summary of their text was a "declaration of policy."

"L" TRAIN KILLS RAIL GREASER.

Tony Prignano, 50 years old, 3143 Lexington street, a rail greaser for the Rapid Transit company, was killed yesterday when he slipped and fell in the path of an elevated train while working on the Stockyards branch tracks at 40th and South Dearborn streets.

RUSSIA CHARGES JAPAN PLOTS TO SEIZE RAILWAY

MOSCOW, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Izvestia, official organ of the U. S. S. R., today charged the Manchurian delegation participating in negotiations at Tokio on the Chinese Eastern railway, with procrastinating in order to prepare for a forcible seizure of the property. The article asserted reliable information was in the hands of the soviet government indicating seizure would be accomplished by the arrest of soviet employés of the railroad and the appointment of a Manchurian assistant manager.

HITLER WELDS STEEL HELMETS INTO NAZI ARMY

70,000 War Vets Parade at Demonstration.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—Unity of the Hitlerite forces and the Steel Helmet organization of war veterans was solemnly and publicly proclaimed today at Masch Meadows near Hanover. Seventy thousand Steel Helmet members paraded with contingents of Nazi storm troopers before Franz Seldte, founder of the Steel Helmeters, and Capt. Ernst Roehm, chief of staff of the storm troopers.

The Steel Helmeters carried 5,000 flags adorned with the Nazi swastika ribbons in the parade. Steel Helmet caps also were decorated with swastikas.

Urge Revival of War Spirit.

Blaming the "so-called parliamentarians" for hindering the German army from achieving victory in the world war, Capt. Roehm proclaimed "that the military spirit in our people, buried in the post-war collapse, must once again be resuscitated."

"We storm troopers and Hitler guards now welcome you, Steel Helmeters, in our ranks with equal rights," he continued. "We cannot dispense with the coöperation of the famed front line soldiers in the new Germany."

Seldte thanked Chancellor Hitler for permitting the Steel Helmeters to wear the swastika. He rededicated flags with the slogan, "Unity makes for strength." Seldte emphasized the desire for peace of the Steel Helmeters and German youth.

"Peoples who praise pacifism always prepare the way for a new war," asserted Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, today at a demonstration at the Niederwald national monument on the Rhine near Ruedesheim. The demonstration was held on the 50th anniversary of the unveiling of the monument which was erected to commemorate the foundation of the German empire.

Says Germany Wants Peace.

"We shall never tire of telling the world that Germany wishes peace and must have peace, since no nation can gain anything by another war. It would be madness to fling the nations into a new disaster when they have not recovered from the last one.

"I believe the world looks upon our nation welding process askance. The world always distrusts that Germany is getting stronger. The power of nations, however, lies not in armaments but in the will to live. It is the pacifist nations which always prepare for the next war."

The government today announced that widows whose husbands were killed in the war will not be affected by regulations against Jewish officials. This decree brings relief to many Jewesses or wives of Jews, who, after their husbands' deaths, obtained public appointments. They are now classed with Jews who fought in the war or whose father or sons fell in battle.

Mexican Police Kill Three Bandits Plotting Uprising

Sally Continues Her Fan Dancing

Sally Rand, the fan dancer who was found guilty Saturday of performing an obscene dance and sentenced to serve a year in the county jail and pay a $200 fine, continued to present her fan dance number yesterday at the Chicago theater and at the Manhattan Gardens at the World's Fair.

Roy Bruder, manager of the Chicago theater, said there had been no complaints of indecent exposure against Sally since Aug. 4, when she was arrested four times. A policewoman assigned to the theater makes a personal inspection of Sally before and after every performance, the manager said.

Bruder was asked about the section of the law which provides for jail sentences of one year for the manager, owner, and lessee of any theater in which an obscene performance is given. He said the authorities decided at the time Sally was arrested not to prosecute him under that law.

Since Aug. 4 more than one million persons have witnessed Sally's dances at the theater, Bruder said. In that time there have been no complaints that the dance is obscene, lewd, or indecent, added H. C. Bradfield, Sally's manager. He said at least two million persons had seen the dance at the World's Fair without an objection being raised.

"An appeal will be taken," Bradfield said, "and if a higher court does not reverse the conviction Sally will be ready to serve a year in jail."

"Jail is for criminals, not dancers," Bradfield added. "I understand that the jurors who found her guilty were shocked at the sentence of 1 year. Had they known the judge would impose such a penalty their verdict would have been not guilty, I am told."

Sally's attorney has 60 days to perfect her appeal. There is a possibility also she may be put on probation, it was said. Another way of avoiding jail would be by means of a pardon from Gov. Horner.

Rector Celebrates 50th Anniversary of Priesthood

Dean John Herbert Edwards, senior priest of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, yesterday celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination at special services at St. Elizabeth's church in Glencoe. All of Dr. Edwards' half century in the ministry was spent in Chicago or nearby places. He is rector emeritus of the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest where he went as rector in 1912. Bishop George Craig Stewart paid tribute to Dean Edwards and the Rev. Richard C. Talbot Jr., rector of the Glencoe parish, officiated at the services.

PRISONER ENDS HUNGER STRIKE AT GERMAN TRIAL

Dutch Red Is Reported "Fresh and Well."

LEIPZIG, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Marinus Van der Lubbe, Dutch communist, was reported by his attorney to be completely recovered today from the effects of a three day hunger strike which he began when put on trial here with four others charged with setting fire to the German reichstag.

Dainties set before him by the prison warden coaxed back the defendant's appetite. He ate a full warm meal, including bread and butter and pastries, but declined fruit. After eating he took a walk around the prison yard. He was described as fresh and well this afternoon.

Arthur Garfield Hays of the United States, who took part in an unofficial "international legal investigation" at London last week into the cause of the blaze, revealed that at a conference with Defense Attorney Alfons Sack yesterday the latter promised to treat in confidence any evidence submitted.

Hays Masses Evidence.

Hays was engaged in organizing all the evidence in his possession, part of which was signed by the London committee.

He said that he welcomed an offer of the German attorney to put him on the witness stand, but that both lawyers were agreed it would be best if possible for Sack himself to produce the evidence which Hays, as a witness, could only report at second hand.

"I am perfectly willing to go on the stand if it seems in the interest of the defense," said Hays.

May Call Torgler's Son.

In response to a question from Hays, Sack said there was nothing to prevent the son of Ernest Torgler, one of the accused communists, from coming from London to repeat his testimony. No harm would come to him, he promised.

The two lawyers will discuss later the possibility of requesting the court for safe conducts for certain other witnesses whom Hays claimed he could produce. This, however, would not apply to the communist party secretary, Wilhelm Koenen, who now is abroad, as he is himself accused of complicity in the reichstag arson.

Leo Gallegher, a member of the committee which investigated charges against the accused in London, arrived today. Hays will see him tomorrow.

ACCIDENTALLY SLAYS WIFE.

Hillsboro, Ill., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Molohon, 38, who was shot by her husband, Roy Molohon, farmer, as he loaded a shotgun to shoot a hawk, died here today. A coroner's jury exonerated him.

WOMAN IS SHOT AS SHE FIRES ON TAVERN ROBBERS

Mrs. Catherine Fergus, 27 years old, 1887 Polk street, was shot and seriously wounded early yesterday when she fought a gun battle with four bandits who invaded a beer tavern at 2060 North Racine avenue.

Mrs. Fergus was seated in the place with her husband, Robert, a clerk in the stolen automobile section of the detective bureau, when the robbers entered and ordered her and her husband to line up at the bar with several other patrons. Believing she was not being watched, Mrs. Fergus took her husband's revolver from his pocket and opened fire.

One of the bandits fired back at her, his bullets striking her in the shoulder and thigh. The bandits robbed Harry Bourke, owner of the tavern, of $25 and fled. Mrs. Fergus was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where it was said that she will recover.

HEAD OF CUBA PAYS ARMY TO HOLD ITS SUPPORT

Grau Wins Backing of One Revolutionary Group.

BULLETIN.

CHAPARRA, Cuba, Sept. 24.—(AP)—At least ten Oriente province towns were without lights, water, and rail service tonight as a result of a general industrial strike. Food was becoming scarce. Strikers cut wires of the Chaparra Light and Power company. Towns affected included Chaparra, Gibara, Holquin, Puerto Padre, Velasco, Auras, Contimplora, Delicias, Port Juan Claro, and others.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Sept. 24.—Cuba's revolution spent a restful day as Ramon Grau San Martin entered upon his third week as president. Counter revolutionary groups still insisted that a showdown would come within the next 48 hours and that a new administration would be in the palace.

These revolutionary groups are relying now on the economic question and lack of credit for the present government. President Grau, however, gave some signs of increasing his support, with more segments of the ABC revolutionary organization splitting away and coming out for him in an organization known as the "ABC solid front."

Government Pays Soldiers.

Reports at the palace were that the army was paid yesterday for the month of September, being the only department receiving pay. Conjectures are that the big idea is to keep the machine guns manned by contented soldiers. The army is said to be at least three months behind in pay. But other employés are in salary arrears from six to nine months. It was nonpayment of police which caused discontent.

In Santa Clara province counter revolutionists are spreading word that the region may be the scene of the next uprising. This is the only province of the six which has not had a revolt under the present administration.

Rebel Leader to Surrender.

HAVANA, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Reports from Camaguey that a man claiming to be Juan Blas Hernandez, picturesque guerilla leader, had left on a train for Havana to present himself to the general staff of the Grau San Martin army reached here tonight simultaneously with assurances that a serious food shortage in the capital would be averted.

Hernandez was accompanied by friends and students and said he was not under arrest. He took up arms against the Grau government a few days ago and was twice reported in combat with government troops. The train on which he left for Havana was scheduled to arrive at 8 a. m. Monday.

In Havana warehouse officials announced that striking workers had agreed to return tomorrow to their jobs. They had been on strike for a week and it was estimated available food in store would not supply the city for more than a few days.

Hold Secret Session.

Meantime a new series of conferences between supporters of President Grau and his leading opponents was adjourned tonight after an all day secret session. The meeting was held in a private home.

Persons present at the meeting said that no definite agreement was reached and the conferences would be continued until a solution was found. Opponents of the Grau government have demanded the resignation of the régime to make way for a more thoroughly representative one.

It was learned the students backing the present régime presented a "minimum program"—a basis on which they would be willing to accept a concentration cabinet. The program included the retention of President Grau. Twenty delegates, including Col. Fulgencio Batista, head of the army, and most of the opposition leaders attended the session.

Officers Leave Hotel.

Seven of the 500 officers besieged in the National hotel broke ranks for the first time last night and left, unmolested, for their homes. It was believed those remaining did not have sufficient food to hold out much longer.

A group of more than 100 striking workers invaded the manganese mines near Cristo, not far from Santiago, but soldiers dispersed the workers by firing over their heads.

The mines are owned by American interests and 12 Americans were held virtual prisoners in the company offices for several days before the mines were closed last week.

AMBASSADOR WELLES REPORTS VIOLENCE IS CONTINUING IN CUBA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Ambassador Welles informed the state department by telephone tonight that conditions in some sections of Cuba were quieter tonight, but that outbreaks of lawlessness and violence were still occurring in other parts of the island. It was known that Americans at several Cuban seaports were holding small boats in readiness to flee to warships off the coast if necessary.

At the same time navy officials here said commanding officers of the American gunboats now had authority to land forces to protect lives without consulting higher authorities. Some observers here felt this might yet be necessary in view of the continued sporadic outbreaks of trouble.

At the same time it was learned that the continued unsettlement of the southern island's affairs was throwing awry the administration's plans and preparations for the seventh Pan-American conference to gather at Montevideo, Uruguay, early in December.

It had been planned that Welles would devote almost his entire time after returning here to preparation for the conference. It now appears that he must remain at Havana considerably longer

PHYSICISTS TELL OF METHODS TO CREATE MATTER

English and Californians Make Experiments.

[Copyright: 1933: By the Associated Press.]

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Experiments showing pure motion apparently changing into solid matter—indicating that for the first time man actually has seen the miracle of creation of matter—are described in the latest reports of several world-famous radiation laboratories.

Principally they come from the California Institute of Technology here and from Cambridge, England. The young physicists who made the discoveries confine their reports to describing facts verified by photographs. But their co-workers in other laboratories say it is the first inkling of creation of matter.

Stated in its simplest terms, the story is that fast flying radium rays are converted into electrical particles. No motion, or nearly none, is left.

Each Ray Is Divided.

Each ray is transformed into two particles, one the negatively charged electron, the other the positively charged, and recently discovered positron. These two kinds of electricity, positive and negative, science believes compose every kind of solid matter, from man to stars.

One kind of electricity is not sufficient to make matter—it takes both positive and negative to do that. Both these electrical particles from the radium rays are of equal mass or weight. This weight is that of the electron, the smallest fundamental particle of matter so far discovered.

The story of how creation of matter was found may begin with a recent report of Dr. Kenneth Bainbridge of Bartol research foundation of the Franklin institute, Philadelphia.

Neutron New Particle.

He pointed out that when the metal lithium is bombarded with alpha particles traveling about 10,000 miles a second, the bombardment yields boron plus one neutron. The neutron is a recently found particle having no electrical charge. The alpha particles used were helium nuclei thrown off by the chemical element, polonium.

This boro-neutron product of the bombardment, when weighed, proved to be heavier than the sum of all materials which made it. Specifically, an original mass of 11.01416 on the atomic scale had become 11.0202. The gain in weight was .00604.

There was nothing to account for this increase in weight except that the speed of the alpha particles had been converted into solid matter.

"Can this be a case," Dr. Bainbridge asked when he made the report, "in which the energy of motion of the alpha particle is transformed into mass, a creation of matter from energy?"

Woman Makes Experiments.

These experiments which he analyzed were made by the daughter of Mme. Curie and by Joliot in France and Chadwick in England. For the mathematically minded, the formula of this conversion is LI 1 plus alpha particle plus 2 E, a mass of 11.01416, becomes B 10 plus N 1, having a mass of 11.0202. In this formula LI 1 stands for the lithium atom of mass seven, E for electron, B 10 for the boron atom of mass 10, and N for neutron.

Although this made it evident that motion may change into matter, the process of conversion was not known. The California experiments furnish photographs which apparently show conversion caught in the act, a conversion different from but akin to the alpha particle speed transformation. The pictures are trails in vapor made by the positive and negative electrical particles.

Generated by Cosmic Rays.

They grew out of the discovery of the positron, the positive particle as small as the electron, by Dr. Carl D. Anderson of California Tech. These positive particles appeared to be generated by cosmic rays, which are even more energetic bullets than are radium rays.

Doing some calculating on this discovery, W. H. Furry and J. Carlson of the University of California showed that if a high speed positive particle of electricity hit the strong electric field surrounding the nucleus of an atom, two particles, one positive and the other negative, would be ejected.

Yet the stricken atom itself would remain apparently unchanged. Again this was an intimation that motion, this time the speed of the positive particle, had been converted into matter.

SHOT TO DEATH IN QUARREL.

JAPANESE TROOPS INVADE CHINA; MENACE PEIPING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 25.—[Monday.]—Although the Japanese ultimatum, dropped from an airplane over Peiping Saturday morning, demanding the suppression of Chinese rebels in the demilitarized zone between Peiping and the great wall does not expire until Tuesday midnight, Japanese troops are advancing into the zone from Kupeikow, a pass in the great wall.

The Japanese are assisted by Manchukuan forces, including the renegate Chinese general, Shi Yu-shan, who styles his army "the eastern Asia allied force." A report from THE TRIBUNE correspondent at Tientsin today said that large bodies of Japanese troops have reached Miyun, about 50 miles northeast of Peiping, and disarmed 700 Chinese gendarmes.

The rebel commander, Gen. Fang Cheng-wu, today threatened an attack on Peiping. Chinese government troops at Peiping, unable to advance into the demilitarized zone due to the terms of the Sino-Japanese truce, have decided to defend the southern line of the zone connecting Yenking, Changping, Shunyi, and Tungchow. A report from Tientsin claims that the Manchukuan bandit leader Tahaotze [Big Rat] is advancing on Tientsin.

SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS LAW FOR BOND REFUNDING

$5,700,000 in Obligations Due Next Year.

The board of education will ask Gov. Horner this week to include in a call for a special session of the legislature an amendment to the school law to permit the issuance of refunding bonds. The proposed legislation would make it possible for the school board to offer refunding bonds in exchange for $5,696,260 bond and interest obligations falling due Jan. 1 and Feb. 1, 1934.

The bond redemption fund of the school board is practically depleted and the trustees cannot see how enough tax money will be collected by the first of next year to retire the obligations. The alternative would be to default on the payments, which would seriously impair the credit of the school system. Thus far the school board has not defaulted.

Revolving Fund Bonds.

The obligations due Jan. 1 are $4,500,000 in principal and $464,260 in interest on revolving fund bonds. On Feb. 1 there will fall due $700,000 in principal and $32,000 in interest on educational fund bonds.

Authorization for the issuance of the revolving fund bonds, designed to create a working cash fund so that the board would not have to sell tax anticipation warrants, was granted by the legislature in 1930. At the same time the school board was allowed to issue educational fund bonds to redeem warrants outstanding against the tax levies of 1928 and 1929.

Bond Debt of $24,845,500.

The bonded indebtedness of the board of education, exclusive of interest, is $24,845,500 as of Sept. 15. Of this amount $32,500 is for small school districts absorbed into the system as the city of Chicago annexed territory. The major bond issues of the school board, bearing 4 per cent interest, fall due as follows:

REVOLVING CASH FUND BONDS. Due.	Amount.
Jan. 1, 1934	$ 4,500,000
Jan. 1, 1935	5,000,000
Jan. 1, 1936	5,500,000
EDUCATIONAL FUND BONDS.
Feb. 1, 1934	$ 700,000
Jan. 1, 1935	500,000
Feb. 1, 1935	900,000
Jan. 1, 1936	500,000
Jan. 1, 1937	500,000
Jan. 1, 1938	500,000
Jan. 1, 1939	500,000
Jan. 1, 1940	500,000
Jan. 1, 1941	213,000
Total	$24,813,000

Action on the school board's request, if granted, will probably be taken at a second special session of the legislature. The first session, to convene Oct. 3, and for which the governor is now preparing the call, will deal with poor relief measures. It has been indicated that state liquor laws and other matters will be acted upon at the second session.

Yuma, Ariz., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Sally Eilers, screen actress, and Harry Joe Brown, motion picture director, flew here from Los Angeles today and were married by Justice of the Peace Earl Freem. The couple was accompanied by Bebe Daniels and her husband, Ben Lyon, of the films.

Miss Eilers was granted a Mexican divorce in Chihuahua last month from Hoot Gibson, screen cowboy and airplane pilot. Gibson and Miss Eilers were married in 1930 at the actor's ranch at Saugus, Cal., and they separated and were reconciled several times before the divorce was granted.

Brown has had a varied career as a stage and screen actor and producer, newspaper writer, and army officer. He was educated at the University of Michigan and Syracuse university, being graduated with the degree of bachelor of law. He entered the motion picture industry in 1920 and served in all its branches. He directed Ken Maynard in several of that cowboy actor's western pictures.

Miss Eilers has been in the films since 1926.

YOUNG CRIMINAL, SHOWN LENIENCY 3 TIMES, IS SHOT

Holdup Victims Identify Him as Bandit.

Joseph Krupinski, 24 years old, who has won freedom or leniency three times when he faced judges on criminal charges was wounded in the body by a policeman's bullet yesterday as he fled from a robbery. He probably will not live to face another judge, it was said at the Garfield Park hospital, where he was taken.

Albert Manfucci, 22 years old, 2216 North Austin avenue, was arrested and identified as one of Krupinski's three companions in the robbery. Four Negroes were playing cards in a flat at 2718 Fulton street when the bandits entered and robbed them of $10. One of the Negroes slipped away and called the police.

Three Flee on Foot.

A detective squad, led by Sergt. William Thorpe, reached the scene as the robbers were eing and opened fire. Three of the gang fled on foot. The fourth drove the bandit car away, but wrecked it when he met another police squad and took to his heels. Krupinski appeared at his home at 842 North Central avenue in a taxicab and was taken to a hospital by a brother. There he was identified by the Negroes.

"My boy has been in a lot of trouble," the wounded bandit's mother told Sergt. Thorpe. "He runs around with robbers and burglars. Every night when he left the house I was afraid he would be brought home dead."

Police records showed that in 1926, at the age of 17, Krupinski was arrested for the theft of an automobile and taken before Judge Francis B. Allegretti, then sitting in the Municipal court. Judge Allegretti granted him probation.

In 1931 he was indicted on two charges of robbery, records show. Taken before Judge James J. Kelly in the Criminal court, he was allowed to plead guilty to petit larceny, for which he was sentenced to a year in the Bridewell instead of a year to life in the penitentiary, the penalty for robbery.

Robbery and Kidnaping.

On last Jan. 17, police charged, Krupinski and a companion entered the Alcazar garage, 2943 West Lake street, robbed the attendant, John Watkins, of $50 and then kidnaped Watkins and a customer of the garage in the customer's automobile. The car was wrecked in the suburbs and River Forest police arrested the pair.

Krupinski and his companion, Joseph Pick, were charged with robbery, kidnaping, and larceny of an automobile. On March 24 they were acquitted of the charge of robbery before Judge Joseph Fardy in the Criminal court. A few days later both were held to the grand jury for automobile theft.

from the Price lodge when Dewey Potter and several other men appeared in front of them and began firing, Williams said.

As Mr. Price reeled from the shot that struck him, slipping from the saddle, his horse bolted, throwing him to the ground. The terrified animal fled down the mountain. Williams also slipped from his mount, but managed to kick his feet free from the stirrups. Williams remained with Mr. Price while Buchanan rode to the lodge for help, but none of the attackers returned.

Servants at the lodge sent Buchanan to Waynesville to get a doctor. When Buchanan arrived here he was put in a hospital. By the time a physician arrived at Mr. Price's side the railway man was dead.

Long Railroad Career.

Mr. Price, who was born in Wrexham, Wales, came to America as a youth. He rose to secretary of the Union Pacific system from a clerkship, after becoming chief clerk and secretary to the president of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific systems in 1907.

He was secretary of the Union Pacific Railroad company, the Oregon Short Line Railroad company, Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company, the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad company and the St. Joseph and Grand Island Railroad company, of which he also was a director.

He was secretary and a member of the board of the Union Pacific Coal company and three water companies, the Union Pacific, the Green River and the Rattle Snake Creek.

He held a similar connection with the Railroad securities company, the Illinois Union Coal company, the Union Land company, the Utah Parks company and the Saratoga and Encampment Valley Railroad company.

He was a director of the Pacific Fruit Express, the Baton Rouge Electric, the Eastern Texas Electric, the El Paso Electric and the Key West Electric companies.

PLAN TODAY FOR GARDEN PLOTS FOR FAMILIES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A meeting of the national advisory committee on subsistence homesteads, for which $25,000,000 was "earmarked" in the NRA act, has been called for Tuesday. At the session M. L. Wilson, director, said today, formulation of policies for utilization of the fund will be the principal business.

Secretary Ickes repeatedly has stated that the subsistence homestead projects would not be started until definite plans had been approved. He will take part in the conference here Tuesday, and it is expected that his program will be adopted by the committee.

and members of the Touhy gang were also among Bergl's, Chicago gangster patrons, the police said.

Shadow Bergl's Brother.

It was disclosed yesterday that some months ago, when federal agents were looking for Frank Nash, friend of Kelly and Bergl, after Nash's escape from prison, they followed Bergl's brother, Anthony, for days. Anthony Bergl, they had been told, was acting as a chauffeur for Nash, then hidden in Chicago.

It was to rescue Nash, who had been recaptured, that Kelly and Bailey staged the Kansas City massacre. Their plans went awry when their own bullets hit the convict. Three police officers and a federal agent died with him.

Trace Killers' Machine Gun.

Two ballistics experts from Kansas City yesterday connected the machine gun, with which Policeman Cunningham was killed, with the massacre. Working with Al Mulvaney, ballistics expert attached to the coroner's office, they compared bullets taken from the slain policeman's body with those which killed the Kansas City victims.

Both bore the same marks, made by the rifling of the machine gun barrel, which the experts said were as conclusive evidence as identical fingerprints. Continuing their investigation, the experts compared the ejected shells found in the wrecked and abandoned car of Cunningham's slayers with those picked up in Kansas City after the massacre. Under a microscope, these shells showed the marks of the same firing pin and the same ejector.

It was through the police killers' car, abandoned after a collision with another automobile at Adams and Halsted streets, that Kelly was first connected with the murder of Policeman Cunningham. The policeman was killed as he investigated the automobile crash.

Kelly, it was discovered, had purchased the abandoned car.

2,000 See Cardinal Invest Priest with Great Cloak

More than 2,000 persons, including high dignitaries in the Catholic church, attended services at St. Procopius church, 18th and Allport streets, at which Cardinal Mundelein invested the Kappa Magna, or Great Cloak, upon the Rt. Rev. Abbot Valentine Kohlbeck, O. S. B., of St. Procopius abbey at Lisle, in Du Page county. Hundreds viewed an outdoor procession after the investiture ceremony, which was followed by a reception and dinner in the evening at Hotel La Salle.

FAIL TO IDENTIFY GUNMAN SLAIN IN POLICE CHASE

The body of the young gunman who was slain when he shot it out with police early yesterday was still unidentified last evening at the county morgue. He was about 25 years old and had no police record. A bottle of moonshine was in his pocket.

The bandit, armed with two pistols, which are being traced, kidnaped three high school students from a party of five boys and two girls in Oak Park and forced one of them to act as a shield for him in a drug store robbery. "I've got cancer of the heart," he said, "and I have less than six months to live. If I am killed by the police it will make no difference." He invited death by ordering two of the youths out of the car and suggesting that they call the police. They did.

At Lockwood avenue and Hirsch boulevard, with a police car following, the robber leaped out of the car and led a chase on foot through back yards and areaways, at the same time firing on his pursuers. Police finally shot him three times, killing him instantly.

Mrs. Grace Rutcuno, 65 years old, 1335 North Laurel avenue, was struck in the leg by two bullets during the chase, and Miss Josephine Durato, 16 years old, 1731 North Lorel avenue, was cut on the face by glass when a bullet shattered the windshield of a car in which she was sitting.

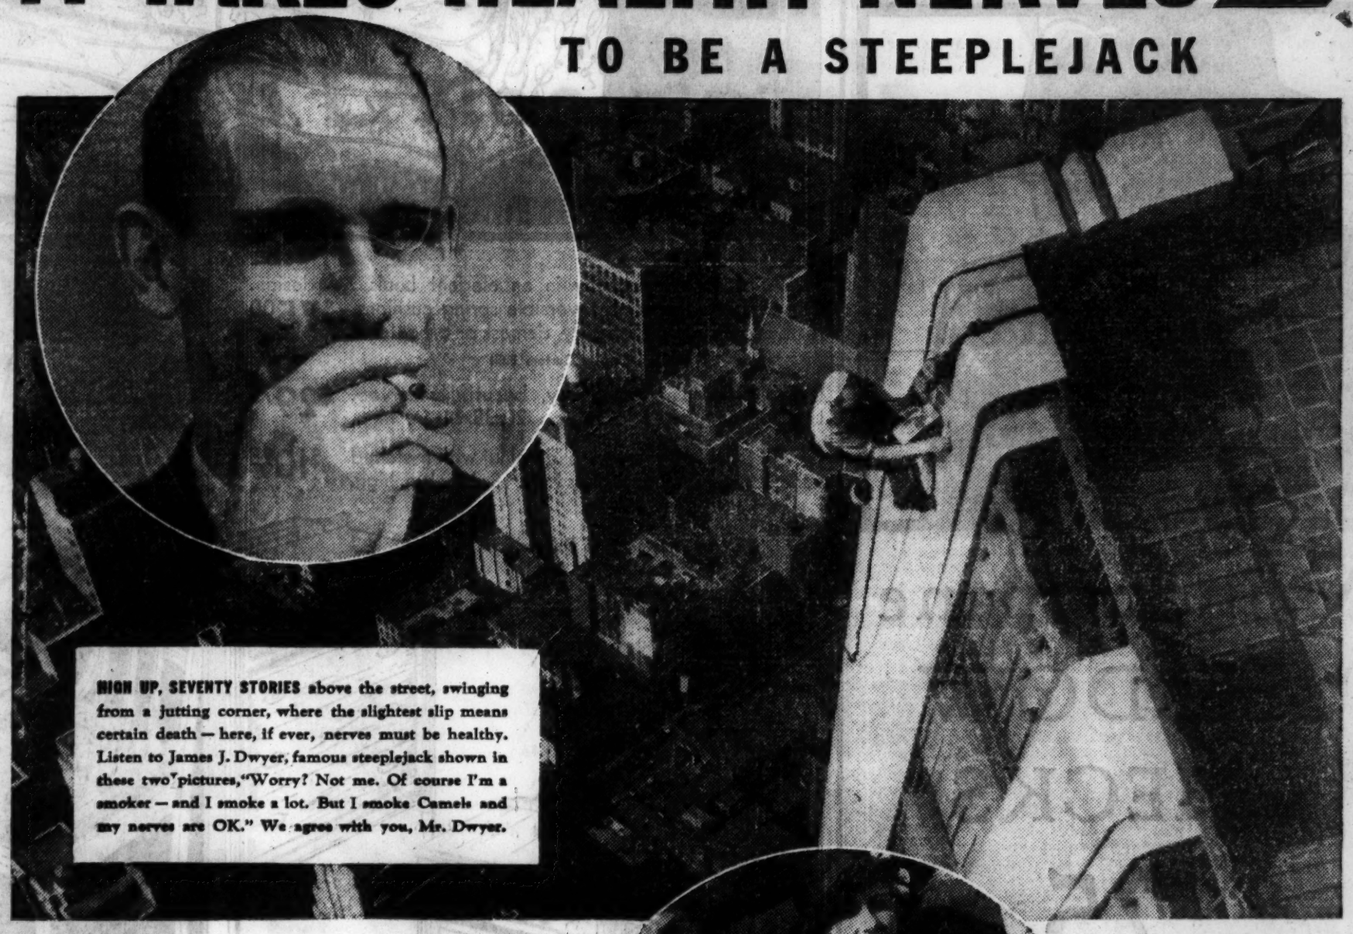
IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES — TO BE A STEEPLEJACK



HIGH UP, SEVENTY STORIES above the street, swinging from a jutting corner, where the slightest slip means certain death — here, if ever, nerves must be healthy. Listen to James J. Dwyer, famous steeplejack shown in these two pictures, "Worry? Not me. Of course I'm a smoker — and I smoke a lot. But I smoke Camels and my nerves are OK." We agree with you, Mr. Dwyer.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

Not many of us have the iron nerves necessary to be a New York steeplejack. But we can all take a tip from these dare-devils whose very lives depend on healthy nerves.

As James J. Dwyer tells it: "I've been climbing for years and smoking cigarettes even longer. I picked Camels because they're milder. And when I say milder I mean that no matter how many I smoke they never get on my nerves. What do I think about up there in the air? Not much of anything. Worry? Not me, I smoke Camels—and my nerves are OK."

You'll like Camels, too. Their costlier tobaccos certainly make a difference. In taste. In mildness. And they never get on your nerves.

HOW ARE YOUR NERVES? Does it upset you to see someone else in a dangerous position? Just put yourself in that same place—and then consider your nerves. But remember, no matter how many you smoke, Camel's costlier tobaccos never upset your nerves. Milder? Of course. Taste better? Certainly.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

COURT TO ANSWER CRIMINALS WITH SWIFT JUSTICE

Judges to Plan Today for Intensified Drive.

The defiance of the criminal element, which cost the lives of a policeman and a visitor to the World's Fair last week, is to be met this week by Chief Justice Philip L. Sullivan of the Criminal court and his associates, with increased efforts to mete out speedy justice to quick trigger bandits. Judge Sullivan said yesterday he would call to the judges' attention at the regular weekly meeting this noon the sudden outburst of crime during the last few days of last week.

Speedy trial of current crime cases, so that the criminals will receive an object lesson, is to be discussed at today's meeting, it was announced. It was also reported that the judges will discuss the lack of activity in the civil courts since they opened last week, and it will be suggested that any idle judge can find plenty of work in the Criminal court.

Plenty of Work for Judges.

"Fifteen judges could easily be used in the Criminal court at this time," said one judge. "If the civil lawyers do not want to dispose of their litigation, the judges do not have to remain idle. They can find plenty to do in the Criminal court.

"At present the Criminal court judges are hampered in disposing of the more serious criminal cases by a lot of petty cases which have been sent into the court from the municipal court. The idle judges could hear these cases and clean up the docket so as to leave the regularly assigned Criminal court judges to handle quickly the serious crimes, such as murder, robbery, burglary, rape, and automobile larceny.

"Speedy and severe justice is the only remedy for any crime epidemic. Immediate punishment is the only way to strike fear into the hearts of the criminals, and that we can have if all the law enforcing authorities will work together."

Courtney to Push Drive.

State's Attorney Courtney has called a special meeting of his staff of trial assistants for 9 o'clock this morning, prior to the opening of the courts, to talk to them about the recent crime uprising. The purpose of the meeting, the prosecutor said, will be to urge his assistants to greater efforts and to commend them for work so far accomplished.

Revision of the Municipal court system so as to keep petty cases from clogging the Criminal court calendar has been urged by the Criminal court judges for the last week. The plan is for Prosecutor Courtney to put one of his best trained trial assistants in charge of Felony court prosecutions, instead of using that court as a training ground for new prosecutors.

A seasoned prosecutor, it was pointed out, would know what constitutes a Criminal court case and what should be disposed of in the Municipal court. An experienced Municipal court judge, such as Judge Edgar Jonas, who has had experience as a prosecutor, working in coöperation with an experienced assistant state's attorney, could lighten the burden of the Criminal courts by disposing of many cases in the Felony court, it was asserted.

To Press Murder Cases.

Several murder cases, in which death penalties are to be asked for some of the defendants, are to be pushed to trial this week, Prosecutor Courtney said.

"The enforcement of the death penalty is up to the citizens of this community," said Mr. Courtney. "We can only give the jurors the evidence in murder cases and it is up to them to fix the punishment. In my opinion, the death verdict for murderers is the only way to stop crimes such as the brutal slaying of Policeman Miles Cunningham last week by the mail robbers."

The prosecutor referred to the killing of Robert H. Stephens, a World's Fair visitor from Des Moines, Ia., who was shot to death by bandits who held up the Mandel drug store, 6161 South Kedzie avenue, last Thursday.

Killing Trial Starts Today.

The first murder case scheduled for trial is that involving five west side hoodlums, who are charged with murdering Vito Pisciotti, 3152 West 5th avenue, in a robbery. The defendants are James Palambo, who is alleged to have fired the fatal shot; Sam Marabile, Tony Venezia, John Terracino, and Frank Pasocciello. They are to go to trial today before Judge Benjamin Epstein.

Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan said he also would push to trial this week the case of Carl Grundhoefer and his companions, charged with the murder of Harry J. Mueller, cashier of the National bank of Niles Center. One of these companions John Scheck, is already under a death sentence for murdering Policeman John Sevick in an attempt to escape from Judge Charles P. Molthrop's court, but he will be placed on trial again in the Mueller case.

Grundhoefer, according to the witnesses, was the actual slayer of Mueller, who walked into the bank at 2:30 o'clock on April 17 while the robbery was in progress. Grundhoefer, it is alleged, put a sawed off shotgun to Mueller's side and killed him. Frank Keglovitz and Roman Piskorz are co-defendants in this case. Piskorz has not been apprehended.

The trial is set for Wednesday morning before Judge Walter Steffen. The defendants, however, have served notice of a change of venue. Chief Justice Sullivan said he would have a judge ready to proceed with the trial as soon as the formal change of venue is taken on Wednesday.

DEFENSE BEGINS TODAY FOR PRISONERS IN THE URSCHEL KIDNAP TRIAL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The defense starts its case tomorrow in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping conspiracy trial.

Defense lawyers plan to have the Shannon family, R. G. Shannon, his wife, Ora, and son, Armon, testify.

Attorneys for Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates were silent as to whether their clients will testify.

Six other defendants, those from the Twin Cities, may take the stand. Chief of Police Joseph Lehmeyer of Minneapolis, it was said, would be a witness for them.

The offer of Oklahoma citizens of a reward of $15,000 for George Kelly, and his wife, Kathryn, dead or alive, was hailed by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation of the department of justice, who telephoned that he "heartily approves" the move. He added: "The reward for Kelly and his wife, dead or alive, will have no effect on the department's activities, because one of our agents could accept no reward under any circumstances."

Local federal officials declared "absurd" a report circulated Saturday night that Kathryn Kelly might surrender if her parents, the Shannons, were granted clemency.

John V. Roberts, Enid, Okla., lawyer retained by Mrs. Kelly, said he advised her to "come on in and surrender."

"The government has proved only that she bought a machine gun and that is not a law violation," said Roberts. "I can win an acquittal for Kathryn."

STRIVE TO BRING FORD INTO CODE AT PARLEY TODAY

Compliance Board Will Hold Session.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The local NRA board of suburban Dearborn, where the principal plant of the Ford Motor company is located, still is hopeful that both Henry Ford and his employés will be represented on a compliance board which will consider complaints filed against the company.

William L. Mills, publicity chairman for the Dearborn NRA board, who yesterday revealed that the complaints have been filed, said today that when the problem of naming a compliance board is taken up tomorrow the committee will hear reports on efforts to secure Ford representation on the compliance board.

Whether the hoped for representation is accomplished, Mills indicated, the Dearborn NRA committee, of which Ford is listed as an honorary member, will proceed eventually with consideration of complaints which may bring the controversy between Ford and the NRA to a head.

Reasons for Delays.

The Dearborn NRA committee, of which Caspar B. Hughes is chairman, feels, Mills said, that delay in forming the compliance board was caused mainly by the fact that the Ford Motor company, not having signed the NRA automotive code, could not be represented.

Mills said complaints have been made that world war veterans who formerly worked for Ford have had no opportunity to be reinstated, in spite of the fact that in downtown Detroit the American Legion has been engaged in recommending to the Ford company 5,000 veterans.

Welfare Scheme Opposed.

Others have complained against the Ford "dollar-a-day" welfare plan under which, they say, some workers in the Ford plants are given only $1 a day in cash, the rest of their pay being in food from the Ford commissary and in payment of bills and back taxes.

Mills added Ford officials told him this plan was employed for a time in the cases of workers who were deeply in debt, but according to Harry H. Bennett, director of personnel, had been abandoned. Mills said some Ford workers charged they were being overworked by a speeding up of production.

Ford Company Statements.

The Ford officials made no reply today to Mills' statements.

The Ford company, however, late last week rearranged its schedules and is now operating on a 32 hour week. The minimum pay, it has been stated by the company, is 50 cents an hour. It was indicated that eventually the work schedules will be arranged so that no employé will average more than 35 hours a week. For some time previous the Ford company had been on a 40 hour week.

PERU PREPARES TO 'GO IT ALONE'; TAKES INVENTORY

Seeks New Sources of National Wealth.

BY NORMAN INGREY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 24.—The Peruvian government intends to take no chances with the world economic situation, according to dispatches from Lima. President Oscar R. Benavides has named a commission of four, headed by the president of the chamber of mines, to take stock of all national resources. This commission will report whether Peru is able to crawl back into its own shell like a hermit crab if the spirit of nationalism is intensified throughout the world.

In the national stock taking every form of activity will be studied, whether based on raw materials or manufactured goods. Special attention will be paid to the possibility of creating new sources of national wealth and supply.

Plans for Economic Freedom.

The Benavides government makes no secret about the aim of the investigation. It is to pave the way for making Peru practically independent and self-contained. The lessons of the last few years in that country, as in most others of Latin America, have inevitably strengthened the spirit of economic nationalism.

Peru sees danger ahead commercially. Chile, which hitherto has drawn raw sugar supplies from her, has begun to buy from Cuba, because that country offers reciprocity. Chile has also begun to grow her own beet sugar. The British imperial economic policy also contains a great menace. Empire grown cotton may ultimately displace the exports of Peruvian cotton, despite the fact that the latter is a special product.

Others May Follow Peru.

Peru's stock taking lead has been widely published in the rest of South America, and it seems likely that it will be followed by several other Pacific and Atlantic powers. The suggestion, for instance, has already been taken up in Chile, where the tendency toward national isolation has been even more accentuated.

A start has been made with a Chilean geological survey, government promoted, to obtain more knowledge of the mineral resources of the country.

CO-OP WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS OPEN SESSIONS TODAY

The Federal Wholesale Druggists' association will open its annual convention today in the Stevens hotel. More than 150 officers and directors of 25 coöperative wholesale drug companies of this country and Canada will attend. The companies are owned by 15,000 independent retail druggists.

The association was created almost 20 years ago to enable independent druggists to meet chain store competition. Under the coöperative plan all profits of a member company are paid back to its customers in dividends.

At the convention delegates are to discuss the effect of the NRA retail drug code. O. J. Cloughly of St. Louis is president of the association and R. E. Lee of Baltimore its secretary.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF A FREE PRESS.

The annual report of Dean Ackerman of the school of journalism to the president of Columbia university is a remarkable document. There are a few brief pages devoted to a summary of the activities of the school; the other twenty pages are devoted to a survey of the position of the press of this country in relation to the government and particularly to the recovery agencies in Washington.

Dean Ackerman is of the opinion that the insistence of the press on the preservation of its right of free criticism has irritated the powers that be, particularly Gen. Johnson and his subordinates. The movies and the radio have succumbed and if they have any heretical opinions have suppressed them, he suspects. The press, in forcing into its code a reaffirmation of its constitutional liberties, has gone far toward preventing the imposition of a dictatorship in this country.

Dean Ackerman's report is unconventional in the best sense of the word. If he had followed the usual course in report-making and had devoted all his space to a detailed account of the day-to-day work of his school, he could not have conveyed as clearly as he has the spirit and aims of the institution. He has shown that the young men and women for whose education he is responsible are receiving not only a sound training in their craft but also a deep sense of the responsibilities of their profession. The indifference of a number of newspaper publishers to the question of the freedom of the press in the newspaper code is an evidence of how necessary it is that students of journalism be taught their rôle in relation to government.

While Dean Ackerman's paper is heartening for the future, newspaper editors would be making a great mistake if they thought that in all respects they are today living up to the responsibilities which are imposed upon them by the first amendment to the constitution. To deserve its freedom, the press must be both vigilant and independent. The fact that in recent months a considerable number of so-called news services have sprung up, most of them edited in Washington, suggests that many newspapers are not printing all the news and perhaps that others are pulling their punch in fear of official wrath. The growth of these so-called news-sheets and news-letters is a constant reminder to editors of responsible newspapers that, if they wish to hold the confidence of the public, they must publish the truth as they see it, without fear and despite all threats.

It is said that since the Nazis took control of the Berliner Tageblatt its circulation has fallen from a quarter of a million to 25,000. There is a warning for every editor and publisher in those figures. Once the confidence of the public is lost the favor of the government is worth a little less than nothing.

THE GOOD OLD TIMES (MEX.)

The duke of Devonshire at the Ashborne horse show in Derbyshire made a few remarks recalling the old times when he first came to the horse show, riding behind horses "as a gentleman," and pronounced his criticism upon present days, particularly upon automobiles as "foul, stinking things and horrible brutes, making life hideous."

Living frequently imposes these penalties upon worthy and estimable persons who, living long, doubt the value of changes or stoutly condemn them all. That all change is bad is a doctrine that has a following. Generally it is composed of people who have done very well with conditions as they found them, a state of contentment not enjoyed by the great majority. The majority see hope only in things different from what they are.

The duke of Devonshire might be in a well tiled Georgian restoration of a Tudor castle or manor and the merry villagers would have thatched cottages on a rose vined lane. There'd be a good deal of rheumatism in the cottage, for which the absence of a dentist in the village might be as much responsible as the drafts over the flagstone floor. But the respectful old gaffer in the chimney corner would be symbolic of a sounder order of society to the duke passing down the lane behind his bays when weather permitted the road to be used than would be young Giles, giving him dust, passing in the English equivalent of a Ford.

Progress does not always put a pretty face on its movements as it goes forward. The frame house with sound roof, modern plumbing, and a good stove may be an artist's nightmare as a substitute for the vine-twined threshold of the Cotter's Saturday Night. But the cotter's Saturday night, taken out of the poet's book, may be a very dull thing. Young Giles at the movie is probably the better man. In his store clothes he may not seem so much a naturally beautiful creature of the soil, but after ten minutes in the tub he may be nearer the rose, and in his curiosity regarding the world he may be a more intellectual type.

Nearly always it is transportation which destroys the world of the old timer for his enjoyment. Ruskin hated the railroad. It shrieked through the bosky dell and filled the landscape with noise and smoke. Every improvement in transportation has released some portion of the static world to new movements. Even the old French peasant no longer lives with Carcassonne close by but out of reach. Democracy refuses to stay still. The greatest revolution is the revolution of the invention which destroys privilege by giving to the many the things which other conditions of life had preserved for the few. No government has ever so completely changed the conditions of life as have the inventors and mechanicians who are constantly recasting the circumstances in which the average person finds the things most important to him. Government, however reckless, is neither imaginative enough nor skillful enough to do for masses of people what one inventor with an idea and a machine shop or a laboratory can do of his own initiative.

NEW YORK AND CHICAGO—A CONTRAST.

New York City avoided the consequences of its financial sins and the imperative showdown longer than Chicago by better but more foolish sidestepping. The sidestepping was foolish because it wasn't getting away from things that could be escaped, and Chicago, coming back quicker, did what was needed to save itself. Now, in spite of the fact that all the results of past rascality and folly here have not been paid for, sound business administration is facing the realities and making the best and not the worst of the situation.

New York, having tried to dream itself out of its circumstances, finds itself going bankrupt and is asking its bankers to lend it some $72,000,000 more to add to the debt which it already cannot carry. It is a misfortune added to the unfortunate political structure of the city that Gov. Lehman, offering assistance, is a statesman bountiful, with no conception of the causes which have destroyed public credit and are destroying public institutions in New York. Gov. Lehman believes in the cornucopia of politics. He believes in the magic which can pull guinea pigs out of the executive hat and use them as producers of public revenue. He confirms the New York City habit of prodigality by advancing state funds instead of forcing the city to meet its situation and save itself by the painful process of stopping its drains upon the resources of its citizens. New York shows signs of political restlessness, but nothing in the voice of authority gives it encouragement to think that it can find its way out politically. Gov. Lehman is addicted to theories of government which will carry the state and the city further along the road to ruin which both have been traveling.

The best portent in Illinois' affairs, both for the state and for the city of Chicago, is found in the political about face which thus far has determined the city and the state program. Gov. Horner has not yet become affected by the illusion that salvation is worked by the employment of destructive agencies. Mayor Kelly and the city administrators in general have not yielded to the idea that the ruin of the citizens' welfare is the remedy for the consequences of public extravagance and profligacy. Neither the governor nor the mayor has proceeded upon the theory that injury to the people is the salvation of state or city. Consequently, Illinois and Chicago are on their way back at a time when New York, trusting to the fallacy of its limitless wealth, is sinking. The contrast is too favorable to the saner, sounder policy to permit thought of a change here. With horrible examples illuminating the wrong road, this state will have every reason to congratulate itself if its authorities keep their minds fixed upon the policies which have been of such benefit.

CARRYING ON THE RELIEF.

Robert J. Dunham, appointed by Gov. Horner as member of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission with the expressed wish that he be chosen chairman, accepts what the governor himself describes as a tough job. It is the very essence of such a job that it gets tougher as the necessity for it is prolonged, for reasons which are apparent. Emergency relief means that an abnormal and extraordinary burden has been added to the community load. Normally, this load may be all the community should be asked to carry. Emergency increases it and may increase it to the breaking point. The funds available decrease. The burden of supplying them becomes harder and harder.

If the emergency period is long drawn out, unfortunate effects are produced among the persons sustained by the relief. Some retain their self-respect and their desire to become self-supporting at the earliest moment, but others lack this hardihood and independence and adjust themselves to a life of dependence. They accept the public dole and finally regard it as a right. The tendency is to increase that proportion of the public which expects to live upon public funds. Thus the administration of public relief has the problem of preventing a great increase in a permanent public charity roll. Furthermore, fraud and deceit will go to work upon the lists and both in the purchase and in the distribution of supplies there will be gross dishonesty unless administration is constantly vigilant.

Mr. Dunham accepts his new responsibilities at a time when all these various problems of relief may be at their worst. No doubt he is fully aware of all of them.

Editorial of the Day

BRAZIL DESTROYS COFFEE.

[Wisconsin State Journal.]

The United States is not the only country where aid of agriculture is a major question. Brazil has a surplus of coffee. Already there has been a large destruction of a portion of coffee in storage. Nearly 20,000 sacks have been destroyed since 1931.

Still the price of coffee is not reaching a point where the coffee planter is receiving anything like an adequate return for his product.

Another withdrawal from the warehouses has been ordered, and the government is making a careful survey to decide how much more coffee must be destroyed so that the supply remaining will be sufficiently limited to demand what the Brazilian coffee planters will consider is at least a fair price for their crop.

Brazil is doing just what the United States has done through the killing of the little pigs, the leaving of wheat fields untilled, and the plowing under of cotton.

Undoubtedly a better method for meeting this overproduction would be to find some way to distribute the surplus pork, wheat, cotton, and coffee in parts of the world where they are sorely needed. Our international distribution system is not equal to such adjustments. Therefore we and other nations are trying the experiment of destroying food products to create a sale price that shall give the producer a living.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THERE'S SOME HITCH in the production of the new revolution against President Grau San Martin in Cuba. It may be on, though, by the time this is printed (see front page). However, if the new revolution is much longer postponed we shall begin to suspect there is some trouble over the motion picture rights or that the army is holding out for a five hour battle day and no revolution to continue more than five days a week.

EQUINOCTIAL.

Come dance with me beneath the moon,
Put on your little silver shoon,
For I am coming very soon
To lead you out a pace, ah!
The climbing moon mounts high and high,
September blows across the sky,
And you must dance, and dance must I
Though dark shall hide my face, ah!

The years shall drift like scattered leaves,
For memory lights the heart that grieves,
And love is rich with golden sheaves
Although the years grow cold, ah!
So dance along the moony way,
For I must go before the day,
A wraith, a mist, a shadow grey,
Along the pathway old, ah!

THE G. A. R. is all het up because the Daughters of the Confederacy present a Robert E. Lee sword to a cadet in the graduation class at West Point. I would join in the protest on the grounds of the futility of such a gift; all they use swords for nowadays is to wave 'em around in Fourth of July parades and to open a can of peaches with. A much more useful present than a sword to a graduating cadet at West Point would be a good can opener. But, gosh! there's no sich animule.

THE BREWERS' CONVENTION in Chicago this week is going to exhibit a "home bar" which is a nice looking little affair arranged to fit neatly into the corner of the dining room. However, it has no big mirror behind it on which is written in big white letters, "A Clam Free Today with Every Drink." We're going to like the new home bar, but it won't seem quite right.

THE AMERICAN LEGION has assumed a stern attitude to enforce a serious and dignified demeanor on its members who come to the convention in Chicago next week. And were there many there?

THE DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE at a horse show in London calls automobiles "foul, stinking things." And also he said that motor cars (they call 'em that in England) were "horrible brutes, making life hideous." But the duke is one of that almost extinct race known as horsemen and he was talking at a horse show. As the horse recedes more and more into the background we are apt to exalt him into the gentlest, most amiable, devoted beast that man ever possessed, with a disposition like that of a dear little canary bird singing so happily in its gilded cage and no more liable to kick you than a goldfish. But those of the older generation who have had the old family mare run away with pa, ma, and the baby in the surrey, and had faithful old Dobbin take a nip out of his left arm or received a swift kick in the pants from nice old Dolly will take the duke's curse on the automobile with a grain of salt. It's true that autos kill and maim more people than the horses used to do, but then there's so many more of 'em.

HERR HITLER has ordered struck from the German Bible the story and the pictures of Abraham's sacrifice of Isaac. He was probably afraid that after people gazed on the picture of Abraham with his great flowing beard and then looked at Herr Hitler's comedy mustache they would laugh right out loud even at a Nazi meeting.

THE HALL OF SCIENCE at the Fair has got an automatic machine that plays bridge. But no real bridge fan would want to play with an automatic machine as a partner; no, indeed. Suppose the silly machine trumps its partner's ace. No matter what the partner called it, the machine wouldn't care. You could even throw a chair at the funny thing, as real earnest bridge players do now and then, especially at their wives, and the automatic bridge player would just keep clicking away. No bridge player could stand a thing like that.

JOCUND DAY, AND SO FORTH.

When jocund day
(As somebody, Will Shakespeare, ou qui? said)
Stands tiptoe on the misty mountain tops,
I should like to call the cops
For the thrice-damned fool that drops
His friends from all-night wassail
At the front of our tenement castle
And bids them au 'voir

WHAT PRICE OBESITY?

It is and has been for some time fashionable for young women to be thin. In order to conform these women are going without breakfast and restraining their eating in other ways. The prevalence of this vogue has made it somewhat more difficult to reduce the consumption rate in this group. But that is about all that can be said, from the health standpoint, against this fashion.

Something can be said for it. It has proved the feasibility of preventing obesity, so far as concerns a large part of the female population. It has been demonstrated that the average young person can restrain the desire to eat, and thereby escape obesity during youth. The comparative ease with which obesity can be prevented has been established.

Those interested in general health hope young women will continue the practice of prevention as they pass thirty years of age and move on over the meridian of life, for there is great advantage and almost no disadvantage in being thin in the later decades. Possibly the fashion may become contagious and men over thirty may catch it. The people who have most of the gall stones, infected gall bladders, and the dyspepsia caused by these disorders are fat at forty. While this is an unpleasant and uncomfortable group of disorders, they are trifling in importance as compared with another combination that is commonly associated with obesity in middle life and beyond. The combination is high blood pressure, arteriosclerosis and apoplexy, high blood sugar, diabetes, gangrene, and acidosis resulting in coma.

In persons beyond 50 a large part of the severe illnesses is the result of a combination of obesity, diabetes, and high blood pressure. What the relationship between them is no one can say with certainty, but this much is sure—the three hunt in combination. If a person gets one he is very likely to find before many years that he has the other two. What is of great importance, if he pitches in and cures one he will generally find that he has either cured or greatly benefited the other two.

About the most satisfactory treatment for high blood pressure known today is bringing the weight down to one that is about normal for the height, age, and build. Likewise an important method of treating diabetes is to reduce the weight skillfully, without causing acidosis, producing weakness, or carrying the reduction too far.

In the treatment of a case of diabetes it is most important to watch the blood pressure. A blood pressure that cannot be brought under control in the progress of diabetes is quite prone to be followed by gangrene. In both the treatment and the prevention of diabetes and arteriosclerosis control of obesity ranks high.

Therefore we hope the svelt young women will develop into thin old ladies, and that into this they will lead the men folks.

MANY CAUSES POSSIBLE.

A. J. writes: My ankles and legs, nearly up to my knees, swell a good deal, but with a little rubbing when retiring swelling is all gone by morning. Soon after getting up they begin to swell again. This has been the case for a year or more. I have had no other trouble for years. I would not know of this unless I saw it. I am 86 and sleep, eat, and eliminate regularly every day. Can you tell me the cause of the swelling?

REPLY.

The probable cause is some disease of your heart, kidneys, or liver. This possibility should be investigated thoroughly. Varicose veins may cause it, or obstruction to the vein or lymph vessels higher up in the legs. How about garters or other tight bands? In some your complaint is an uncomfortable but not otherwise important hot weather disorder.

BEWARE OF POISON.

M. P. C. writes: I have found that a strong solution of bichloride of mercury applied to chigger bites will stop the itching at once and cure promptly. I have cured ringworm of the feet with it. It will cure a wart if the growth is pared closely and the solution is applied twice daily thereafter. Nothing is better for a wasp bite.

REPLY.

The greatest drawback to the use of a solution of corrosive sublimate is the fact that it is a violent poison. Having bichloride around the house has been responsible for many fatal accidents.

BLOOD PRESSURE DIET.

E. M. writes: I have been told that clams and oysters should not be barred from a high blood pressure diet. My doctor says no fish, eggs, meat, or milk are allowed. I have read your booklet on high blood pressure and find it more liberal than my doctor.

REPLY.

Probably you have been correctly advised. Diet is of second rate importance in the treatment of high blood pressure.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—A certain man was born in the United States of naturalized citizens. They returned to Jugo-Slavia and stayed there. The son intends to go along to his native country. 1. Will he lose his American citizenship? How long can he stay in Jugo-Slavia before he will lose his citizenship rights? 2. What must he do to prevent the Jugo-Slavia authorities from taking him into their compulsory military service? A. N.

1. The person referred to, born in the United States, will not lose his American citizenship unless he becomes naturalized in some foreign country or takes an oath of allegiance to some foreign country.

2. This service cannot answer the question as to compulsory service in the Jugo-Slav army, as that depends upon the laws of Jugo-Slavia. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT, Dist. Dir. U. S. Department of Labor.

FIVE DAY NOTICE.

Chicago, Sept. 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is a five day notice served on a delinquent tenant by leaving same in the mail box legal? 2. Is it legal to serve a five day notice by shoving same under the door? Also, if a mistake is made by including a month for which a tenant has a legitimate receipt [3] is it necessary to serve a new notice for the correct amount? J. H.

1 and 2. No. Section 10 of the landlord and tenant act provides for service "in case no one is in the actual possession of said premises, then by posting the same on the premises."

3. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

RECEIPTS.

Cross Lake, Ill., Sept. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Kindly advise how long it is necessary to hold old receipted bills in order to protect yourself from legal action. I have some old receipted bills which I would like to get rid of. M. V.

The limitation period on oral agreements is five years and on written contracts ten years. Most parties decide on a basis of the reputation of their creditors and of the nature of the transaction to throw away most of their receipts before they have been technically barred.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FRIEND OF THE FARMER

[Inquiries on farm management, financing or governmental regulations addressed to this department must be accompanied by stamped, addressed envelope for reply.]

Mrs. G. J. D. asks: Is the government lending any money to farmers for second mortgages?

Answer: Yes, provided the holder of the first mortgage agrees to limit his right to proceed against the borrowing farmer and/or his property in accordance with rules of the federal land bank commissioner.

F. J. H. asks: My tenant is operating on a cash lease basis. What advantage can there be for me to sign a contract with the government to reduce our wheat acreage when he gets the payments?

Answer: The government wheat administration requires that both landlord and tenant sign a contract in order to make payments. The main advantage to you is that from the government's cash payments and the possible rise in wheat prices the administration expects your tenant would be more able to meet his cash rent. Of course, if he improves the land taken out of wheat by sowing legumes, pasture or fertilizer, the land would be improved for you.

NRA Question Box

Following are typical questions occasioned by the national recovery act and answers as furnished by the Chicago Association of Commerce:

Question—Has a code been submitted for beauty shops? If so, what are the hours and wages?

Answer—A code has been submitted by the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists' association and will come up for hearing shortly. Executives earning a salary of at least $35 a week are exempted from the maximum working week provision unless the owners, partner, or executive is actually engaged in the practice of beauty culture, in which case they are under the same hours as the rest of the help. Maximum hours are 48 per week, except on the day before legal holidays, when longer hours are permitted. Minimum wages in cities over 500,000 population are $15 per week.

Question—Does the signing of a code automatically discard the former day work or piece work method? I work in an apron factory.

Answer—Absolutely not. Piece work wages are still permitted. We have not seen a code covering the apron industry and no such code has been approved to date. However, most codes for the needle trades are guaranteeing a minimum rate regardless of whether on a piece work or time basis, and this will unquestionably be the case when a code for your industry is approved.

Question—Has a code been prepared for the cheaper hotels?

Answer—There will be but one code for all hotels. It has been submitted for hearing but has not had a final approval.

HEADS OR TAILS?

[London News of the World.]

President Roosevelt: "Seize it, Sam; it's your only chance for a square meal!"

(President Roosevelt's great problem, which he is trying to solve under the national recovery act, is to make consumption overtake production. Employment is being increased, but if the output of the factories is not purchased the position of America will be worse than ever.)

THE STEPCHILD.

Oak Park, Ill., Sept. 19.—I have read with interest the series of articles now being written by John Boettiger in which inferences are made that the President and the secretary of commerce, are partial to California and New York in the distribution of public works projects.

Has not Mr. Boettiger, and for that matter THE TRIBUNE, overlooked the fact that with respect to the President's home state the public works partially or wholly approved for that state by the federal government—namely: the Tri-Boro bridge, the new Hudson river tunnel [one-half in the state of New Jersey] and housing developments—are all self-liquidating projects to which federal moneys can be readily loaned because of favorable state laws?

I am confused today when I read that New York will get $27,000,000 for the canal [largely used, by the way, to carry grain from the lake states], when apparently that state has not as yet asked for federal aid nor succeeded in passing the law which is essential before the request can be made in behalf of the canal. On the other hand, a casual reader would understand from the article that the sanitary board's proposal for its canal has already been refused, when, as a matter of fact, the trustees have not formally laid the proposal before Secretary Ickes.

Certainly Chicago deserves more than the gigantic postoffice, now nearing completion, but isn't it in order for the state, county and city officials to get together and formulate a real public works program for the district and for the state? In the meantime let Secretary Ickes have an opportunity to explain what advantages his plan has over that of Trustee Elmore.

In considering a plan for public works, couldn't we make a toll bridge of the partially completed structure at the mouth of the Chicago river and build, as a toll street, the often mentioned west side highway from the proposed lake airport through Congress street to the county line, the highway to be an open cut below ground partially covered to permit street traffic as well? Perhaps, too, a model housing project could be built along both sides of the express highway. R. C.

THE PURISTS' CORNER.

Chicago, Sept. 20.—Mr. William Gardner's suggestion that "with" is a better preposition than "by" in the sentence "A man was struck by a brick in the fight," calls attention to shades of meaning which attach to certain words through common usage, and the difficulty of bringing these nuances within the confines of hard and fast rules.

To use "with" conveys the impression that some one holding the brick struck the man. If "by" is used one gets the idea that the brick, as a free agent, was sailing blithely through the air when it collided with the gentleman's person.

This latter usage applies to all objects when they have the appearance of volition and self-movement. The statement that "John was struck with the locomotive" might mean that he and the locomotive were hit simultaneously, or, in another sense, he might have been impressed with [or by] its perfection. But there is no ambiguity in the statements, "He was struck by a locomotive, an automobile, or a spent ball."

So if in this case the brick was not actually held in the hand, but instead had attained the status of a missile, "by" is the proper word—a slight concession, no doubt, to bygone days when men imputed personality and purpose to the inanimate in motion.

CLARENCE THOMPSON.

A REGRETTED MISTAKE.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 20.—In your issue of Sept. 13 an account of the Kiwanis convention held at Aurora contained the statement that Julian Stripe, who was the brilliant singer for the convention and won THE TRIBUNE'S gold medal at the recent Chicagoland vocal contest, was aided in his vocal career by the Waukegan Kiwanis club. This is entirely erroneous, for all the aid that this young man received was given by his competent father and mother.

He is a wonderful singer and has given his voice to all of the civic clubs in Waukegan and the churches during the last three years, and without compensation in most cases.

The father has spent thousands of dollars on this boy, and every dollar was filled with love, affection, hope, and prayer.

I wish you would make a correction somewhere where it will be seen, because R. H. Stripe does not accept charity from any one under the present circumstances and hopes that he will never have to do so. R. H. STRIPE.

A LIQUOR CODE.

Wilmette, Ill., Sept. 12.—I wish to suggest to these great men who have it in their power to plan for the handling of the liquor question, after the 36th state has sounded the death knell to the greatest farce in all history, these features of control:

1. Allow liquor to be sold only in saloons.
2. Have all saloonkeepers bonded to insure obedience to the liquor code.
3. Outside of restricted zones allow as many saloons to exist as there are persons able to put up the bond. (The more saloons the greater the revenue to the city, etc.)
4. Sell no liquor to minors.
5. Allow no back room drinking.
6. Forbid men and women to drink over the same bar. (If women wish to drink let them have a separate bar.)
7. Sell no carry-out liquor (all drinks to be consumed at the bar).
8. Ban all treating (the curse of the old saloon and liquor laws).
9. Forbid saloonkeepers to contribute to political parties.
10. A saloonkeeper who allowed any person to become intoxicated in his saloon could be deprived of his license and his bond could be forfeited.

The Columbian Exposition opened May 1; A Century of Progress opened May 27.

BY EARL MULLIN.

The picturesque Canadian Essex Scottish regiment was welcomed to A Century of Progress Exposition yesterday by the United States army units stationed at the Fair with a formal military reception. The Canadian regiment, encamped at Soldiers' field, will be at the Fair a week, parading, conducting military ceremonials, and giving band concerts.

The foreign troops arrived over the Michigan Central railroad at 2:45 o'clock. They were greeted by ranking army and navy officers assigned to the Fair and by Troop A, 14th U. S. cavalry, stationed at Camp John Whistler, in the Fair grounds.

From the station the kiltie clad troops, led by the 70 piece band of bagpipes and brasses, marched to the Only 37 More Days Remain in Which to See the Fair.

Court of Honor at the 14th street entrance. In the Avenue of Flags in front of the Illinois Host house the military reception was extended by the U. S. troops.

Thousands of visitors lined the honor court and the avenue to watch the ceremony, one of the few times in history that a foreign regiment has marched on U. S. soil. Wearing the plaid and the sporran of their regiment, the Scots stepped proudly to the sounding of the pibroch and came to a halt within ten feet of the U. S. troops.

Each Plays Other's Anthem.

Both units faced each other and the commanding officers, Col. Otto M. Brunzell of the U. S. troops and Lieut. Col. William Griesinger of the Scots, exchanged amenities. The U. S. army band played "God Save the King" while the troops stood at attention. In return, the Canadian band played "The Star Spangled Banner," the Scots stood at attention, and the colors were swung in salute.

In greeting the visiting regiment, Col. Brunzell said: "It is my pleasure to welcome you to the United States and to A Century of Progress. My command includes a regiment whose last contact with you was that of battle in the war of 1812."

Other officers participating in the ceremony included Maj. E. J. Carr, representing Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the 6th corps area, and Col. S. E. Robinson, representing the British crown, who was ordered from Great Britain to Canada and thence to Chicago to take part in the visit of the troops.

After the military reception, the visiting regiment, consisting of 400 officers and men and the 70 piece band, paraded to Soldiers' field for encampment. The Scots will stay in Chicago for a week, parading through the Fair grounds each morning, giving ceremonials in the afternoon and concerts in the evening.

Colorful Ceremony of Colors.

The most colorful ceremony to be given and at the same time the most intricate is the trooping of the colors. Officers of the regiment and Fair officials last night were making a survey of the Fair grounds to find the best location for this ceremony. At present the Court of States seems to be the most suitable location. The ceremony takes 45 minutes and has been termed the most colorful military maneuver in the world. The entire regiment takes part.

In the evening the bagpipes and the band will give concerts in the court of the Hall of Science and on the floating theater. The Scots will make no appearance in Chicago except at the Fair.

The attendance yesterday exceeded 200,000 for the second day in succession and for the fifth day in September. At 11:30 o'clock admissions totaled 215,709.

Following a Saturday of heavy attendance with 212,687 paid admissions the crowds began arriving early yesterday. During the first hour 31,683 paid admissions were recorded. During the midday hours officials were even hopeful of approaching the high record of 367,000 attendance on the Sunday before Labor day. But lowering skies in the afternoon caused attendance to fall off. Days of American Legion week and Chicago day are now conceded to be the only chances to break the existing record.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Civil war veterans will visit the Fair today to participate in G. A. R. Assembly day ceremonies on the grounds. They will be met at the 19th street entrance at 10:30 o'clock by United States troops from Camp Whistler and escorted to the Illinois Host house where the Lincoln exhibit will be inspected. The veterans will have luncheon in the German-American building and will gather in the court of the Hall of Science at 2:30 p. m. to hear an address by their new national grand commander, Col. Russell C. Martin of Los Angeles. President Rufus C. Dawes of the Exposition and his assistant, Dr. Allen D. Albert, will also speak during the ceremonies in the Science building court.

More than 13,000 World's Fair visitors arrived yesterday on eighteen extra sections of ten regular trains of the New York Central railroad. Fourteen of the sections came from New York and Boston. Eight sections of the Exposition flyer of the Michigan Central brought 1,481 Fair visitors. Previously the New York Central had brought 441,393 Fair visitors, Howard Carson, assistant general passenger agent, estimated.

William Nanni, 33 years old, 420 North Avers avenue, was burned on the back and left leg in a freak explosion in the model submarine in the Italian exhibit in the Hall of Science yesterday morning. The submarine is used to demonstrate a device to be used in escaping from disabled submarines below the surface of the water, invented by William's brother, Menotti. The explosion was believed to have been caused by dust. Nanni was treated in the emergency hospital in the Hall of Science, where his injuries were said to be not severe.

Fritzi Bey is the latest exponent of the art of fan dancing at the Fair. She replaces Rosalia at Old Mexico cabaret. Fritzi was born on the border between Russia and Turkey. Her show is named "Fritzi Bey and Her Harem."

A parade of some 50 floats and more than 200 persons was held yesterday in Albany Park to advertise Albany Park day at the Fair, Oct. 11. Several floats were from attractions at the Fair.

California's "Sweetheart of the Rodeo," Miss Ardoth Schneider, will visit the California state exhibit in the Court of States Wednesday. She will spend several days at the Fair, according to members of the state's Fair commission.

More than 1,000 letters, about equally divided between praise and condemnation, have been received by Fred Person and Herman Bock, managers of the German-American building, regarding the absence of the Nazi flag from the building. The building is not an official German exhibit. It was sponsored by the German-American citizens' groups in Chicago, and they decided not to display the Nazi colors.

Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania will be given a governor's salute of 19 guns on his arrival at the 14th street gate tomorrow noon. He will be accompanied by a large delegation of Pennsylvanias, here to celebrate their day at the Fair.

Members of the Association of Military Surgeons will spend today at the Fair. At 8 p. m. they will assemble at the Illinois Host house to hear an address on "The Allenby Campaign in Palestine," by Col. Edward Davis, chief of staff, 65th cavalry. The talk will be illustrated with motion pictures taken by British, German, and Turkish signal corps.

Yesterday was the second day of Illinois Achievement week programs, being given in the Illinois Host house at the Fair. The program was devoted to music and included songs, piano solos, and poetry readings. During the week tribute is being paid to Illinoisans' contributions to art, literature, music, science, and education. A collection of Illinois art is on display during the week and is open to the public.

Members of the International Association of Public Works Officials and the Association of Municipal Engineers visited the Fair yesterday informally.

90 MILE AN HOUR CAR IS DESIGNED FOR RAIL TRAVEL

'Railplane' Announced by Pullman Corporation.

BY HAL FOUST.

A stream lined, self-propelled railway coach, designed for ninety mile an hour passenger service, was announced yesterday by the Pullman Car and Manufacturing corporation. As an adaptation of aircraft architecture to track operation, it has been named the "railplane."

With a frame of chrome-molybdenum steel tubing and a shell of duralumin, the carrier, sixty feet long and with a seating capacity of fifty persons, has a weight of only 25,000 pounds as compared with the 160,000 pounds of a standard coach.

The railplane's stream lining, as established in the wind tunnels developed for aircraft designing, reduces wind resistance 50 per cent at ninety miles an hour. At this speed, according to engineers, the wind resistance on a conventional railroad coach consumes 90 per cent of the power necessary to propel the vehicle.

Two Engines Furnish Power.

Power is furnished by two internal combustion engines of the automotive type. They are mounted on the front truck, with one driving the front axle and the other the rear axle of this truck.

The railplane was built in the Stout Engineering Laboratories, Inc., at Detroit. William Stout, who designed Henry Ford's trimotored planes, has been a stormy petrel in automotive and railway engineering circles for several years, pooh-poohing the professions as a whole for their adherence to precedents of the horse and buggy age and civil war railroading.

The Pullman Car and Manufacturing corporation is the latest of several manufacturers to offer equipment to railroad manufacturers intended to revolutionize passenger transportation. All are aiming at economy, through the reduction of weight and the reduction of wind resistance, and as an improvement in service through breaking up long trains so as to obtain more frequent departures.

Based on Aircraft Research.

The construction of the railplane utilized all that has been learned in aircraft research in recent years in developing metals and shapes of high strength and little weight. The heat treated aluminum alloy of the shell was welded so that not a rivet nor a bolt is contained in the entire body frame.

The comfort of the passengers received attention as well as the efficiency and economy of operating the vehicle. The windows are sealed, set flush with the exterior of the body. The air is conditioned, heated, or cooled to meet weather conditions. Rubberized hair between the outer and inner skins of the shell acts as insulation against weather and against noise.

Resilient and quiet wheels are of the new type using live rubber in shear between the steel tread and the axle.

HOOVERS PLAN ANOTHER VISIT TO FAIR TODAY

Former President and Mrs. Hoover planned yesterday to remain in Chicago at least another day in order that they might visit A Century of Progress again. They were still indefinite as to the time of their departure, but at the home of Alexander Legge in Hinsdale, where they spent the week-end, it was said that the Hoovers probably would leave tomorrow.

An old friend, Curtis D. Wilbur, former secretary of the navy, called upon Mr. and Mrs. Hoover at the Legge home yesterday. Mr. Wilbur, whose home is in San Francisco, came here to visit his son, Paul Curtis Wilbur, in River Forest from the Hammer collection:

We cordially invite you to

There will be about 70 icons . . . many dating back to the 14th century. These icons are an important part of our Russian Imperial Exhibit . . . a collection of treasures from the royal imperial palaces compiled by Dr. Armand Hammer and his brother Victor.

Collectors will be particularly interested in the icons shown, truly the finest examples in America. The fact that there are very few outside of Russia and that their artistic value increases with the years makes each one an investment.

Icons were painted to stimulate religious worship. To make them prominent in the ceremonials they were painted gold and bright colors. Incense and candle smoke darkened them in time, and so they were re-painted. In time, layer upon layer was added and much of the original was lost.

Most of the icons shown have been restored to their original beauty by a very difficult process of patient cleaning.

HITLER REVIVES OLD TIME SPIRIT IN NEW GERMANY

Nation Cheers His War on Unemployment.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DANZIG, Free State of Danzig, Sept. 24.—The Germans have their old time spirit again. Whatever Hitlerism has or has not done for their reputation abroad, it has restored their self-respect and hope in the future. A year ago they were hopeless ashamed and defeated in spirit far more thoroughly than they were in the field. Today they are a proud people looking toward a glorious future.

This change is especially notable to one who has not been in Germany since the advent of Adolf Hitler to power and who knew it well before. A day spent in Berlin on the way to the Baltic states does not, of course, afford much opportunity for exhaustive study, but the new spirit was so apparent that it could not be missed. The very air of the people in the streets was different and their carriage and appearance have smartened tremendously.

Point to Hitler's Weakness.

I found the same spirit in conversation with old friends. Even liberal Germans, journalists, officials and professional men who would be expected to hate Hitlerism and all it stands for—many of them frankly expressed their horror of the acts of violence which accompanied the Nazis' early triumphs—were unanimous in declaring that Hitler had found what Germany needs and is supplying it.

Many agreed that his weakness was a lack of appreciation of the effect of certain incidents abroad and the failure to deal out exemplary punishment to those guilty of unauthorized violence. One man, editor of one of the greatest German papers, expressed seriously the opinion that "Hitler had been fashioned by God to save the German people."

From all that can be learned from these critics, who are not unfriendly, but who at the same time are not blinded by prejudice, Hitler is rapidly being sobered by responsibility and is more and more willing to take the advice of experts.

He is being urged by some of his friends to take the post of foreign minister himself for a time in order to learn more about Germany's foreign relations—an admittedly weak point in his regime. He also is being urged to make it plain not only to German but foreign opinion that the period of physical violence against dissenters from the regime is past, and that any renewal of violence will be met with stern punishment.

War on Unemployment.

A number of guilty persons have been punished by expulsion from the Nazi party, but while that is considered a serious matter in Germany, it does not impress foreign opinion.

The thing that seems to have impressed the liberal minded professional Germans the most is Hitler's war on unemployment. He has attacked it as a government attacks a plague in times of epidemic, and his friends claim he is succeeding beyond any one's hopes. The country has been partitioned into districts in each of which there is an unemployment director. Each district in turn is divided into smaller areas in charge of officials whose duty it is to get everybody to work.

These officials make personal inspections of their districts and nothing is too small or too large for them to tackle. They will suggest starting a new factory where conditions seem favorable and help in arranging its finances. They will knock at the door of a private villa, inquire how many servants are kept and if the number seems inadequate suggest the employer add more. If a garden looks neglected a gardener is suggested, and if the prospective employer says he cannot afford it he may be allowed to add the gardener or maid to his staff for little more than food and shelter.

Draft Idle for Work.

All over the country, too, one sees men at work on the land under direction of Nazi officials. These are the voluntary labor battalions. Able bodied men are drafted and are used for everything from saving the crops to drainage and irrigation. Flying from Berlin to Danzig, I saw dozens of such battalions. In the cities, the idle are put to work building parks, repaving streets and all kinds of work not requiring high technical skill.

There were sounds of gayety in the halls of the Germania club at 108 Germania place last night at an informal reception of the Master Brewers' Association of America, which was a preliminary to the opening of the thirtieth convention of the organization. The convention, the first of the body since national prohibition started, opens today. Sessions are to be held at the club and the Drake hotel for four days.

At the reception yesterday were members who had not seen each other since the last convention—the gloomy meeting of 1919 which rendered the organization inactive for more than a decade. The gathering was swelled by a host of new members, the crop of the return of beer. There are 2,000 members of the association.

The convention will be opened at the club this morning with addresses of welcome by Senator William H. Dieterich and Mayor Kelly. Frank P. Van de Westlaken of Chicago is chairman of the meeting and Marcus Magerlein of Chicago president of the association.

Death of Woman Found in Marsh Laid to Drowning

Physicians at the county morgue reported yesterday that drowning had caused the death of an unidentified woman about 26 years old, whose scantily clad body was found Saturday night in the marshes of Hyde lake, 124th street and Avenue O. It was first believed the woman had been killed by a blow on the head, but morgue attendants said they found no indication that she had been struck. An examination revealed water in the lungs. The body also bore evidence of an unsuccessful abortion.

SOVIET BALLOON FAILS 7 TIMES TO BEGIN SKY TRIP

Fog Blamed for Inability to Gain Height.

MOSCOW, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Red army's project of sending three men on an exploratory trip into the stratosphere was called off for today after repeated attempts from dawn until noon failed to lift their balloon into the air.

The silver-blue U. S. S. R.—boasted to be the largest in the world—could not gain height during seven trials, presumably because engineers miscalculated the amount of hydrogen needed to elevate the heavy gondola, which never got more than 20 feet from the ground.

Slides Across Field.

Low hanging clouds completely obscured the sun as the ground crew, in the presence of 1,000 officials and soldiers, time after time was ordered to release the anchoring ropes. But the balloon merely slid horizontally across the field before a strong west wind.

The envelope was filled to only one-seventh of its capacity, to allow for the rarefied atmosphere at high altitudes, and this had been considered sufficient to lift the vessel, with ordinary heat expansion of the sun.

After the first four unsuccessful attempts a halt was called when it was discovered a rope controlling a valve on the gas bag had been fouled.

Crowds Applauds.

Finally one of the three stratosphere balloonists climbed out of a porthole in the gondola and hoisted himself hand over hand on a rope a distance of over 60 feet. He succeeded in untangling the line as the crowd applauded.

After the man descended three more attempts were made to get off the ground, and then the crew—Georgio Prokofieff, 31 year old commander; Ernest Birnbaum, navigator, and Konstantin Gudonoff, constructor of the balloon, decided to postpone the flight.

Official explanations ascribed the outcome to the cloudy atmosphere and unusually thick moisture which greatly increased the weight of the envelope.

Fog Adds Weight.

Heavy fog, which came on the field in the early morning while the bag was being inflated, was estimated to have added 200 kilograms [nearly 500 pounds] to the normal weight.

A bad rip was made in the envelope afterward when the crew jerked the valve releasing hydrogen to deflate the balloon. It was believed this would cause a delay of several days before another attempt could be made.

Meanwhile another balloon of similar design was announced in readiness to take off Tuesday on a stratosphere flight under the sponsorship of the Civil Aviation society.

GERMAN BALLOON SKIMS SEA TO BRITAIN, CRASHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Drifting across the North sea barely above the waves, three German racing balloonists were rescued from their wrecked craft on a crowded beach today at Berwick-on-Tweed near the Scottish border. One of the balloon's occupants, a Dr. Dieckmann, received head injuries when he was hurled from the basket of the big bag against the sea wall.

The balloon left Duesseldorf Saturday with six other bags in a race. It drifted off Jutland northwest to the Scandinavian peninsula and then southwest to the English coast.

The occupants discarded all their possessions to keep the craft out of the sea. The plight of the ballon was first noticed by the American steamer Cold Harbor six miles from shore. A lifeboat was launched from the Berwick pier, but before it could reach the balloonists the bag collapsed and the basket fell into the sea. A strong inshore wind blew the bag inland dragging the terrified balloonists behind in the basket.

"Though they're just business trips, I always get a new thrill out of seeing our Capital. But the trip itself—that's the part I enjoy most. And for a good reason. I always take the Liberty Limited.

"Ideal schedule, of course. Leave right after lunch—2 o'clock Central Standard Time. And I'm in Washington at 9.00 sharp next morning Eastern Standard Time—ready for a full business day.

"But what I like is the way the Pennsylvania people do everything to make me comfortable. I've grown to know most of the porters—though I noticed they're equally polite and helpful to everybody. And the cooking is the best I've found on any train."

LUXURIOUS LOUNGE CARS... air-conditioned diner—private bedrooms with real beds—these are some of the features of The Liberty that appeal to comfort-lovers.

Plenty of business men feel the same way about the Liberty Limited. So why not try it on your next trip to Baltimore or the Capital?

If another schedule suits your plans better, there are 4 other fast trains to Washington every day: departing (Central Standard Time) at 10.30 A.M. (Manhattan Limited), 4.00 P.M. TAMMANY AID URGES PAY CUT TO SAVE CREDIT

New York Officials to Meet Bankers Again.

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Tammany Hall, which has stood adamant in the face of widespread demands for real municipal economy, appears to be weakening at the eleventh hour, with bankruptcy just around the corner.

The author of the movement for a cut in the city pay roll and in general expenses is Samuel Untermyer. He is one of the high moguls of Tammany.

Favors 10 Per Cent Reduction.

Turning aside for a moment from his tax program, which is about to drive the New York Stock exchange across the Hudson river into New Jersey, Mr. Untermyer came forward today with a proposal for a cut of 10 per cent in the wages of all city employés receiving more than $3,000 a year. He did not, however, suggest that the city's present list of 140,000 pay rollers be reduced.

The city has need of $72,000,000 to meet short term debt maturities and to take care of the city pay rolls for the next six weeks before tax pa-y ments roll in for the second half of the year.

A third conference with leading bankers is slated for tomorrow at the home of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman. A special session of the legislature may be necessary to remove mandatory salary restrictions, besides that the stock exchange is a large source of revenue for the state, its members paying in taxes about $30,000,000 a year into its coffers.

O'Brien for New Taxes.

Mayor John P. O'Brien favors new tax levies, not only against stock sales and brokerage receipts, but against investments of savings banks and insurance companies, water rents, and taxicab rides.

McKee and Mayor O'Brien met during the afternoon at the dedication of a memorial to the Bronx war dead. The crowd cheered McKee. The mayor seemed stunned, but greeted McKee affably, and the two sat side by side during the ceremonies.

The stock exchange has made some plans for quarters in the Center Market building in Newark. Work thereon was halted today by a temporary injunction. Newark officials tomorrow will ask the courts to hear an immediate plea for dissolution of the injunction, saying the present tenant, the City Center corporation, is $400,000 in arrears on rent and taxes.

Say McKee Will Run.

Meanwhile there were definite reports today that backers of the movement to run Joseph V. McKee for mayor, in opposition to Mayor O'Brien, the Tammaany nominee, and F. H. La Guardia, the Republican fusion candidate, have received assurances that McKee will make the race. It is probable that with him will be placed Frank J. Prial for controller, for his primary victory over a Tammany candidate, and Langdon W. Post, fusion candidate for president of the borough of Manhattan, and M. Maldwin Fertig, Democratic candidate for president of the board of aldermen. Postmaster General James A. Farley is taking the lead in the effort to draft McKee, and the assistance of President Roosevelt is fully implied.

NEW YORK RELIEF PROBLEM KEEPS GETTING BIGGER

Welfare Group Asks 10 Millions a Month.

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Asserting that "there has never been a more serious problem confronting the city than exists today" in the matter of relief for the idle, the welfare council of New York City, representing the city's major relief agencies, today made public a letter to Mayor John P. O'Brien giving a detailed picture of the situation and outlining a program for the next six months.

The council recommended that public expenditures for relief be increased from the present level of $6,500,000 a month to at least $10,000,000 a month. It is pointed out in the communication that more than half of this amount would be reimbursed out of state and federal funds so that the net cost to the city would be $5,000,000 a month or less.

Nearly Million Idle.

Estimating the number of idle in the city as close to 1,000,000, with little prospect of any material reduction in the coming winter, the welfare council warned the mayor and the board of estimate that "unless more nearly adequate funds can be made available" to meet the need, "the suffering of our people is likely to be more intense and widespread than at any time during the last four years of depression and unemployment."

The letter pointed out that "the inadequacy of the funds appropriated currently from month to month and the uncertainty of the appropriations over a period of months make it impossible for the relief administration to meet the overwhelming distress in the prompt and adequate way which the situation demands."

Accompanied by Data.

Embodied in the letter was an analysis of resources and facilities for relief now available with a detailed estimate of the amount needed during the next six months, requiring a total expenditure of $60,000,000 for 205,000 families. Included in the $60,000,000 figure are also those families who have been receiving relief from the emergency unemployment relief committee and the Red Cross, both of which will wind up their relief activities shortly because of exhaustion of resources.

An estimate of the number of families which now can be taken care of by the city as a result of the suspension of the activities of these and other private agencies is gleaned from the fact that during the present calendar year such agencies have provided for 42,500 families.

The welfare council emphasizes that because of the exhaustion of the resources of private agencies they "can no longer be responsible for assuming as substantial a part of the unemployment relief burden as in the past and that the burden must now fall upon public authority."

Analyzing the situation in public relief, the council's communication traced the decline in the amounts of relief granted from $39 a month per family in February to $23 a month in August.

John L. Gorichon, an arc welder living in Virden, Ill., drove down Michigan avenue yesterday in a coal burning automobile which he built in his spare time.

The chassis is taken from a four cylinder automobile. Gorichon took the motor, cut it in half, and converted it into a two cylinder steam engine. The boiler is of the flash coil type, in which water is converted to steam almost the instant it enters the coil.

He has driven the car 58 miles an hour, Gorichon said, but was afraid to open the throttle wide because at that speed the car began to tremble and sway on the road. He gets 35 miles to a bushel of soft coal. Police met him when he entered Chicago and told him he would have to burn coke to reduce the smoke unisance. That doesn't give him quite the same mileage, he said. He is staying with friends at 2237 South Springfield avenue.

WHY.. ONE SALES PLAN
always wins in CLEVELAND

SALES CONTROL is easiest—and sales success most certain—where complete consumer coverage is yours for the buying.

But there are only a few major markets where that kind of undivided coverage is available. That's why the Cleveland compact market, embracing a three million population, should be one of your most responsive markets this fall.

For this market is yours to command through a single newspaper. The Cleveland Plain Dealer dominates the entire Cleveland situation, both weekdays and on Sunday. It is the only morning newspaper covering the Cleveland area—a market that is essentially "morning minded" in all of its buying activities. And the Plain Dealer is now the only Sunday newspaper published in Cleveland—a city where the Sunday newspaper has always wielded tremendous influence.

If you were to spend an hour in any of Cleveland's leading mercantile establishments, you would obtain a clear-cut realization of what this Plain Dealer market control really means. For you would find customers from all over the Cleveland compact market purchasing the things they read and knew about from the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For the Plain Dealer reaches 41% of the families in the 143 cities and towns within the 75 mile radius of Cleveland. On Sunday, the Plain Dealer reaches practically every english reading family in Cleveland.

In these days of scrutinized sales costs, be sure you fully realize what it means to reach an entire market the size of Cleveland—without a single case of duplication—at a Sunday milline rate of only $1.47.

The sales significance of this almost unique Cleveland situation is not fully comprehended until all of the Cleveland facts are placed before you. Let us bring them now—by mail, wire, or in person.

SELL WITH . . . COLOR

The Plain Dealer has it. Brilliant, smashing color that catches the eye and sells the goods. Advertisers are turning to color to quickly secure distribution and to economically sell their product.

The Sunday Plain Dealer has a beautiful distinctive magazine section. This enables the advertiser to make full use of color at a time when the impetus of striking color advertising is the greatest force that can be applied to the actual creation of sales. Write for full information.

Every English reading family is reached in greater Cleveland, without duplication, by the Sunday Plain Dealer.

The cost of color is remarkably low, and excellent positions are still available. Reserve future space now. Sample pages and rates will be promptly sent to all advertisers seeking better results in Cleveland.

DRYS' WILD TALK WINS FOR WETS: JOHN THOMPSON

Asks Best Minds to Frame Sane Liquor Control.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In a sermon yesterday at the Chicago temple, Dr. John Thompson, the pastor, declared that "the intemperate speech on temperance" is principally responsible for the coming "flood of liquor" and its consequent setback of the progress of temperance forces during the last century.

But Dr. Thompson warned that this impending flood tide will be the cause of "a terrible rebound" from the present wet political dominance of the country and ultimately act in favor of dry ideals. It is recalled that Dr. Thompson was the first prominent Protestant clergyman of the city to predict a modification of the dry laws. He made this prediction at a dry mass-meeting three years ago.

Asks Sane Plan of Control.

The loop pastor appealed yesterday as he did three years ago, to sane wets and drys—the best minds of the country—to get together and consider the best ways of handling the impending situation to be created by prohibition repeal. He pointed to the loss of prestige of the wet campaigners if the open saloon is allowed to return, with the effects on coming political campaigns if the pledge against the return of the saloon is broken.

"The saloon killed itself, and it will kill itself again," declared Dr. Thompson, as he argued for sane consideration on the part of the victorious wets as he had previously appealed for sanity on the part of the victorious drys.

Among his brother pastors in the Methodist Episcopal church Dr. Thompson is noted for his liberal social outlook and for his opposition to all sorts of fanaticism. Recently when engaged in a Wisconsin debate with Dr. Clarence True Wilson of Washington, D. C., head of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, Dr. Thompson criticized the methods of Dr. Wilson's board.

Sees Ultimate Temperance Victory.

Dr. Thompson's sermon yesterday, however, left no doubt of his confidence in the ultimate victory of temperance. He made it clear, however, that the victory would not be gained by methods of legal repression, but "because all creative forces are on the side of temperance."

"Industry will again have to reckon with liquor," said Dr. Thompson. "Already the farmers of the country—particularly in the Illinois and Wisconsin milk shed—are feeling the effects of the return of beer through the falling demand for milk. Temperance will win in the long run through the courageous patience of the drys."

LONDON, Sept. 24. — Dorothea Baird, the original Trilby in Sir Herbert Tree's first production of the famous play in 1895, died at Broadstairs, Kent, today at the age of 60.

Old playgoers here still remember her triumph as Trilby, her musical voice, and the charm she brought to many rôles. She was married to H. B. Irving, the son of Sir Henry Irving, and went touring with her father-in-law as an understudy for Ellen Terry. She was the original Mrs. Darling in "Peter Pan" and played important Shakespearean parts.

Miss Baird once went to the United States with her husband in repertory. She left the stage in 1912 and devoted herself to infant welfare work. Her husband died in 1919. She leaves a son and a daughter, who is the wife of Sir Felix Brunner.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: After the Brawl Was Over

Makes Low Rate as Social Measure.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Seeking to encourage construction of fireproof buildings and to permit lower rentals, the public works administration determined today to extend to thirty-five years the amortization period of housing loans in cases where slum areas have to be destroyed before fireproof buildings can be erected.

Ordinary brick wall and wooden floor buildings will continue to be amortized over a period of twenty-five years.

Loans at Lower Rates.

The rate of interest of slum cleared, fireproof buildings, it was announced, will be reduced to 1.51 per cent, beginning two years after the loan is granted. It was made plain that the longer period of amortization and the lower rate of interest was a concession "through which it is hoped to increase the construction of fireproof housing as a means of moving workmen from relief rolls to pay rolls, thus increasing purchasing power and aiding recovery."

Robert D. Kohn, director of housing, said of the changed regulations:

"The extension of the amortization period in particular instances will make it easier for the local limited dividend corporations whose projects include clearance of slum areas before fireproof construction is started.

Would Equalize Costs.

"The difference in the amortization rate per year will assist in making up differences in construction costs and the balance of the cost will be covered, in large part, by the lower maintenance costs of a fireproof project.

"On ordinary brick wall and wooden floor construction we have provided for a loan period of 25 years. These loans require 24 annual payments at 2.56 per cent a year. The first year is one of construction and no amortization is paid.

Other Conditions Unchanged.

"In many cases where fireproof construction is to be used there are no special considerations which mark the project out for particular concessions. Here the original rule will still pertain that the amortization be over a thirty year period. The loan will be amortized in twenty-eight annual payments at the rate of 2 per cent a year. Because the building is fireproof no amortization need be paid during the year of construction and a year is allowed in addition to permit the houses to be rented and a small reserve to be built up against contingencies."

NEBRASKAN ARRESTED.

ATTRIBUTE BOOM IN ACETYLENE TO RETURN OF BEER

The legalization of beer, with speedy rehabilitation of old breweries and a new and great market for metal containers, was largely credited yesterday for the business recovery experienced by the International Acetylene association. Delegates are assembling in the Congress hotel for the 34th annual convention, starting tomorrow.

Other reasons for the pickup pointed out were the increased use of processes for welding railroad rails to eliminate the monotonous click-click of wheel on rails, and new uses of welding in the manufacture of refrigerating equipment. Automotive and airplane manufactures also have given employment during recent months.

The Morehead medal will be awarded during the convention, this year to the Rev. Julius Arthur Nieuwland, professor of organic chemistry at Notre Dame university. The Rev. Father Nieuwland will be honored for outstanding contributions to acetylene processes and experimentations.

Most of the 40,000 blacksmiths in the United States now do electric welding, and many are members of the acetylene association, it was said, as 300 members of the Master Horseshoers and Blacksmiths National Protective association met for a convention in Hotel La Salle. The convention opens today.

Good Morning!

"Shanghai Madness" is an action packed little drama that hands you Spencer Tracy as you like him.

Fine, sincere, forthright portrayer of men of backbone and dogged determination, that he is, the rôle of Lieut. Pat Jackson is smartly tailored to his measure.

Jackson, a United States naval officer, disobeys orders in an emergency. Chinese communists fire on the flag of the ship of whose guns he's in command, killing two of his men. There's no opportunity for him to get further orders. He must use his own judgment. He fires back. Court-martial, and dismissal from the navy result.

Embittered—and who shall blame him!—for he has given fourteen years of loyal service to his country and his record is without blemish—he combs the shipyards of Shanghai, looking for a job—any job. Everywhere he is turned down. He never goes near the Navy club, though he realizes that, to most of the men he knows, he's a hero and a martyr.

During his wanderings he runs into an American girl in distress. She's the daughter of a prominent man located in Shanghai and this man is an implacable enemy.

The romance of Wildeth and Pat is a stormy one in which the girl and not the man, does the pursuing.

Pat's kindness to the dying son of a Chinese merchant, engaged in shipping munitions to anti-communists, brings Pat a berth—and a chance to render services to his country and his sweetheart that result in—what do you suppose?

The action moves swiftly. Miss Wray proves pleasing. A match, this winsome, determined American girl for the tough and sterling chap she's set on marrying. You know the two will either be completely happy or completely miserable together. With such natures there could be no half measures.

Cast playing, direction, photography and dialogue are commendable. The story holds the interest.

Chicago Youth Gets Place in Cornell Tour

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Orson Welles, a young Chicagoan who is better known as an actor in Ireland than in his native land, has been engaged by Katharine Cornell for three important rôles in the repertory of plays that she will take on tour this year. He will appear as Mercutio in "Romeo and Juliet," Marchbanks in Shaw's "Candida," and Octavius in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

Welles, who passes as twenty-one years of age but is only eighten, has given proof that he is something of a prodigy. Two years ago, after his graduation from a preparatory school, he went to Ireland on a sketching tour, and after reaching Dublin tried his hand at scene designs for the Gate theater, rival of the Abbey.

The stage director, finding that the young American already had considerable training as an amateur actor, assigned him to a part, and he scored an immediate success. He was then given several important character rôles, playing old men at the age of sixteen, and the dramatic critics of the Irish capital hailed him as an apparent genius.

Welles' rôles with the Gate theater were Carl Alexander in "Jew Suss," the Prince in "Death Takes a Holiday," and Lord Porteou in W. Somerset Maugham's "The Circle." When he appears with Miss Cornell as the boyish poet in "Candida" he will be acting a character of his own age for the first time on the professional stage.

Since returning to this country he has written a drama dealing with the career of John Brown, called "Marching Song," which the Gate theater has accepted, and a textbook for little theater groups dealing with the staging of three Shakespeare plays.

Ina Claire returned from a summer in Europe last Saturday and began to prepare for a tour in "Biography," in which she had a long run in New York last season under the management of the Theater Guild. Her company will begin its second season in Boston next Monday and will reach Chicago later in the fall. Others in the company will be Earle Larimore, Arnold Korff, Jay Fassett, and Charles Richman.

J., in 1871, is widely known in scholastic and secondary school circles.

New Laurels Heaped Upon Opera Group

Audience Cheers Superb Singing in 'Aida.'

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The week-end of the San Carlo Grand Opera company at the Auditorium added a few new laurels to its crown, and this though past performances had made such an addition seemingly improbable. Just the same, it was done.

"Aïda" last night was the cause of a little uncontrolled if pardonable excitement. Here was a cast—incidentally here was a triumph scene—that you would go a considerable distance to hear bettered. If it had not been for their performances in "Il Trovatore" the night before, one would be inclined to say that Bianca Saroya as Aïda and Aroldo Lindi as Radames had just about reached the tops of their artistic careers. They were superb. The only trouble was that they had also been superb twenty-four hours before. But "Aïda" was improved by their presence.

The cast also contained two extraordinary young bassos, two with whom the future of opera in America will probably have some intimate connection. Harold Kravitt sang the part of Ramfis and Norman Cordon that of the king of Egypt. Perhaps Mr. Kravitt was one up on Mr. Cordon because he, too, had served the night before, singing Ferrando in "Il Trovatore." But in "Aïda" here were two performances that for sheer beauty of singing went into the preferred list.

There was also a new and rather extraordinary Amonasro. It was done by Chief Caupolican.

One is told that Caupolican is a Chilean Indian. Regardless of race, he is an artist of great ability. Of all the Amonasros that have paraded their talents in Chicago during the last quarter century, he puts more dramatic tension in the part than any of them, and he has a voice to convey all his convictions of the rôle. He is going to appear in several other operas this week, and it is good news for the audiences that applaud the San Carlo performances. Incidentally, they were moving extra chairs into the boxes last night to take care of an extra pressure of attendance.

Marie Von Essen, formerly Mary Kent, sang the part of Amneris. She is an excellent artist, lacking only in weight of voice to measure up to the others.

The Saturday afternoon offering was "Hansel and Gretel," the only work thus far offered in English. Bernice Schalker and Ethel Fox were the two children, two adorable youngsters for the drama, two first class singers for the music. They were aided by Alice Homer, Marion Selee, Marie Zara, and Stefand Russo to make as agreeable a performance of the folk tale opera as one would hear in a long journey through opera houses.

The "Il Trovatore" of the evening presented two more great artists in addition to those already named, Ina Bourskaya as Azucena and Mario Valle as the Count Di Luna. In saying that they were fully up to their associates, one grants them only hasty but by no means illiberal positions in an extremely interesting operatic organization.

De Pauw Graduate Will Enter Salvation Army Training Class

More than sixty students, over half of them young women, will enroll in the William Booth Memorial college, 700 Brompton avenue, the Salvation Army's training school for future officers, when the 1934 course opens Oct. 1.

Among the cadets will be William Le Roy Kountz, 23 years old, De Pauw university graduate and Rector scholarship winner. He has been a Salvation Army soldier since he was nine years old, when he first joined the army's band in Terre Haute, Ind., where he was born. Upon his arrival in Chicago he was met by Commissioner Samuel Brengle, D. D., an international revivalist of the army and himself a graduate of De Pauw 50 years ago. Mr. Brengle has been here attending the recent meeting of the world conference for promotion of holiness at the Chicago Evangelistic institute.

The cadets will be given classes in Bible studies, evangelistic and social work, and a thorough grounding in the principles of the Army.

Society Arranges Entertainment for Visit of Marconis to the Fair

Italian Scientist and Wife Will Arrive Next Sunday for Three Days; Reception by Italy America Group.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE socialites who are entertaining and meeting the French ambassador, M. Andre de Laboulaye, and his charming wife are having a chance to show their proficiency in French, although both the De Laboulayes speak excellent English. They arrived yesterday and will remain until tomorrow. But next Sunday and Monday and Tuesday Italian will be spoken by those who know it and who have the pleasure of meeting the Marchese and Marchesa Guglielmo Marconi. The distinguished Italian scientist and his wife will arrive Sunday morning and their three day stay will be a busy one for many things have been planned for them and of course he is to be occupied greatly at the Fair, especially with some spectacular radio experiments, and with the American Legion convention.

After attending the Holy Name cathedral the marchese and marchesa will be given a luncheon at the Casino by the Italy America society which was host to Gen. Balbo and his eagles at a ball, the most formal and elegant party given for them during their brief visit to Chicago in July. Miss Clara Lake is arranging the luncheon.

That afternoon the Marconis will see Chicago's famous skyline from the deck of Eugene McDonald's Mizpah and that night they will be the guests at a banquet to be given by Italians of the city in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel. More than 1,000 will attend the affair and there will be all sorts of unusual entertainment that is being planned by "Andy" Rebori.

Monday morning the marchese will be busy down at the Stadium at the opening of the American Legion convention where both he and Nicola Samsamelli, national commander of the Italian Legion, will speak. There is to be a luncheon that day for the marchese at the Blackstone hotel given by the Museum of Science and Industry of the Rosenwald foundation after which the Italian scientist will be taken on a tour of the museum.

Then to the Fair where the experiments will be conducted in the Hall of Science. That night he will attend the American Legion banquet and the next morning he will watch the Legionnaires parade.

State Hostesses to Give Reception.

The hostess committee of the Illinois commission to A Century of Progress and the Dante Alighieri society are combining to give a reception and buffet luncheon for the Marconis on Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 12:30 o'clock in the Illinois Host house, and that afternoon there will be a reception in the Italian pavilion at the Fair. President Rufus Dawes is giving a dinner for Marconi that night in the Administration building and Mrs. Dawes probably will entertain for the marchesa.

Enclosed in the envelope with the Italy America society's luncheon was an interesting notice about the welcome committees that have been formed to extend hospitality to members of the society when they visit Italy. The Roman committee is headed by Countess Piella Giustiniani Bandini, chairman, and Marchesa Dusmet de Smours, vice chairman, and arrangements have been completed so that members who visit Rome will be given the opportunity through these and other prominent Italians to be introduced to Italian society and to visit private villas and gardens of historical interest.

A similar committee exists in Palermo and other centers of Italy. A member of the Italy-America society automatically becomes a member of the Associazione Italy Americana in Rome and the British institute of Florence.

Parties Today for French Visitors.

Today at noon Mrs. Hayden B. Harris is entertaining at luncheon in the trustees' lounge at the Fair for Mme. Andre de Laboulaye while Mr. Harris and other members of the Franco-American society are giving a luncheon at the Chicago club for M. de Laboulaye, the French ambassador. Tonight the Chauncey McCormicks are giving a dinner for the

THIS, then, my children, is the most engaging story about the King of England you perhaps have ever heard. It concerns a famous yacht designer and racer who, during the season at Cowes, was invited to dine aboard the royal yacht. It turned out to be a pretty stuffy evening, and he was pleased when it turned out to be an early one. As he was about to leave the yacht he remembered his topcoat, which he had left below, and dashed back to get it himself. As he went down the companionway he saw, at the farther end of the passage, the king prancing along with a joyous la-da-de-dah step, hands upraised in thanksgiving. . . . The king, too, was glad a stuffy evening had ended early.

Release—Mangoes—Suicide—Encounter—Expo.

THE same delightful soul who told about the king and the yachtsman tells a story in which Queen Mary figures. The other principal is the American general who was in charge of the American forces in Great Britain during the world war. (It was his aid who told the story.) We must preface it by saying that the king and queen are said to be very fond of mangoes, which are sent to them from India, and of which they alone eat, even when there are guests at luncheon or dinner. (Well, that's the way the story goes, anyhow.) The general was a guest of the king and queen at luncheon on an occasion or two during his stay in England. When he returned home after the war his three sisters gathered around him to hear about his experiences.

"And what was the most thrilling experience you had overseas?" asked one sister, settling back to hear a vivid description of front line tragedy and drama.

IT HAPPENED early last week, and it is not to laugh. A despondent pharmacist tried to commit suicide and strangely enough, in spite of his knowledge of poisons and drugs, was unsuccessful. First he swallowed 15 grains of strychnine sulphate and, to make sure, followed it with a chaser of 30 grains of morphine sulphate. The doses of each ordinarily would kill quickly. (The average dose of strychnine is 1-20 to 1-30 of a grain and of morphine ¼ to ⅛ of a grain.) He was rushed to St. Anthony's hospital, where he recovered quickly. It turned out that morphine is an antidote for strychnine poisoning and vice versa, and the internes had only to wait to see which effect would wear off first to keep everything under control. The pharmacist, poor devil, seeing his suicidal plans thwarted, lunged at the holster of the policeman who brought him in. But the internes quickly restrained him, for they were fresh out of antidote for that particular lead poisoning.

OF-ALL-THINGS Corner.—Mrs. Lucia Harvey, 79 year old great-grandmother who writes a daily column for a Miami paper, and who is covering the Fair for her paper, encountered relatives she had not seen for twenty years on top of the Sky Ride the other day. And is the moral you draw "Stay out of the Sky Ride"?

THINGS-ARE-MIXED-UP-NOWADAYS Department.—Rufus Dawes, thinking of the international exposition which Belgium is planning two years hence, remarked the other day to George Potie, general factotum of the Belgian village:

"Well, Mr. Potie, I suppose I'll be seeing you in 1935 at the Brussels Fair?"

"Yes," said Mr. Potie, "I'll be there with 'The Sidewalks of New York.'"

BLOOD MONEY

SYNOPSIS.

Uncas Cresap and his Chinese servant are found dead in the upper room of Cresap's penthouse on Kettle pond, near the eastern end of Long island. Gilbert Jonathan Redd, Cresap's stepbrother, keeps a written private account of developments in the case. A blow on the forehead from a slender, sharp edged implement killed Cresap. The cause of Wong Gee's death is not apparent. Capt. Bray, a special investigator, is an old friend of Redd's. Redd is a former police reporter. Florence Dane, Cresap's niece and an orphan, lived with him. Redd was fond of Florence's mother. He bought a home near Cresap's in order to protect Florence. Cresap made his fortune in the far east. Redd freely admits to Bray his hatred of Cresap, who was a drunkard and a débauché. There seemed to be some secret bond between Cresap and two of his servants, the Chinaman and a dwarf, Sabino. Cresap disapproved of Florence's moneyless sweetheart, Gregory Thorpe. Thorpe disappears. He is found in a hospital, victim of a hitch hiker, before Cresap's death, which exonerates him. Florence takes a room in the hospital. She leaves there and can't be found. Sabino also disappears. Bray believes that they are seeking a common rendezvous. Florence is found and brought back in fetters to the jail in Riverhead, Long island. Bray threatens to persecute Florence and to have her indicted for murder in the first degree.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

A LAST WILL.

Pat Bray grinned a shamefaced grin. But still and yet there was chilled malice and a savage ruthlessness behind the grin.

"Well, Gilly," he said, "we all like to have our little jokes. What's an old pal good for anyhow if once in a blue moon you can't kid him a bit? But I'll tell you what's no joke." His voice grew thick and hefty with the weight of the fierce menace that was in it: "I've got that girl that you're so fond of right where I want her. I've got her right here!"—and he made one knuckly red hand into a knotted clubhead and ferociously shook it in my face while a handful of passers-by halted to watch us from a distance. "What she's gone through with already will be but a taste of what I'll give her. She'll stay where she is until she's been indicted and that'll be no later than next Monday. And every hour, starting from now, she'll know what it is to have no truces and no rests. Once she's indicted—and as accessory to murder in the first degree, there's no granting of bail, as you'll remember—you'll see me shoot the whole works. She'll be arraigned and she'll be pedigreed. She'll be trundled up to town to be finger-printed and measured and mugged. She'll be introduced to the inside of the Rogues' gallery and she'll step forth by her lone self before a headquarters line up—and you know what that's like? I'll teach my fair lady she can't play horse with Pat Bray and get away with it. And at the end she'll come through."

It required an effort of the will, but somehow I managed to keep my clutching hands off his throat.

"In God's name, man," I cried out, "what besides a cowardly revenge do you want to get from her that you can't get somewhere else?"

"I want she should tell me what it was or who it was she saw just before she ran out of that house that night. And what she saw just after she ran out? And who it was she either followed after or else ran away from until she got her wicked little feet all muddied up? And I want she should tell me who she colleagued with before that night and after that night? And most of all, I want she should tell me what it is that Sabino—the dam, slimy little eel!—has known all along? She'll tell—I've got her behind the eight ball."

"She can't tell—she doesn't know herself what Sabino knows—if he does know anything. Do you think just because she let herself be lured off on a wild goose chase that——"

He kept on as though he had not heard me:

"I want her to tell me for why and for what Sabino tolled her away from her sweetheart's side and sent her off to the border of the nation?"

"She doesn't know what his purpose in that move was. All she knows is that he sent her a telegram with a command in it which she deemed it best to obey——"

"Save your wind. Haven't I that same telegram, or a true copy of it, in my pocket? And why should she go where he ordered unless she was so afraid of him and what he might spill, that she didn't dare do anything else?"

"I'll tell you something more she'll tell!" He thrust his face into mine and from his quickened passion his face was all ablaze and twitching. "She'll tell where he is!"

"Where who is?"

"Where Sabino is."

"She can't. I tell you, she can't do that."

"She'll tell me where I can put my hand on him or from now on, so help me God, I'll show her no more mercy than I'd show a cornered rat!"

A decision solidified inside me. All day it had been forming, taking shape, taking substance. Now, on an instant, it hardened from flux to basalt.

"Bray," I said, very slowly and very quietly, "will you wait until tomorrow morning? Won't you wait until tomorrow morning? Promise me you'll leave that broken, tired out little thing alone for this one night? She's holding herself up now on her nerve and nothing else. Promise me you'll not go near her yourself nor suffer her to be harassed or tormented in any fashion by any one between now and tomorrow morning? If you'll do that, I promise you on my sacred word of honor that tomorrow morning Sabino, if you still want to put your hands on him, will be yours for the asking."

"And for why should I hold off just on your say-so?" he asked.

"For that poor child's sake," I said. "And if you'll let me put it that way, for my sake, for old acquaintance's sake, for the sake of the old times when we were friends."

"Wait a bit, wait a bit right there," he commanded, and on his face was a curious look. "In my business, friendship is a luxury I can't always afford. Mind you this now, Gilbert Redd, I haven't told you nor any other all that I think maybe I know about this here job. I may have shown you the outsides of what I've been thinking, but I've shown nobody the insides of it all. And furthermore, I'm telling you that once I make up my mind where I'm at, a friend more or less means nothing in my young life."

"Then for your own sake do what I'm asking of you." Desperately I was firing the last shot in my locker. "For the sake of your reputation as a smart cop. To save your face, that's why. To save you from the possibility of being made the laughing stock of the whole land, that's why."

"I'll gamble one last chance on you, Gilly," he said gruffly.

"You've said it," I told him. "One last chance it is. For tonight you'll leave Florence in peace—or such peace as she can get in a cell?"

"I will that."

"And you'll be at my house tomorrow morning at eight to get what you're asking for?"

"At eight sharp I'll be seeing you. And here's my hand on it, Gilly."

So I shook hands with Bray and gave him a farewell slap on his shoulder, and I hired a car and in it I drove home, but stopped for a little while at Lawyer Rand's house in the village; and here at home is where I am now and where for the better part of the last two hours I have been humped at the typewriter, catching up with my record for this ninth day of this chronicle.

What I stopped by Rand's house for was to have him draw for me a new will. That didn't take long. It was very short, and when it had been drawn in duplicate I signed both copies of it, and his wife and his wife's sister signed as witnesses, and I left the carbon in Rand's keeping and brought the original on with me.

By this new will of mine I bestow upon Abe Dorset and Mrs. Bevil modest gratuities in token of faithful service, and I create a small fund for the proper care of my Irish wolfhounds, that is, unless my executors should fail to find for them owners who will be decently kind to them, and I offer as a permanent exhibit my collection of Indian relics to the Heye foundation. But these provisions likewise appeared in the earlier will which I have just renounced and annulled.

N. Shore Sees Indians Act in Own Pageant

BY KATHLEEN MLAUGHLIN.

In a superb outdoor setting on Hawthorn Farms, formerly the Insull estate at Libertyville, a cast of fifty Indians yesterday enacted the drama of their race's history antedating even the arrival of Columbus. An audience of 1,000, including many prominent families of Chicago and the north shore, witnessed the production from chairs arranged around a lily pool, beyond which the stage had been erected.

Princess Tsianina of Chicago, full blooded Cherokee-Creek mezzo-soprano, was at once the prima donna of the company and its moving spirit. In collaboration with Mrs. George Cress, she wrote the pageant, and then arranged the musical setting for the various scenes, incorporating selections from the opera "Shanewis," which was composed by Charles Wakefield Cadman for Tsianina, and is the story of her life. Other members of the cast were brought from their homes in northern Wisconsin, from Taos, New Mexico, and from Oklahoma to participate.

The performance was given as a benefit for the north shore auxiliary of the Chicago Maternity Center, of which Mrs. Ralph E. Heilman is president. Mrs. Earl Cooper was hostess for the afternoon and Mrs. Philip H. Smith was in charge of tickets.

Society Plans Reception for Marconi Visit

Italian Scientist Arrives Next Sunday.

Later the ambassador will visit the collection of French paintings which forms such a large part of A Century of Progress at the Art institute. M. de Laboulaye came to Chicago especially to recognize officially on behalf of his government the exhibit which was assembled under the chairmanship of Chauncey McCormick.

The Alliance Francaise, which yesterday entertained the French ambassador and Mme. de Laboulaye, is to entertain another distinguished Frenchman in several weeks, Paul Le Roy, an eminent architect who is coming to study the architecture at the Fair. M. Le Roy undoubtedly will be entertained extensively during his visit. He is a widower about 35 years old and is said to be very charming and erudite.

Entertain for Dorothy Marshall.

From now until the day of their wedding—next Saturday—Miss Dorothy Marshall and her fiancé, Richard W. Simmons, will not have a moment of spare time because of all the parties that are being given for them. The entertainment started last week when the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Brashears, Otto and William Madlener, James Pope, and Joseph C. Belden Jr., were among the hosts to this attractive pair.

Tomorrow night the bride's sister and brother, Mrs. Richard H. Fleming and Benjamin H. Marshall Jr., are giving a dinner for the couple. Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Beuttas have invited about thirty young people to dinner in their apartment and Thursday night the Wilbur Macfarlanes will be host and hostess to Miss Marshall and Mr. Simmons. Friday night the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, will give the bridal dinner in their Willmette studio, where the wedding will take place the next afternoon.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. George W. Simmons, and his sisters, Miss Virginia and Miss Georgia Simmons, are arriving today and will occupy the Marshalls' apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive while they are in town.

The women who run the Trading Post Rummage shop in Lake Forest for the benefit of the Alice Home hospital are hoping their friends didn't contribute all their "white elephants" to the rummage tea at Mrs. Clyde M. Carr's last Friday, for they are having a similar tea on Thursday of this week from 4 to 6 o'clock at Mrs. Walter S. Brewster's residence on North Green Bay road in Lake Forest.

The "white elephants" taken to Mrs. Carr's tea were to replenish the stock of the Rummage shop conducted in town for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

Betty Dixon Guest at Cocktail Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Zaring and George W. Dixon Jr. are entertaining for Mrs. Zaring's and Mr. Dixon's cousin, Miss Betty Dixon, and Parker Bryant this evening at a cocktail party from 5 until 7 o'clock in their home on Lake Shore drive. Miss Dixon and Mr. Bryant are to be married quietly tomorrow.

Members of the Vocational Society for Shut-ins will have luncheon Thursday at 1 o'clock at the Women's Athletic club to discuss the raising of money for their charity. Miss Grace Denton, who runs the Town hall lecture series, has given the society two hundred and fifty tickets to sell, and from these tickets a percentage will go to the Shut-ins.

As these lectures are among the most popular of their kind in Chicago, the society should not have much difficulty in disposing of the seats. The ticket sales committee will be formed at the luncheon Thursday.

Mrs. Freeman Hinckley and her daughters, Eleanor and Barbara McClurg, arrived yesterday to occupy their apartment at 209 Lake Shore drive for several months, which will be good news to their many friends here who always are sorry when they are occupying their Boston home. Mr. Hinckley plans to join his family shortly for a visit to the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Williams are once again in this part of the country. They arrived late Friday night in Lake Forest and are visiting Mr. Williams' brother and sister-in-law, the Lawrence Williamses. The Wheeler Williamses will be here a very short time, leaving probably tomorrow or next day for either California or New York.

Miss Priscilla Pardridge in Play.

The Albert J. Pardridge's daughter, Miss Priscilla Pardridge, is arriving this morning from New York, and under the name of Eden Gray is acting in a play opening tonight. While here Miss Pardridge will probably stay in Wheaton with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan B. Blydenburgh of Smithtown, Long Island, have been in town a week visiting Mrs. Blydenburgh's brother and sister-in-law, the Arthur B. Slades. The Blydenburghs will be here until the middle or the end of the week.

Mrs. Leeds Mitchell has gone to New York with her daughter, Miss Margaret Mitchell, to have a whirl of two or three days before Miss Mitchell returns to her studies at Dobbs Ferry.

Mrs. Fred W. Fairman of Winnetka has returned from a stay of several weeks at the L Bar T ranch in Montana, but Mr. Fairman and their daughter, Miss Joy Fairman, remained west to go on a big game hunt. They will be at home by Sunday. Fred W. Fairman Jr., who spent a short time at the ranch, is leaving Saturday for Yale to resume his studies.

Mme. Giovanni Cardelli, the former Ruth Lamson, is back in her apartment on Lake Shore drive and plans to remain in Chicago for at least a month. She is sailing around Nov. 1 from New York for Paris, where she will spend the next two months with her son and his wife in their apartment there. The first of the year will find Mme. Cardelli again in Chicago.

Paris Sends Fur Stoles Cavorting on Winter Coats

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Winter coats this year are subject to hundreds of different spicings in the way of goings-on around the top and the bottom. The first, and most used recipe is for a very slim coat that is either pinched or belted amidships. Augustabernard uses this to turn out some of the best coats you've ever seen. That gal makes clothes that cause the mouth to water, and she does it by never attempting the sensational, zoo kind of thing.

This fall Mme. Augustabernard is putting fur stoles on her very narrow cloth coats. These stoles are sometimes just one long fox band, cavorting down to the bottom from the left side of the neck, and then again they are double, like the one in our sketch, and made of Persian lamb. The stole herewith makes a big narrow X with the center at the waistline. The bottom of the coat gaps and lets you see a bit of the dress skirt. The top is pulled high around the neck to act as a collar.

Winged sleeves are another Augustabernard sleeve feature, and you can see them on the model shown here. They are plain sleeves with the back half, from elbows to armholes, gathered and pushed back to look like wings. All the fullness is behind the actual arm.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FORDNEY IN FRANCE.

Removing the wooden top which covered the well, Prof. Fordney noticed that the moss growing on one of the large stones had recently been rubbed away—probably in the last day or two.

"Mon Dieu!" gasped Inspector Charon of the French Surete. In the rays of Fordney's powerful flashlight both men saw the body of a young girl lying at the bottom of the dry well. Her clothing answered the description given the Surete as that of Valeria Goule, who had mysteriously disappeared two days before after getting off a motor bus on a country road about five miles out of the city of Paris. The driver said he had seen the girl walk toward a deserted farmhouse.

After the body had been removed to the morgue and Fordney had investigated many clews that proved worthless, he learned, however, that the farm on which they had found the girl was the place of her birth; that she had been working in the city as a waitress, but that she had been unemployed for the last six months.

"Undoubtedly she was despondent over something. From what we have learned she was an exhibitionist; therefore she decided to end her days where she began them," remarked Charon after Fordney told him what he had learned. "Suicide—'the grand gesture'—voila!"

"In spite of being unemployed for six months the girl was very well dressed," the professor commented. "You, my friend, didn't examine those flat rocks around the well as I did. She was murdered!"

WHY DID HE BELIEVE SO?

[See solution on page 29.]

Some like 'em red, some like 'em blue, and some even like them green, yellow, purple, and purplish-black when the matter of discussion is fresh fat plums, and the manner of introduction is through plum jelly or marmalade, plum relish, jam, conserve, or nippy butter.

So choose your pick, for whatever your choice it's likely sitting in the fruit market these days, hoping you won't let this month get away from you before you do something about plum specials both for now and for next winter.

These market plums may vary in size all the way from the small wild plum to the large cultivated Japanese fellow. Usually we buy fancy plums by the dozen or by a basket which holds about three quarts. Otherwise plums are sold by the pound with about fifteen medium sized ones to each pound.

Any plum which has a good rich color, is acid, and is quite high in pectin will be the ticket for jams, butters, and jellies. The small Damson plums are deliciously flavored and, although they take more minutes to prepare, are still the most popular for all sorts of preserving. Usually we choose to keep the lighter, blander plums for eating and concentrate on the dark, richly colored ones for preserving.

The kitcheneer next gets into the argument of ripe versus unripe plums. The answer is that if the "long boil" method is used slightly unripe plums are best because they must supply enough natural pectin to help in the jellying or jamming. But if the new "short boil" method is used and liquid pectin of the commercial kind is added, the fully ripe plum, taken at the height of its flavor and goodness, is the correct solution.

So first let's have a jelly:

RIPE PLUM JELLY.

1 quart plum juice
7½ cups sugar
½ bottle liquid pectin

Crush carefully four pounds of ripe plums. Leaving the skins and pits in, add one cup of water and simmer for fifteen minutes. Squeeze through a jelly bag. Measure the sugar and juice into a saucepan and bring to a brisk boil. Stir in the pectin, bring again to a full boil, and boil for just one-half minute. Remove from the burner, skim, and pour at once into clean glasses. Seal immediately with melted paraffin.

Or if you would use the pectin in the plums themselves, and hunger already for a tangy companion for next winter's meat dinners, make it:

APPLE AND PLUM BUTTER

Wash and cut up tart apples and plums, leaving in pits, cores, and skins. You will want twice as many cups of apples as of plums. Cook them with a very little water until tender. Force the pulp through a sieve and to each cup of pulp add one-half cup of sugar. Cook slowly with frequent stirrings until thick and clear. Pour into sterilized glasses and seal with melted paraffin.

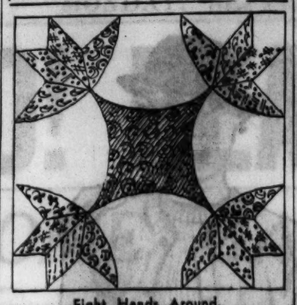
Quilt Symbolizes Joining of Hands in Old Quadrille



Eight Hands Around.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Here we have a pattern that found its inspiration in the old-fashioned quadrille danced a generation or so ago. It is an interesting block, has fascinating background, and a popular appeal to the thrifty quiltmaker, who will find that the pattern enables her to use all of those scraps of prints she has been saving. Each little piece is cut of a different print.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send 5 cents in stamps and coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn.

Tweeds Claim Attention of Busy Shopper

BY RHEA SEEGER.

English wool, English patterns, tweeds that smell of peat smoke and foggy mornings and simply shriek of casual British swank, designed, cut, and made in America for slim, straight American shoppers, with price tags that will practically render you speechless for days, are what you will find in new collections featured especially for women. You will l e them immensely . . . they are among the best looking tweeds and woolens that have been unpacked in weeks.

Some one has been on the job and planned suits and ensembles that can be replenished from season to season. For instance, you will find a tobacco brown wool suit of two pieces; maybe you'll buy it now, and wander in next spring and buy a long topcoat that exactly matches the two pieces of the suit. Or you will unbelievably find a clever checked wool blouse with long sleeves, and a tucked backline made of harmonizing shades that will accent the brown of the original suit. If this isn't a perfect find, then nothing will startle your soul!

The collections of separate topcoats are knockouts . . . one stunning affair of deep brown beige and old gold check in the famous "hound's tooth check" will lure the last of your allowance from the deepest, darkest hideaway. You can choose from two models, one loose raglan sleeved model with an impeccably tailored backline, just as faultlessly tailored collar, pockets and sleeves but minus a belt. It is just the coat to slip over a suit for extra warmth.

The other coat is belted, has raglan sleeves, deftly concealed but capacious pockets and a collar that is a miracle of fitted perfection.

If you eschew checks and want something quiet, smart, and different, you will probably buy the slate blue gray or stone gray small checks, or the super smooth camel's hair models . . . no matter what you buy you will be owning the smartest, newest, swankiest tweed than can be found!

Uses Colors Where Others Use Words

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

Literature takes a hand in the exhibition of water colors by John Pratt in the Increase Robinson gallery, Michigan Square building. Literature with a capital L under the guidance of Thornton Wilder, who writes the preface to the show, steps into the limelight and keeps it even in view of the fact that the exhibit is pictures, for the pictures repeatedly resemble illustrations and startle one into searching for quotations to fit them.

John Pratt is a young man, a graduate of the University of Chicago, and one whose only training in art has been the superficial instruction offered by the university. He paints for his amusement. Instead of weaving his ideas into verse or fiction he dashes off in delightful colors fantasies of fascinating caliber. His titles read like best sellers: "Death Over the Telephone"; "Four White Horses in Heaven"; "The Glory of the Air Age." Then from the title you envision a theme and letting your eye run to his water color find that he hits the nail on the head every time.

Sober criticism is out of place in an exhibit like this. One can find pleasure in the vividness of the work, in its balance and swing and enthusiastic movement. Frequently the colors jar an appreciative ejaculation from the spectator. A compound of "Green Pastures" and Assyrian background, touched with an oriental complex of decided strength, flavors the various conceptions. Mr. Pratt, one may say, is getting off to an original start.

How steady a course he can run with as little formal training behind him as he boasts is another matter. His exhibit is not art, in the serious interpretation of the word, but it is light, amusing and colorful. The show will remain to Oct. 14 and is worth seeing by all those who enjoy reading riddles and the luxury of laughter.

Alert Mothers Are Informed on First Aid

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

First aid in general is something every mother or other person in charge of children should know. There is, for instance, a definitely wrong and right thing to do in case of burns, there is a right and wrong way to handle infections. People who live near the water should understand artificial respiration. In accidents both large and small the day is often saved by the right thing being done immediately. I have seen this demonstrated a number of times.

There are two ways to hold yourself in readiness. One is to inform yourself by studying a brief book on the subject. Such booklets are obtainable from many sources—the federal, state and city health departments, leading life insurance companies, and the Red Cross.

The second thing to do, since you can't remember all procedures, is to have that first aid book hanging where you can put your hand on it, to refer to. "O, dear, I wonder where I put that first aid booklet," isn't helpful to the victim in an emergency.

Men Get Wary Pledging Love in Their Letters

Breach of Promise Suits Instill Caution.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"He never answered my letter. I wrote him again, and not a word from him!" is a commonly heard complaint.

Well, the art of letter writing has suffered of recent times. Men have become cagey about putting down on paper the thoughts that might arise in their romantic hearts. It's become too expensive a pastime for some of our better financed gentlemen. And they've found it out at the cost of unpleasant newspaper publicity, as well as the raid on their pocketbooks.

Girls are not quite so love letter conscious; rather, they're not so conscious of the danger element therein. Probably because this is one of the phases in which the woman does not pay, should romance strike bottom. At least we cannot recall any case of a woman sued for breach of promise, with her letters supplying the necessary evidence.

The recent public exposure of love letters exchanged between one fair moving picture siren and the married gentleman in the case might be construed as another blow at the good old game of waiting to see what the postman brings. But we're all for ignoring such incidents as affecting a great body of in-loves. After all, exposture incidents are comparatively few, and many thousands of love letters pass through the hands of the mail man in the course of a week. And in this more or less difficult life of ours there is great joy in those precious scraps of paper conveying greetings, cheer, hope, and love.

However, there is a warning to be observed, even where love seems so real as to be its own security—never to put on paper what you would not want prying eyes to see. This warning is particularly aimed at girls who are apt to gush out endearments, confidences, phrases that the beloved might think gems, but which a prying eye might read otherwise.

You can't tell lovers not to put down on paper expressions of endearment, nor would you want to so advise them. Nevertheless, there is a standard of delicacy to be maintained even where passion runs at white heat.

3 MINUTES TO GO! BEARS SCORE TWICE, WIN

CUBS DIVIDE FINAL HOME GAMES WITH CINCINNATI

Babe Herman Hits Home Run.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs and Reds took turns yesterday celebrating the demise of the local portion of the National league baseball season. The first portion of the ceremony was conducted by Charley Root, who fashioned his fifteenth victory of the season by a 7 to 1 margin. Then Lon Warneke came forth with hopes of inserting No. 18 on the profit side of the ledger, but instead encountered his thirteenth defeat, 1 to 0, because his mates could make no headway against Benny Frey. The defeat was the 23d of the year for the Cubs in 79 games on their own lot.

Root conducted his part of the program with such speed that only 74 minutes were used up before the decision became official. Five men hit safely, one walked, and one survived on an error. The blunder was the cause of one Red getting to third base in the first six innings. Only one other enjoyed this distinction. That was Jim Bottomley, who on Saturday ruined a shutout for Guy Bush with a homer. Bottomley did the same to Root yesterday in the seventh when, with a 3 to 0 count, the latter tried to sneak over a crippie.

Frey Wins Despite Reds.

Frey's winning performance in the second battle was doubly noteworthy because there were times when two teams were endeavoring to whip him. His supposed pals embarrassed him with errors on four occasions, but in his most trying moment they redeemed themselves in his estimation by turning in a double play. But the big feature of Frey's excellent job was that he kept Babe Herman under leash. The Babe, no longer annoyed by pennant worries, was quite an actor against Red Lucas in the first argument. The Babe started a noisy fourth inning with a double and subsequently hit another two bagger as well as a homer.

Warneke's conduct during his duel with Frey was well nigh perfect. He met up with a few rough spots in his nine innings but bounced successfully over all of them, except in one instance. That was when the Cubs committed their only fielding blunder of the game. The lone run scored as a result of the mistake.

FIRST GAME

Lucas was the real Lucas until he had fanned Cuyler to start the fourth inning. The greatly relaxed Babe Herman then doubled to right and moved to third when Bluege booted Demaree's roller. Both scored on Camilli's two bagger to right center. Hartnett bounced a single past Adams, Camilli stopping at third. Jurges' long fly to left sent Camilli across the plate. Hartnett scored on singles by Root and Koenig, after which Billy Herman closed the inning by fanning.

Babe Knocks Homer.

Nothing came of a two bagger by Babe Herman with one out in the fifth, but he did better in the seventh. Cuyler singled to left after two were gone, and the Babe promptly boosted his homer into the right field bleachers. A few minutes prior to this outstanding feat by the Babe, Bottomley had boomed his homer among the right field bleacher spectators.

The Cubs concluded their run getting with one in the eighth. Camilli singled to right, took third on Hartnett's single and scored while Jurges was grounding into a double play.

SECOND GAME

The Reds came up with only one hit in the second inning, but received the assistance necessary to make it worth a run and the game. Rice opened the inning with a grounder to Koenig, who apparently thought first base was somewhere in the Reds' dugout. Anyway, that's where his throw landed and Rice kept going until he had reached second. He went to third on Morrissey's single which Demaree threatened to catch. Rice then scored on Bluege's fly to center.

Warneke tumbled into another disturbance in the fifth, but was rescued by a double play. Adams beat out a single on which Camilli made a neat stop, went to second on a wild pitch and to third on Moore's single to center. Adams should have scored on the hit, but used up a lot of valuable time getting away from second. Hafey then rammed a sharp grounder to short and Jurges gobbled it up to start the twin killing.

Cuyler Doubled Off First.

The Cubs' first chance to do any business against Frey came in the fourth when Cuyler led off with a single. Ki was doubled off first on Babe Herman's liner to Bluege. Then Demaree survived at first when Bottomley dropped a throw from Bluege, but immediately was caught in an attempted steal. The seventh started in about the same fashion. Babe Herman opened with a single over short, and Demaree sacrificed. Neither Camilli nor Hartnett could get the ball out of the infield.

The Reds tossed two errors into the Johnny Moore of the Reds is retired on a close play in the opening inning of the first game of yesterday's double header which ended the Cubs' home season. Charley Root had to dive for the ball and make a hurried throw to Camilli from a reclining position to complete the play. The Cubs won the opener, 7 to 1, but lost the second game, 1 to 0. Aurora Rallies to Win U. S. Polo Game, 8-7

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A last period rally, led by Seymour Knox with three goals, turned seeming defeat into an 8 to 7 victory for the Aurora team today in a semi-final game of the United States open polo tournament. The spirited rally, the second to decide a game in two days, swept aside Stephen [Laddy] Sanford's Hurricanes after they had led throughout the match.

In another tournament game, Westbury, an added starter, qualified for the semi-finals by defeating Sands Point, 11 to 7, at Port Washington. The Aurora-Hurricane contest was played at Westbury.

By its thrilling victory over the Hurricanes, Aurora qualified for the finals next Saturday against the winner of Wednesday's semi-final engagement between Westbury and Greentree, which yesterday scored four times in the last chukker to overcome the defending Templeton quartet, 14 to 13.

Aurora Presses Attack.

An amazing goal by Knox, the leader of Aurora, brought the victory to his team a half minute before the final bell rang. The teams rode out for the final period with Aurora trailing, 7 to 5. Immediately Aurora began pressing, with Elmer Boeseke hitting hard, and Knox galloping out in the open. Knox picked up a pass from Jimmy Mills and sent the ball between the posts for the first goal of the rally. Gerry and Boeseke then narrowly missed at the end of two more Aurora attacks and most of the 3,000 in the stands were standing in their excitement. Finally Boeseke backed the ball out of a skirmish and it struck the goal post and rested there, inches away from a score. Knox reined in his pony and twisted back to poke it through.

Then came the play that brought victory. The Aurora team started down with Boeseke hitting up from beyond midfield and Mills sending it along with a fine shot. Knox, riding across the goal mouth, seemed entirely shut out by a Hurricane player,

Ossining, N. Y., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—With the prison band and marching cadets providing a penitentiary version of collegiate atmosphere, the Sing Sing football team, led by the doughty Negro, Alabama Pitts, today opened its 1933 football season by defeating the Holy Name Society team of Williams Bridge, 36 to 0.

Pitts pounded over for the first touchdown shortly after the game started and cleared the way for three more by his mates for a 24 to 0 score in the first half.

Buffalo Wins, 7-6, in Little World Series

Columbus, O., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Buffalo Bisons, champions of the International league, defeated the Columbus Red Birds, pennant winners of the American association, 7 to 6, today in the first game of the "little" world series. A crowd of 10,500 saw the contest.

Bill Lee, starting pitcher for the Birds, was hit hard and in the fifth was forced to the showers. Bud Teachout, who relieved him, was wild, but held the Bisons in check until he was relieved in the eighth for a pinch hitter.

The left handed shoots of George Milstead had the Columbus batters guessing most of the time until the eighth inning, when he, too, was knocked off the mound.

WHITE SOX BEAT CLEVELAND, 8-7; THEN LOSE, 12-6

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 24.—The laugh certainly is on those scoffers who said the White Sox wouldn't win a series on their September trip to six American league cities. In the first game today the Sox tore into the Indians for an 8 to 7 victory, and this added with their triumph yesterday, gave them the series with the Clevelanders. This took much of the sting off the fact that the Indians gave them a 12 to 6 shellacking in the season final here.

Al Simmons made two hits in the first game and one in the ninth inning of the second game to bring his season total to 200. Thornton, a rookie lefty, stopped him stone cold in four tries in eight innings of the second game, but Al went over with one out in the ninth when he lined a single over third.

Appling Nears 200.

Luke Appling, an aspirant for 200 hits, added a pair in each game to his three yesterday to bring his total to seven for the series and 196 for the season. Luke also gained a bit in percentage figures, and now has a rating of .323 as compared to Simmons' .332.

Ira Hutchinson, a Chicago lad, who played with Galveston this season, started the first game, but lost control after the Sox had tied the score with four runs off Hildebrand in the first of the fifth. Lyons, third Sox pitcher, was the eventual winner, his 10th victory of the year.

Sox Do Some Hitting.

Gregory started the second game and his pitching, as well as that of his successors, Miller and Wyatt, scarcely could be characterized as air tight. The Indians made 16 hits including a homer by Averill, triples by Trosky, Lee and Hale and a few doubles.

The Sox also did some hitting in the second game. The first run was made on Milt Bocek's first major league homer in the seventh. In the next inning, with two on, Kress tripled off the left field wall, missing a homer by inches.

Hutchinson held the enemy to two hits and a run in the Indian second. With one out he walked Pytlak, then Hildebrand lined to Dykes. Porter and Knickerbocker knocked successive singles to left, the net of which was the scoring of Pytlak. Appling threw out Burnett.

Sox Tie Score.

Averill was pretty sore at having fanned in the first inning, so he stepped up at the start of the third and smashed a homer to left center inside the park.

Now here is the record of the way the Sox tied the score in the fifth: Appling singled to right, the Sox's second hit off Hildebrand. Kress popped to Hale. English tapped to Hale, whose throw to Burnett in an attempt to force Appling was low. Sullivan supplied the second out with a fly to Porter. Then Hutchinson, Stoneham, Haas and Dykes smacked successive singles, the total doings being good for four runs before Simmons ended the flurry with a fly to Porter.

Hutchinson was so thrilled at the tie that he became all atwitter at the start of the Indian fifth and walked Burnett and Averill in about the time it takes to tell about it. He promptly was excused and Wyatt was called in without adequate warming up exercises. Trosky slapped his first pitch for a single to center, scoring

In the 12 years Donlin played in the National league he never failed to hit .300. In the world series of 1905 it was the combination of Christy Mathewson's pitching and Donlin's hitting that gave John McGraw's club victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Donlin began his professional baseball career with Santa Cruz, Cal., in 1899. When San Jose took over that franchise in the Pacific Coast league in 1900 Donlin served the team as a pitcher. He was picked up by the St. Louis Cardinals later in the 1900 season.

Captain of Giants.

Donlin remained with the Cards for three years as an outfielder and utility first baseman. He was sold to Cincinnati in 1903 and the Reds sent him to the Giants in 1904.

One of the most popular figures in baseball, "Turkey Mike" Donlin became a sensation with the Giants. He was captain of the Giants from 1906 to 1910, when he was sold to the Boston Braves, who later sold him to Pittsburgh, where he finished his baseball career in 1912.

Donlin had been in ill health for several years, physicians describing his ailment as "athletic heart."

DIAMOND TO STAGE

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Fiery tempered Michael Joseph Donlin, whose full name was so seldom used that he might as well have been christened Mike Donlin at the outset, was a baseball star around the turn of the century. Quitting the game in 1913, he became an actor.

He played with the New York Giants from 1904 to 1908, when John J. McGraw was a young manager just up from Baltimore and the Orioles, and Christy Mathewson was in the ascendancy of his fame and power.

He had first come to the notice of the baseball world in California. His first big league berth was with St. Louis of the National league. He was known then as "Turkey Mike" and played in the outfield. In 1908 he demanded that his salary be increased from $6,500 to $8,000, which was a pretty big figure in those days, and so began a series of dissatisfactions which eventually caused him to retire from the game.

Even then he had the stage in mind. His first appearance behind the footlights was with his wife, Mabel Hite, in "Stealing Home," which was put on at the Hammerstein theater on Oct. 26, 1908.

The following year Brooklyn made a bid for his services as manager, but he stayed with the Giants. Those, as one sports writer with flowery realism once described them, "were the olden golden days when Wilbert Robinson was ready to sock you on the nose if you got rambunctious or squeamish on the ball field; when Ty Cobb rode into the bases with his spikes glistening for slicing purposes; when Charley Webb Murphy yapped and yapped, and when Jawn McGraw had a pair of dukes ready for any emergency."

Whatever the special privileges of the baseball field and the clubhouse, Mike's facility with his fists got him into one scrape that made the front page. In front of the old Knickerbocker hotel one night, as he was entering with his wife, an attorney named Edward N. Danforth brushed past and, Donlin told police, jostled and insulted Mrs. Donlin. The outcome was that Donlin and the attorney engaged in a fist fight until broken up by the arrival of police summoned by Mrs. Donlin.

At Boston and Pittsburgh.

In 1911 the Giants sold Donlin to Boston, and from there he went to Pittsburgh, where, after announcing that he would retire from the game and devote all his time to vaudeville appearances, he was unconditionally released in 1912.

Meanwhile Mrs. Donlin died, after an illness of some duration. Making occasional stage appearances and in vaudeville, Donlin went to the Pacific coast and for a time played semi-professional baseball. Then he came back east and in 1917 took a job as manager of the Memphis club of the Southern league. That arrangement did not last out the season. The owners of the Memphis club fired him in mid-season. The reason given was that "by attempting to pitch" in a Sunday game Donlin had made a burlesque out of the game which reflected no credit upon himself or the Southern league.

Plays in Motion Pictures.

After the Memphis episode he was through with baseball and thereafter devoted himself exclusively to the stage.

On Oct. 20, 1914, Donlin married a second time. His bride was Miss Rita Ross of Asbury Park, N. J.

He had played parts in many motion pictures. The last was W. R. Burnet's "Iron Man," produced in 1931. Others included "Slide, Kelly, Slide."

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

LESLIE TIETJE, brought up from Dallas to bolster the White Sox pitching staff, will have made a fast climb to major league baseball if he succeeds in convincing Manager Fonseca he is worth carrying in 1934.

Tietje, who whipped the Yankees his first time out and pitched fairly well against Cleveland Saturday until removed for a pinch hitter, is said to be the most promising of the rookies on the Comiskey pay roll.

Two years ago Tietje tried unsuccessfully to get a job with the Dyersville, Ia., club. The salary didn't matter. He offered to work for a split of the profits at the end of the season. This might have amounted to $50, but probably no more than $25.

Tietje was a member of the West Union, Ia., semi-pro team. He was anxious to get away from small town life, so he summoned enough nerve to ask Flick Hittenmiller for a job with Dyersville, a milk train stop between Dubuque and Waterloo. Pitching for West Union he earlier in the season had lost a game to Dyersville 9 to 8.

Southern California and Ohio State are near agreement on a football series to start in 1934 or 1935.

If the deal goes through it probably will mark the end of Notre Dame U. S. C. relations. These schools are under contract through 1935. Notre Dame almost accepted a game with the University of California for this season and, if there is to be a break in the games with the Trojans you will find the Berkeley eleven on the Irish schedule in 1936.

Ohio State and Notre Dame open a home and home series in 1935 and it is improbable that Southern California plans to have both Ohio and Notre Dame on its card. That would necessitate an annual trip east. Notre Dame for the same reason declined an invitation to play California while it had Southern California as an opponent.

Noble Kizer, one of the country's youngest major league football coaches, is the second oldest in point of service in the Big Ten. Robert Zuppke of Illinois is the only Big Ten leader who has been connected with the same school longer than Kizer.

Kizer is starting his ninth season on the Purdue coaching staff. He became assistant to Jimmy Phelan in 1925. This is the longest tenure of office of any football coach in Purdue's history. The previous record was held by Phelan, who served for eight years.

After Phelan resigned to accept a similar position at the University of Washington Kizer was made head coach. He was appointed athletic director last spring to replace Nelson Kellogg, who moved to Lehigh. He is the only man in the Western conference who holds the combined job of athletic director and head football coach.

HEWITT BLOCKS KICKS TO BEAT GREEN BAY, 14-7

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 24.—Bill Hewitt, a chunky, rugged end who never quits until that last whistle, turned in a Frank Merriwell performance this afternoon in the last three minutes of the Chicago Bears' battle with the Green Bay Packers at City stadium. Hewitt's activities brought two touchdowns in as many minutes and gave the Bears a 14 to 7 victory.

BILL HEWITT.

The Packers, who had held the National league championship for three years before yielding that honor to the Bears last season, scored just before the end of the third period. And the Bears, who had played courageously in the first half, seemed stopped by Green Bay's smashing linemen and alert backs.

Hewitt Blocks Field Goal.

Roger Grove, Packer quarter back, on fourth down attempted a field goal by placement. He stood on the Bears' 29 yard line. In dashed Hewitt, who learned from long experience at Michigan how to step in front of a kick. He knocked down the ball almost as it left Grove's foot and the Bears recovered the ball on their own 35 yard line. They did not relinquish possession again until they had tied the score.

The second play, a forward pass, advanced the Bears to midfield. Then Johnny Sisk grabbed a lateral pass and raced nine yards around the Packers' right wing. With one yard needed for a first down, Jack Manders faked a plunge and then shot the ball to Luke Johnsos, who was dropped on the Green Bay 35 yard line.

Pass to Johnsos Scores.

Hewitt took the ball from Carl Brumbaugh on an end around play. As he ran wide across the field Johnsos, at right end, ran straight down. Hewitt threw and Johnsos took the ball for the touchdown with no defensive player within hailing distance. Still the Packers might win by a point, and the crowd of 12,000 waited almost without a sound. Manders was equal to the emergency, however; he booted the ball between the uprights for the seventh and tying point.

Scarcely more than a minute remained to play. The Bears kicked off to the Packers. No matter what the boys on the Bears' bench thought about a tie score, Bill Hewitt wasn't satisfied. Three times the Bears stopped the Packers on their 20 yard line. Then Arnold Herber went back to kick.

It's Hewitt Again!

The Packers received the kickoff, but their long pass, the final play of the game, was batted down. The Bears had won. The defeat of Green Bay may largely determine the result of the race in the western half of the professional league.

The Packers outdistanced the Bears decisively in the third period. The Bays climaxed the quarter with a 33 yard drive for a touchdown which apparently had won the battle.

The Packers, after several threats, took the ball on the Bears' 33 yard line when Mike Michalske intercepted Keith Molesworth's forward pass. Herber went outside of tackle for 9

AUTUMN RACING OPENS TODAY ON HOMEWOOD TURF

Gift of Roses, Polydorus Favorites in Sprint.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The last lap of Chicago's major racing season begins today with the opening of the first autumn meeting ever offered at Washington Park.

The Washington Boulevard purse, a sprint at six furlongs, is the inaugural headliner for a season which will continue for 18 days. It engages seven of the leading flyers in the west. Last night, Gift of Roses and Polydorus were receiving much backing and it appeared as if one of them would be the 5 to 2 favorite at post time.

There was also considerable support for Magnifico, from the Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney stable, which goes into the battle fresh from a victory over the best sprinters that raced at the recent Coney Island meeting. The Nash brothers' Minton and John Marsch's Princess Camelia were others which mustered backers.

Horses Pack Barns.

Over the week-end one of the largest turf colonies ever assembled at Washington Park moved in. The big movement, of course, came from Lincoln Fields where the steeds have been performing for three weeks, but other stables moved in from Coney Island, Detroit, Canada, and Fairmount. A sprinkling of horses also came from New York and Rockingham Park.

While Monday openings are seldom productive of record breaking crowds, the reservations for the opening program indicate the autumn sport will be ushered in before an unusually large week day gathering. General Manager C. W. Hay said he anticipated a crowd of from 12,000 to 15,000.

Four stakes will be decided during the 18 day session. The first of these is the Homewood Handicap at a mile to be run on Saturday. Forty-one nominations were made for the race, which will carry an added money prize of $2,500.

Plan 2¼ Mile Race.

The Harvey Handicap, also worth $2,500, for which 50 horses were nominated, will be run Oct. 7. On the final day of the season, Oct. 14, the Lakeside Handicap, engaging all the better grade western 2 year olds will be offered, along with the Washington Park Cup at two miles and a quarter for older horses. Chicago racegoers have not viewed a contest over this gruelling route for many years. The race was added to the program to encourage the development of distance runners, it was explained by the Washington Park officials.

One stable that will come in for considerable attention during the Washington Park season will be that of the Shandon Farm, owned by Richard and Pat Nash of Chicago. The horses from this establishment seem to have just hit their best form, although much had been expected of them earlier in the year.

Trainer Looks for Sweep.

Evergold and At Top captured the last two stakes run at Lincoln Fields—the Crete Handicap and the Marquette Handicap—and did their jobs in a most impressive way. There will be a Nash colorbearer in all of the Washington Park stakes. Trainer Greeley believes he has a good chance of sweeping the four added money events.

The racing will start at 2:15 o'clock during the early days of the Washington Park season. Seven races will make up the program, except on Saturdays, when eight will be offered.

Aurora Rallies to Win U. S. Polo Game, 8-7

riding inside him. In some way, just as Mills' shot was bouncing past the post for a miss, Knox got an extra burst of speed from his pony and came clear to hit the bouncing ball in mid air and send it through for the deciding goal.

Spill Affects Sanford.

A bad spill which Sanford took in the seventh chukker was regarded as a contributing factor to the Hurricanes' defeat. He remounted after several minutes' rest, but his play was affected. His inability to play his usual game placed too great a defensive burden on his three teammates. However, even if the Hurricanes had not been handicapped in the final chukker, it is doubtful if they could have stopped Aurora, so well was that four going.

The Hurricanes scored three times before Aurora made its first goal. Sanford was the first to send the ball between the uprights, his goal coming after a run of 60 yards. Sanford and George H. [Pete] Bostwick drove in goals before Mills succeeded in registering one for Aurora with a back hand shot from 20 yards.

The Hurricanes held this margin through the fifth when Aurora scored twice to come within one goal of Sanford's quartet. That set the stage for the winning rally.

Whitney Leads Westbury.

GIANTS TRIUMPH, 6-5; THEN LOSE TO BRAVES, 5-2

First Goes 10 Innings; Darkness Halts 2d.

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Giants had to work long and hard today to win their first game as National league champions, defeating the Boston Braves, 6 to 5, in the ten inning opener of a double header. Their triumph was short lived, as Boston won the five inning second game, 5 to 2. Darkness halted the second contest.

With Ed Brandt opposing Herman Bell on the mound, the Braves had a 2 to 1 lead going into the ninth, largely because of Giant errors. Then Gus Mancuso hit a home run and tied the score.

In the tenth the Braves scored three runs off Bill Shores, who had relieved Bell in the eighth, and apparently settled the game. The Giants then hammered Ed Brandt for five hits and four runs to pull out the decision.

NOTRE DAME WILL ABANDON UNIT REPLACEMENTS

Substitution Will Be Made Man by Man.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Yesterday's scrimmage between the Notre Dame varsity and freshmen resulted in six major developments, Coach Heartly Anderson revealed today.

1—There will be no first team backfield this season, but eight or more men will alternate.

2—Backfields will not be substituted in units, but one man at a time.

3—Tony Mazziotti, sophomore from Elmsford, N. Y., will be the varsity quarter back, barring a complete reversal of form or injuries. His blocking yesterday clinched the berth. He engineered all of the varsity touchdowns in the 33 to 0 rout of the reserves.

4—Don Elser, 220 pound Gary sophomore, will share the full back berth with Steve Banas, senior from East Chicago, who was believed to have had the job won. Anderson credited Elser's blocking with being responsible for Andy Pilney's long runs.

HANLEY IS DISSATISFIED.

Despite the varsity's 44 to 0 victory over the freshmen Saturday, Coach Dick Hanley is still dissatisfied with his Northwestern football squad, which opens its season against Iowa at Soldiers' field Saturday.

The running attack clicked only at intervals and demands much hard work this week, as does the blocking and ball handling.

"We looked pretty ragged against the freshmen, more so than I expected after the way the boys went in several intersquad scrimmages earlier in the week," Hanley said. "Our problem this week is mainly one of fundamentals and developing a sustained attack."

While fault finding was to be expected after only one week of practice, there were favorable signs in the work of several individuals. Eggs Manske turned in a commendable performance at left end, where he was on the receiving end of several long passes, one of which resulted in a touchdown.

Paul Tangora and Irwin Kopecky, two sophomore linemen, demonstrated that they can be depended on for first string duty. The former is a guard and the latter a tackle. Wally Cruice, sophomore from Milwaukee, seems to have clinched the right half back position, where his left handed passing will be utilized.

GOSSOON WINS FINAL YACHT RACE OF SEASON

Gossoon II., owned by Sterling Morton and Mel Vail and skippered by the latter, won the last official yacht race of the season off the Chicago Yacht club yesterday.

The victory, together with a series of other triumphs during the season, gave Gossoon II. first place in series A and series B for the year.

Gossoon II. led her nearest competitor over the finish line by nearly six minutes. The order of the finish of the other craft was: Ariel, owned by Ned Sheridan; Gypsy, owned by Fred Wacker; Alert IV., owned by Dr. Theodore Morris; Nancy, owned by Kimball and Railton, and Varya, owned by Samuel Dauchy.

The combined scores for the season give Ariel second place for the year, Nancy third and Varya fourth.

M'GRATH HURLS HAMMER, PUTS MAN IN HOSPITAL

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—A 56 pound hammer, flung some 150 feet by Matt McGrath, former Olympic champion and now deputy inspector in the New York police department, felled another competitor today at the Brooklyn Sports stadium, where the Round Tower A. C., an offshoot of the Irish-American A. C., was holding its annual track and field games. The hammer inflicted a compound fracture of the left thigh to the unfortunate contestant.

The victim was Paddy Walsh, 40 years old. He had just completed the second leg of a four man relay race and was handing the baton to his team mate.

Chileans Beat All-Star Soccer Team, 2 to 0

The Audux Italiano soccer team of Santiago, Chile, scored its second straight victory in Chicago by defeating an all-star team selected from the National league, 2 to 0, at Sparta stadium yesterday before 3,000. The victory concluded the Chicago stay of the Chileans, who are on a world tour. The Audux team a week ago defeated Sparta, 2 to 0.

A scoreless first half was marked by rapidly shifting attacks in which the goalies and full backs of each team functioned perfectly on defense. Chicago missed a chance to score in this period when the All-Stars were awarded a penalty kick after Fischer had fouled Cuthbert. Lillie's attempt was weak and easily saved by Goalie Stefani.

Vidal Scores First Goal.

The Chileans scored after 25 minutes of the second period when Vidal headed through a well placed corner kick taken by Ojeda.. A few moments later Ojeda, dashing down the left wing, crossed to Boljano, who sent the ball past Baer easily.

Chicago finished the contest with only 11 men on the field after Tom Scott, full back, had been banished when he attempted to kick one of his opponents who had apparently jumped on his ankle.

Sloboda Team Wins, 4-2.

Bears' Rally in 4th Period Beats Packers

Herber Recovers Own Fumble.

Bob Monnett, who played last year for Michigan State, shot inside of the Bears' left end on a reverse for 4 yards. Goldenberg added a yard over guard. Herber attempted to forward pass from behind his center and fumbled, but he recovered for a 5 yard loss.

Then came the climax on fourth down, which later almost was forgotten in the Bears' Algerlike finish. Herber dropped back and threw to Ben Smith, an end, who received at the side line within one yard of the goal as two Bears vainly sought to knock down the ball. Herber was stopped on the first play, but Goldenberg smashed over the Bears' right guard and tackle for the touchdown. Monnett place kicked the extra point.

Monnett's Kick Wide.

The Bears had been forced behind their 20 yard line in this same period, and only Monnett's inaccuracy on his place kick from the 16 yard line saved them. Monnett's effort, on fourth down, was a yard wide of the post.

Each team had two scoring opportunities in the first half. Each of the Bears' threats died with incomplete passes at the Packers' 20 yard line. The first Green Bay advance ended when Clark Hinkle missed a place kick on the Bears' 40 yard line. The second, which might have led to a touchdown, was checked by the timer's gun, at the half, with Green Bay in possession on the Bears' 5 yard line.

Herber's pass to Verne Dilweg was the principal factor in this drive, for it placed the ball on the Bears' 21 yard line. Hinkle and Grove made seven yards in three attempts and then, on a place kick formation, Monnette passed to Grove, who was down five yards from the goal as the half ended.

The Bears' victory this afternoon was the 11th in the series of 27 games. The Packers have won 12 times and four have ended in ties.

Twelve First Downs for Packers.

Green Bay accomplished 12 first downs, 2 by penalty, 7 by passes, and 3 by rushing. The Bears' total of 10 first downs was divided as follows: Two by penalty, 3 by rushing, and 5 by passing. The Packers completed six of their 11 forward passes for gains of 85 yards. One of the passes was ruled complete for interference and another lost four yards. The Bears attempted 24 passes and completed six for gains of 95 yards.

Bronko Nagurski, the Bears' first string full back, was taken from the game in the second period when his nose was broken while he was tackling Hinkle. Bert Pearson also suffered an injured knee. He may be out for several weeks.

SPARTANS WIN, 17-7.

Portsmouth, O., Sept. 24.—[Special.]—The Portsmouth Spartans scored a 17 to 7 victory over the New York Giants today in a National Pro Football league encounter. The day's torrid temperature was matched by the temper of the players. Seven penalties were called against Portsmouth and six against New York, the majority being for roughing.

The Giants' aerial attack, led by Harry Newman, was smothered in the first three periods, but it was Newman who made possible New York's lone score. In the fourth quarter the former Michigan back dashed from the Giants' 49 yard line to Portsmouth's 18 yard line, where he fumbled, the ball going into the outstretched arms of Badgro, Giant half, who went on for a touchdown. Strong kicked goal.

Portsmouth scored in the second period when Bodenger intercepted Newman's pass in midfield and ran to the Giants' 1 yard mark. Gutowski bucked across. In the third quarter Presnell ran 55 yards around New York's right end for another touchdown and then kicked the point. Presnell place kicked a field goal for the Spartans' final score.

The Giants were able to connect with only 3 of Newman's 16 passes for a total of 43 yards. Portsmouth completed 4 out of 7 passes for 97 yards. The Spartans had 10 first downs and gained 219 yards from scrimmage, while the Giants gathered 7 first downs and gained 101 yards from scrimmage.

Detroit Fans Want Ruth for Tiger Manager

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The biggest name in modern baseball stood out today in speculation as successor to Stanley R. [Bucky] Harris as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

From newspaper experts down to the bleacher fans there was one answer to the question, "Who will direct Ty Cobb's old team next year? It was:

"Babe Ruth—if they can get him."

Frank J. Navin, owner of the club, who accepted Harris' resignation yesterday, had no comment to make. He, however, indicated it might be the middle of winter or later before a new manager is named.

HORNER IMPLIES HE WILL SUPPORT RIVER PROJECT

BY BOB BECKER.

The movement to improve the Fox river between the lake country of northern Illinois and its mouth at Ottawa moved another step toward fulfillment when Gov. Horner indicated at a recent conference with Fox valley representatives that he would do all in his power to help this project.

The work on the river would involve the question of flow control, construction of reservoirs, repair of dams, and other measures which would make the Fox a full flowing stream throughout the year. Under present conditions there is the constant threat of recurring low water conditions which constitute a menace to health and make the river unfit for use as a big recreational center.

Horner Gets Request.

Gov. Horner heard the request of the Fox valley for assistance in financing the river improvements through a delegation which visited him at Springfield.

This delegation consisted of State Representative Richard Lyons, Mundelein, chairman of the Fox chain of lakes and river commission; Mayor Myron H. Lehman of Elgin; Mayor Conrad M. Bjorseth of Aurora; E. A. Keplar, secretary, and Attorney B. P. Alschuler, Aurora, representing the Fox Valley federation, sponsors of the movement; State Senator Arnold P. Benson and State Representative John F. Petit, both of Batavia, members of the rivers and lakes commission.

Gov. Horner discussed with this delegation a plan whereby the bed of the Fox river could be established as a park area and funds be secured to improve the river as a public works construction project.

Idle Men to Do Work.

According to the plans of the federation, men who now are on the relief rolls in their home communities in the valley and members of the reforestation army would be used to make the river a healthful and recreational asset to Chicagoland.

EXPECT CUBAN SUGAR ACCORD TO BE ACCEPTED

Disturbed Conditions Delaying Action.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—An arrangement through which President Roosevelt might raise or lower the tentative Cuban quota in the proposed sugar stabilization agreement may lead to an official announcement soon that the pact has been accepted.

Had it not been for the disturbed state of affairs on the island it is probable that the sugar agreement would have been consummated already, though definite decision apparently has not been made on the proposal to set up a sugar reserve corporation.

This point is regarded as a comparatively minor matter, compared to the confusion that has grown out of the disturbed state of affairs in Cuba.

Lacking official representation from the island in drafting the third and latest sugar agreement, administration officials and others concerned hope the plan to leave the final Cuban sugar allotment to the President or some one he may designate, will make it acceptable, regardless of the government which finally holds power in Cuba.

Sympathetic with Cuba.

Both the chief executive and the state department have been sympathetic to the Cuban claim that the 1930 tariff imposed on sugar from the island is a prime cause of present political and economic confusion there.

The President some time ago designated Dr. John Lee Coulter of the tariff commission to carry new proposals to the various sugar groups. Among these was that the amount of raw sugar which Cuba be allowed to supply the United States be raised from the proposed 1,700,000 tons to 2,000,000 tons.

From those close to these groups has come word that the increase has been accepted and that the Philippines also are to be allowed 1,100,000 tons annually instead of the 955,920 tons fixed in the first and second agreements which collapsed because of differences.

The heart of the sugar stabilization plan is allotment of quotas to the various producing interests which would limit the amount of raw sugar that might be supplied the domestic market annually to slightly more than 7,000,000 tons.

Fix Cuban Quota.

In fixing the Cuban quota at 2,000,000 tons, the latest plan would be to allow the Roosevelt administration to raise or lower that amount as circumstances might warrant.

It is hoped this would be acceptable to whatever group comes into power in the island, but this country could limit the amount of sugar which might be shipped into the United States through a licensing system regardless of the attitude of the Cuban government.

It has been the desire of President Roosevelt and the state department, however, to have Cuba—and other interests as well—feel that the final settlement was the fairest possible.

Both domestic and territorial interests express confidence an agreement is approaching. It is imperative that the pact be announced soon, since further delays and differences probably would cause the entire arrangement to be abandoned.

GAINS IN EMPLOYMENT AND WAGES REPORTED BY FEDERAL RESERVE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—Increased employment and wage payments from July to August were reported today by the federal reserve board, with an accompanying statement that the general level of industrial production declined in August and early September.

"Increases in employment between the middle of July and the middle of August, the latest date for which figures are available, were general in most lines of industry," the board said, "and there were numerous increases in wage rates and reductions in working hours."

The period referred to was that in which the NRA first began functioning. However, the report asserted:

"The federal reserve board's seasonable adjusted index of industrial production, which had been rising rapidly for several months, declined from 100 per cent of the 1923-1925 average in July to 90 per cent in August.

"The principal decreases were in primary textile industries, in flour milling and in output of steel ingots, which declined somewhat from the level of July. There were increases during the month in production of petroleum, nonferrous metals, and cigarets, and output of lumber and coal increased seasonally.

"The general average of wholesale commodity prices fluctuated within a narrow range during August and early September at a level about 17 per cent above the low point of last spring. Prices of individual commodities showed divergent movements, decreases being reported for prices of domestic agricultural products, while prices of many manufactured goods, of coal, petroleum and other industrial raw materials, increased. During the second and third weeks of September prices of commodities in organized markets advanced considerably."

COTTON DEMAND GAINS DESPITE RISING PRICES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—Improved demand for cotton cloth, despite higher prices, now is going a long way toward removing anxiety among mill men that the August slump in mill orders would be continued.

Down in Worth street business has been humming for the last ten days. Active interest in both print and broadcloths has resulted in reports that many of the large mills were sold through the last quarter of this year and some have accepted contracts into 1934.

Retail Sales Hold.

The current improvement has justification, according to Ray Bell, secretary of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. Retail sales of manufactured cotton goods have held up remarkably well, with the result that inventories have been reduced and merchandisers have had to go to converters for more supplies.

Converters in turn have placed larger demands with the mills and done much to allay fears that increased labor costs under the NRA in addition to the heavy burden put on the industry by the processing tax would result in restricted sales. The processing tax alone has added 3 cents to the cost of some lines of cotton cloths.

Prices Cut in August.

During August mills cut prices out of proportion to returns, with the result that some firms were forced to close down.

With all evidence now pointing to the conclusion that retail business will hold up, however, mills feel justified in raising their prices to insure a reasonable return.

Risks attending accumulation of stocks have been decidedly lessened and with the labor situation in better shape it looks as if the great majority of the cotton textile workers will be assured of employment well into the winter.

OFFERS NEW PLAN FOR ELECTRIC PUBLIC SERVICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—The protective committee for Electric Public Service company 6 per cent secured bonds, due April 1, 1941, secured 6 per cent bonds due Aug. 1, 1941, and first lien collateral 5½s due April 1, 1942, in a letter to the bondholders announced a plan of reorganization of the company in opposition to the plan of a reorganization committee of which W. W. Turner is chairman. The protective committee is headed by James Lee Kauffman of Patterson, Eagle, Greenough & Day.

Announcement of the plan of the protective committee, it is said, is being delayed because of complications of registration under the federal securities act. The letter states that the sale of the pledged collateral "threatened by the Turner committee is not imminent, and before any sale can be made bondholders will have the opportunity of considering the merits of our plan."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—Charles Hayden, chairman of the protective committee for holders of debentures of the Cuban Cane Products company, issued a call today for "prompt action" on the part of holders on the grounds that the mortgage creditors may now apply for a third sale of the properties which would go to the highest cash bidder. Mr. Hayden states that his committee believes the properties are worth considerably more than the amount of the mortgage debt.

The total of the mortgage debt is $4,000,000. Debenture holders, said Mr. Hayden, should "prepared to bid for the properties at the forthcoming third sale." The committee is now at work on a plan for acquisition of the properties.

GRAIN TRADERS SAY 'NEW DEAL' RULES MARKETS

Expect Politics Will Force Prices Up.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Supply and demand will have to be largely disregarded as factors in the markets, according to veteran grain traders. The "new deal" has changed everything, and the markets are now entirely dominated by what transpires at Washington, they claim.

A canvass of the trade late in the week indicated comparatively few traders have a fixed opinion as to the immediate trend of the markets, although they are talking much higher prices ultimately. As they view the situation which prevails in wheat and other grain, purchases should be made entirely in the light of a long term investment, perhaps for a period of six months, and secured with more than ample margin. They feel that margins of 20 cents on wheat and 15 cents on corn would not be out of line.

Prices Above World Parity.

With American grain prices well above a world's parity, the markets are regarded as entirely a domestic proposition. In consequence, developments abroad can be largely ignored unless of such a character as to indicate that the world's level is rising to meet the American. They see practically no possibility of a sustained decline in grain prices in this country, and continue to express the belief that the trade is largely ignoring the steady improvement which is in prospect as far as international trade in wheat is concerned through the recent conference held at London.

Not only the United States, but also Canada, Argentina, Australia, and Europe as a whole have embarked on a program to revise wheat prices upward, largely through the method of decreasing acreage.

See Prices Forced Up.

While many traders regard this as a very unsound policy, they admit it will probably be highly effective in bringing about the desired effect, namely higher prices, even though it may bring entirely unexpected results.

The latter idea is also believed to apply to corn to a large extent with the proposed reduction of 15 per cent in the acreage for the 1934 and 1935 crops. Corn has been almost entirely a domestic proposition in recent years, with the surplus going abroad largely in the shape of hog products and curtailment in production of the latter must follow in the train of any effort to curtail corn production.

Crop News Is Ignored.

News which normally might be expected to cause sharp bulges or declines in the markets, especially wheat, has been largely ignored for some time. The best students of conditions believe this will continue to be the case for a long time to come.

Price movements on wheat futures were wide and numerous and at times it was difficult for traders to get in or out without suffering losses. Wheat futures covered a range of around 12 cents, and at the close were 3¼ to 3½ cents net lower than the previous week, September being 88½ cents, December 92¼ cents to 92 cents, and May 96⅝ to 96½ cents. Winnipeg closed 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents net lower, with October at 65⅝ to 65¾ cents, December 67⅜ to 67⅝c cents, May 72⅝ to 72⅝ cents. Liverpool made net gains of 1 to 1⅝ cents, with October 69⅝ cents, December 72¼ cents, and May 76 cents. Prices for the week follow:

Lighter Corn Crop Favored.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has prepared a new plan for putting corn and hogs on a profitable basis. He wants a corn crop of 2,000,000,000 bushels, and proposes to spend $50,000,000 for buying and slaughtering hogs, on top of the more than $17,000,000 already spent.

Net losses on futures for the week were 2⅛ to 3¼ cents. September closed at 48 cents; December, 57⅝ to 57¾ cents; May, 52⅛ cents. Prices for the week follow:

Liberal Marketing of Oats.

High prices of oats have induced farmers to market their short crop more freely, as indicated by primary receipts since Aug. 1, when the new crop started, of 27,788,000 bushels against 30,102,000 bushels last year. Net losses for the week were 1¼ to 1⅝ cents, December closing at 40½ to 40⅝ cents and May 41⅛ to 41¼ cents. Prices for the week follow:

Rye and Barley Active.

Rye and barley are attracting more attention, rye especially being active with erratic price movements, and the close at 5¾ to 6 cents net lower for the week. December rye closed at 71⅜ cents, and May at 77⅞ cents.

Barley is becoming scarce and brewers predict a shortage in supply, which will necessitate the use of low grades.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 24.—The question of inflation of the franc is now in the forefront of the discussions about the French budgetary deficit, although it is the opponents of inflation who occupy the stage. In speeches and editorials the subject takes only one aspect—a warning that if the budget is not balanced inflation must follow.

It was Marcel Regnier, senatorial budgetary reporter and one of France's greatest fiscal experts, who led the way yesterday with an editorial in the newspaper Agence Economique et Financiere.

"It must be said and repeated without let up," he wrote, "that it is a choice between budgetary equilibrium or inflation. Equilibrium will doubtless be difficult and even painful, imposing upon the government as well as parliament the hardest of duties, but it will assure safety. Otherwise, there will come deadly inflation, the mother of misery, ruining the retired workers, the possessors of small savings, who have already lost four-fifths of their possessions, and risking the dragging of our country into the worst sort of adventures."

Warning Is General.

That warning note is sounded today in at least three sections of the country where radical Socialist congresses were held, while one agricultural meeting heard the same dire prophecy.

At Tours a radical Socialist group adopted a resolution stating partly that it expected the government in drawing up the budget "to avoid facile expedients, which under the present circumstances would fatally lead to deadly inflation." Senator Rene Renoult, speaking at Toulon, also warned of the necessity of honestly balancing the budget, while at Lille another speaker demanded that the government "struggle against inflation."

Must Cut Expenditures.

During the agricultural congress at Moulin, Senator Albert Peyronnet said:

"The only policy that will permit us to overcome the crisis is bold and massive reduction of expenditures. The peril of inflation is at our door. It must be exorcised."

It is considered highly significant that these warnings come a day after many newspapers published a program of readjustment, which at first was credited to the government. Later it was said the government had nothing definite in view, but it is generally supposed that the program was a trial balloon, since all the newspapers printed it.

The program called for a 6 per cent cut in salaries and pensions, the replacing of the present automobile tax by a gasoline tax, a tax on dividends taken in advance of payment, a sales tax on gas and electrical securities, and fiscal controls over the sale of armaments. In addition to these, two other suggestions have been put forward—to extend the present lottery and to avoid any amortization of the public debt.

Disowned by Government.

All of these suggestions have been disowned by the government, but that did not prevent today's newspapers from heatedly discussing them. La Liberte enthusiastically urges more and bigger lotteries. Le Matin, which has been criticizing the government, calls the idea of abandoning amortization "legitimate." La Journee Industrielle, however, which represents conservative big business, bitterly attacks both suggestions.

As regards the government, one thing only is known with certainty—that Premier Daladier is opposed to inflation and presumably would resign before permitting it.

ARCHITECTS TO HAVE DAY AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Members of the Central Illinois and Chicago chapters of the American Institute of Architects and the Illinois Society of Architects will participate in Architecture and Allied Arts day, next Saturday, Sept. 30. This will be part of Illinois Achievement week, to be held at the Illinois Host house, A Century of Progress, to honor the men and women who have brought distinction to the state of Illinois.

CARLE H. REED JR.

According to Pierre Blouke, Chicago architect and chairman of the program committee, the following schedule of talks has been planned for that day: 11:15 a. m., Ernst C. Von Ammon, "Interior Decoration"; 12 m., Earl H. Reed Jr., "Illinois' Pioneer Architecture"; 2:30 p. m., Jens Jensen, "Our Native Landscape"; 3:30 p. m., Alfonso Ianelli, "Applied Arts"; 4:30 p. m., Thomas E. Tallmadge, "Architecture of A Century of Progress"; 8 p. m., Rexford Newcomb, "Illinois' Contribution to American Architecture."

The evening session will be presided over by Mr. Reed and C. Herrick Hammond, honorary chairman of the meeting. Following the talk by Prof. Newcomb, who is dean of the school of fine arts at the University of Illinois, there will be a reception and also some classic dancing and music.

The Illinois Society of Architects will have dinner and a business meeting at the Architects' club and will then adjourn to the Illinois Host building.

Canada Dry Contracts for Liquor Distribution

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Inc., has signed a contract with Penn-Maryland company, subsidiary of United States Industrial Alcohol company and National Distillers Products corporation for distribution of liquors purchased from the distilling companies.

HIGHER PRICES FOR STEEL MAY BE STIMULANT

Any Contracting Is Gain, Says Journal.

While extensive specifications against expiring contracts last week prevented the national steel works rate from declining more than one point to 40 per cent of capacity, a new factor is expected to give an impetus to the market this week—advances of $2 a ton in plates and shapes and of $3 in bars, becoming effective Saturday, according to the magazine Steel.

If the higher prices for heavy finished steel products act as a spur to coverage, there are, however, points out the magazine, balancing penalties for under and over estimating requirements; the former would necessitate open market purchases at advanced levels, and the latter, the payment for and stocking of surplus material.

Any Contracting a Gain.

"General business still being confused and the fourth quarter outlook obscure, buyers normally would tend toward conservatism," explains the magazine, "but if the prospect for inflation deepens this week, an investment in materials may appear more attractive than the conservation of cash. In any event, demand has been so negligible for several weeks that whatever contracting develops will represent a marked gain."

By the usual tests an ebbing market would not support an advance in prices, but a sharp increase in costs under the code excludes any alternatives, producers claim. "Ingot costs alone have increased $2 per ton, with conversion costs bringing the total almost to $4, due chiefly to labor and fuel," says the review.

Revision in Terms.

A new development is the revision in the terms of contracts for heavy steel. Beginning immediately, producers will contract on the following basis:

"[1] For a definite tonnage to be completely specified in time for shipment before the last day of the quarter; [2] for a tonnage from which the buyer may deviate up 25 per cent or the mill down 25 per cent, and [3] for a stated percentage of a consumer's requirements within a specified maximum. It is possible that mills also will give protection on identified jobs for sixty days."

The steelworks rate last week gained in three districts, was practically unchanged in three, and sank in four. Reinforced by rail releases, Chicago mills improved 4 points to 44 per cent. At Youngstown mills expanded 2 points to 48 per cent, and Buffalo, 3 to 48.

Three Districts Steady.

Eastern Pennsylvania was steady at 35½ per cent, Detroit at 55, and Birmingham at 50.

Mills at Pittsburgh eased a point to 34, at Wheeling 3 to 72, at Cleveland 6 to 54, and in New England 10 to 86.

Steel reports that public work is becoming a more important factor in the structural market. Prospective jobs included 4,000 tons for Boulder dam, 3,000 tons each for a bridge at Quincy, Mass., and for the Puget Sound navy yard, 3,500 tons for a municipal auditorium at Kansas City, Mo., and 3,500 tons for middle west bridges. Last week's awards were 12,645 tons.

Pig iron shipments continue to be seasonally high.

DREXEL STATE BANK WILL STAY IN PRESENT HOME

Reports that the Drexel State bank was considering moving from its present quarters at 3944 Cottage Grove avenue to a location farther south were denied last night by R. J. Neal, president.

"We are not considering a change in location," Mr. Neal said. "We feel that in our present home we have a key position, with every transportation facility at hand, enabling us to serve a large section of the south side. Our deposits are steadily increasing, our gain since the bank holiday exceeding $1,000,000. Local business men and merchants report that there has been quite an improvement in their affairs."

Foreign Gas Authorities to Attend Meeting Here

Retail sales during the last week are expected to maintain the high levels established during the first two weeks of the month, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Despite conflicting influences, caused by uncertainties over new federal policies, which have held other lines of business temporarily in check, local retail sales have advanced unhampered, aided in particular by the consistent demands of World's Fair visitors. Increases in sales, as compared with this time last year, average in general about 25 per cent.

As a further indication of local improvement in employment and general business conditions, street railway officials reported last week that Chicago is now leading all cities throughout the country by a decided margin in respect to gains in street transit travel.

This rise was attributed to two different causes. The Fair has been one strong factor in boosting the revenue. Secondly, the NRA was credited for increasing the traffic, particularly in the industrial sections of the city.

N. Y. EXCHANGE MAY BE FORCED OUT OF NEWARK

Newark, N. J., Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Newark Ledger said tonight it had "unimpeachable information" that Howard Froelick, chairman of the New York stock exchange committee which chose Newark as the site for future stock trading operations, sent word here today that if legal difficulties involving the Centre Market building are not settled by noon tomorrow, the exchange will locate its trading center elsewhere.

The Ledger quoted Mayor Ellenstein as saying:

"The word given me was not so much in the form of an ultimatum. I was told that unless we could settle matters here they would have to look elsewhere. I suppose that means Jersey City."

The legal difficulties rose last night when Vice Chancellor John J. Fallon in Hudson issued an order to make the New Jersey stock exchange and the city of Newark, owner of Centre Market, show cause why the present lessee of the building should not be permitted to remain in possession.

RAILROAD MOVE REGARDED AS AID TO GROUP PLAN

May Hasten Pending Consolidations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—The announcement by Joseph B. Eastman, federal railroad coördinator, that he would study a plan under which the railroads would be consolidated into seven or eight systems may result in hastening plans for consolidations which are already pending, it was suggested in railroad circles today. The plan Mr. Eastman named was devised by John W. Barriger, rail adviser to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The preparation of Mr. Barriger's plan was financed by Frederick H. Prince, who was president of the Pere Marquette railway at the time of its receivership many years ago.

East's Consolidation Plan.

The present plan of consolidation for the east, as agreed upon by the railroads and approved by the interstate commerce commission, calls for four systems based respectively on the New York Central, Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, and Chesapeake and Ohio. The Baltimore and Ohio has made the most progress under this plan.

Within the last few months there has been an increasing integration of the Reading and Central Railroad of New Jersey, which go to the B. & O. under the four systems. Under authority of the interstate commerce commission, the administrative forces of all three lines have been gradually interlocked.

Lineup of Officers.

As a result of the recent changes, Daniel Willard, president of the B. & O., is chairman of the Reading, while C. H. Ewing, president of the Reading, is also president of the Jersey Central.

Edward W. Scheer, who was formerly general manager of the B. & O., and more recently vice president for operation and maintenance of the Reading, now holds these positions on the Jersey Central.

M. L. Powell of Denver New Head of Druggists

M. L. Powell, Denver, Colo., was elected president of the National Association of Retail Druggists at the final meeting of this body in the Hotel Sherman.

BERLIN ANNOUNCES HEAVY NEW TARIFFS ON OFFICE EQUIPMENT

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—New duties on office equipment comprising typewriters, adding machines, cash registers, and furniture are announced in the official Gazette. They range from 1,000 to 2,000 marks for 100 kilos, compared with the present maximum rate of 600 marks. The new rates are just about fivefold of those in effect a year ago.

German importers and firms representing foreign producers are being reminded by German trade officials "that not only are German made commodities equal to foreign products but, in many cases, superior."

"We are fundamentally opposed to the importation of such foreign commodities, but if you hold a contrary opinion we would be glad to have you give us proof," reads a recent statement, obviously inspired by the National Socialist party.

Among the categories coming within the purview of this ruling are office equipment, automobile accessories and artificial silk. Hardest hit by new duties are Japanese electric bulbs on which the duty is boosted from 80 marks per 100 kilos to 800 marks and 1,600 marks, according to their quality.

PROPOSES LIMIT ON INSURANCE INVESTMENTS

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 24.—R. Emmet O'Malley, state superintendent of insurance, said today he would recommend to Gov. Guy B. Park the enactment of amendments to the Missouri insurance laws to restrict companies in their investments.

"There should never be the necessity for an insurance moratorium," O'Malley said. "I think the assets of every insurance company should be at least 25 per cent liquid."

O'Malley said he would ask registration of all policies, limitation of the amount of money a company may lend in one loan and that "the law be changed to prohibit one insurance company from owning the stock of another insurance company, and from lending money on the stock of another insurance company."

O'Malley said he would ask the governor to include this subject in his message convening the legislature in special session.

Donne Tells How to Get Home Loan

BY AL CHASE.

William G. Donne, Illinois state manager of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, yesterday outlined the steps which have to be taken before a loan can be approved by the federal body. He did this in order that the many thousands of home owners who have sought aid and have received no action up to now may understand the cause of the delay.

"A quarter of a million applications have been requested by home owners," said Mr. Donne. "As these are returned to the central and branch offices they must be individually studied to determine their eligibility for federal assistance.

"If eligible, an application is then sorted as to the degree of distress and considered in such order. Upon acceptance for immediate attention the application then goes into the 'mill,' where five major operations must be consummated before the loan can be approved.

Mortgagee Must Accept Bonds.

"The first step is that of getting the mortgagee's consent to accept bonds. This isn't always easily accomplished and sometimes requires several conferences at the office of the corporation, during which much time is consumed.

"The second important step is that of obtaining the home owners' mortgage, title, and insurance papers and tax receipts. These aren't often quickly available and much needless loss of time occurs.

"The third operation is one of major importance. Here the actual appraisal of the property is made by the corporation's appraisers. Such appraisals take from a week to ten days.

"If the appraisal indicates that a loan to the necessary amount can be made, or to an amount reasonably close to the original mortgage, a title search is then instigated which takes from one week to ten days to complete.

Title Search Required.

"When the title is of the Torrens variety less time is required, as this sysem permits quicker searches. Often a title search will bring to light judgments and other complications which prevent quick action. These must be ironed out on all applications then being considered before an additional group of new applications can be taken up.

"Upon completion of the title search, granting that everything is in proper order, a loan can be made. The mortgagee and home owner are called into the office of the corporation and negotiations entered for completing a loan. In some cases where loans already have been made, a scaling down is necessary in order for the corporation to make a loan within the limitations of the appraisal, and yet leave sufficient to satisfy unpaid taxes, necessary repairs and other requirements."

On the average three weeks is required to complete a loan after the application has gone into the "mill." Mr. Donne stated that as additions to the staff are made, and as the coöperation of outside organizations is obtained, he believes that the number of loans completed each day can be doubled and proportionately greater and quicker relief brought to distressed home owners.

Home Loan Bank Credits.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The Home Loan bank board announced today a total credit of $177,875,606 is available to the 1,694 member institutions of the federal Home Loan bank system. Twenty-six new memberships were approved yesterday, the board said, the largest number admitted on any one day so far.

WALL ST. FINDS IT DIFFICULT TO MAP COURSE

Traders Bewildered by Mixed Trends.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—The stock market picture grows more and more confusing. President Roosevelt announced that he is against currency inflation "at the present time." The dollar plunges to one new low after another; it is still worth more than half its face value after six months of "new deal" treatment, however, and the fact is a solace to some. Business activity recedes, then picks up. France may, or may not, go off the gold standard.

It is all very bewildering. The average stock trader has come to the point where he has no idea what it is all about and is not at all backward in confessing the fact.

Market Gropes Blindly.

The market under the tug of such a variety of contrary influences is groping about blindly. It advanced in three of the six sessions of last week and fell back the other three. On Wednesday and Thursday it was called upon to withstand a regular drumfire of selling orders, with the result that the averages were carried down more than 7½ points in the two sessions.

On Friday it turned upward again and the recovery carried through yesterday's abbreviated session, although activity was greatly reduced and the gains were small in comparison with the midweek losses, particularly those of Thursday. The net result was a decline of around five points on the week, the biggest drop for any similar trading period since the big mid-July break.

Swayed by Inflation.

One significant fact that stands out in the bemuddled summary is that the market is still being swayed chiefly by intangible inflation possibilities. Thus, Thursdays' big break was due more than anything else to the remarks of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on the folly of trying to restore the economic balance by price fixing and currency expansion and to the presidential statement on inflation which followed it.

A large proportion of the community jumped to the conclusion that inflationary plans were "off" for the time being and proceeded to dump holdings; they had acquired when the inflationary tide was running the other way. Brokers reported an unusually heavy influx of selling orders from abroad, a fact which they interpreted to mean that foreign speculators had revised their predictions of early dollar depreciation for the time being.

The week-end show of strength followed White House assurances that the government was prepared to guarantee farmers ten cents a pound for their cotton crop with the programed reduction in acreage.

Massachusetts Pay Rolls Increase 40.4 Per Cent

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24.—An increase of 40.4 per cent in the factory pay rolls of Massachusetts and 29.3 per cent in the number employed in August, as compared with August, 1932, was reported today by the Massachusetts department of labor and industries.

TIME LOANS

The loans we make are "time" loans, that is to say, you get a loan today and you may have as long as a year to pay it back—"little by little."

And you will know when you make the loan just how much you will have to pay back, for we figure the total cost and include it in the note which you sign . . . there are no additional charges, fees, or penalties of any kind whatsoever during the term for which the transaction is set up.

LOSSES IN BOND PRICES HEAVIEST IN TWO MONTHS

Chances for Inflation Depress Market.

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—Blown about by the winds of inflation, bonds during the last week suffered their worst casualties in more than two months.

For some time fixed income securities had been showing relative steadiness despite the feverish expectancy in speculative circles that the administration would be forced to utilize its wide powers for currency expansion. Bondholders, however, were inclined to entertain more conservative views and there was little pressure on prime investment groups.

Week Starts with Doubts.

The week started with growing doubts accentuated by the appeals of some congressmen for immediate inflation, or dollar depreciation, as a means of reviving sagging commodity prices. Some important institutional selling appeared in the higher grade categories and the liquidating rush was on. All classes participated in the ensuing decline which, in the case of the rails, amounted to more than 5 points at one time. The industrials registered some resistance, but the utilities were nearly as heavy as the rails.

Selling continued at a fast pace until Friday, when there was a revival of anti-inflation sentiment and all categories rallied sharply. Although Washington was silent as to its fiscal intentions, the belief grew that drastic currency expansion was not an immediate prospect. There were also indications that the administration was seriously considering the inauguration of a managed currency and that, in the meantime, all efforts would be used to materially broaden the credit field.

Secondary Issues Revive.

At its worst during the week, the Associated Press-Standard Statistic average for 60 domestic corporate loans was only about a point ahead of this average in the same week last year. It was also around 9 points under the 1933 high.

While on Friday the most notable recoveries were in the secondary groups, which usually follow stocks, highest grade loans rallied impressively. Market observers, in seeking a clue to inflationary prospects, watch these low yield maturities closely.

United States government securities were fairly firm at times, although they were subject to occasional pressure. The federal reserve system's open market purchases for the week were virtually unchanged at some $35,000,000. Foreign obligations were rather quiet, but highly irregular.

LATIN AMERICAN SECURITY REPORT TELLS PROBLEMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 24.—Prophesying that out of nearly 150 Latin American dollar bond issues about 60 will be paid in full as to principal, 30 will be settled at 25 cents or less on the dollar, and the remainder ultimately will be adjusted at from 25 per cent to 75 per cent of par, C. A. McQueen and L. B. Clark, in the report of a survey of the situation prepared for Distributors Group, Inc., declared that it may take years before the majority of these investments are rehabilitated.

They add that this does not necessarily mean that the bonds will revert to their original status and be met at their present maturity dates.

"The position of Latin American securities has become confused during the last year by additional defaults, partial interest payments, issuance of scrip in lieu of interest and other divergencies from the contractual features of the bonds," the report says. "The market has accordingly taken on a peculiarly technical character with prospects that this tendency will increase during the time that will pass before it is possible to establish more nearly normal relations in international finance."

Railroad Rail Purchases Fall Behind Last Year

With the Washington administration urging the railroads to buy more rails, figures compiled by the Railway Age show that purchases reported for this year are running below the total for the same period last year. While not put forward as all-inclusive, the figures are the most authoritative available. They show purchases of 138,384 tons of rail to date this year, against 141,255 in the corresponding period a year previous. Total purchases last year were set at 185,104 tons.

Letters

That Securities Act.

Financial Editor: The "securities act of 1933," designed to protect the investor from the sale of worthless securities and fraudulent representation, finds among its loudest objectors those security dealers whose securities and sales methods have brought this measure about. They are complaining because they cannot unload upon the gullible public the many millions of worthless credit and securities they are stuck with; because they have suffered terrific paper losses that they have acquired with nothing; because they cannot get enough new securities to sell that can qualify under the security act and make money, and because they fear the teeth in the act should they go out and represent any of the securities that they formerly misrepresented.

What then is to become of the old line investment house? Will they turn honest or go out of business? If they turn honest now, their customers will find out how crooked they were before. What to do? Nothing left but jump into the lake; so that the new and younger generation of dealers and brokers are not hindered in their effort to do business in the light of the present NRA.

GERMANY ABLE TO MEET SERVICE FOR YEAR'S DEBTS

Analysis Shows Rate of Exchange Helps.

New York, Sept. 24.—[Special.]—Germany, despite an expected substantial decline in national income from world trade for 1933 and consequent greatly reduced supply of foreign exchange, should be able to meet in full requirements this year, according to an analysis of official German government trade figures by the national industrial conference board.

It is pointed out that the official estimates do not take into account the saving that can be made on sums due to the United States owing to exchange depreciation nor to the repatriation of German foreign obligations that has taken place since July, 1931.

Income Is Reduced.

"During the first seven months of 1933," the analysis points out, "Germany had a surplus of commodity exports of only 315,000,000 reichsmarks, as compared with 667,000,000 reichsmarks in the corresponding period of 1932. The income from tourist expenditures, shipping services and German investments abroad will undoubtedly also show a great decline in 1933, owing to the unfavorable condition of world trade and partly as a result of foreign reaction to internal political developments in Germany.

"The net income from these four sources is not likely to exceed 900,000,000 reichsmarks net in 1933, if there is no revival in world trade. This figure would be approximately 400,000,000 reichsmarks below the net requirements for foreign debt service estimated by the German government.

Exchange Is Help.

"The official estimates, however, do not take into account the saving of as much as 30 per cent that can be made on sums due to the United States owing to exchange depreciation, nor do they appear to take into account the repatriation of German foreign obligations that has taken place since July, 1931.

"If these factors are given due weight in estimating the foreign debt service of Germany and if the considerable income from the payment of Russian trade credits is added to the net income from merchandise trade, services and foreign investments it appears that even the greatly reduced supply of foreign exchange will be adequate to meet in full the actual debt service requirements in 1933. Under the partial transfer moratorium arrangements made this summer it will be possible for the German reichsbank materially to strengthen its reserve position."

German Debt Figures.

The latest official estimates of the German government show the country's total foreign debt, not including direct investments, as 18,967,000,000 reichsmarks as of Feb. 28, 1933. This consists of 10,265,000,000 reichsmarks of long-term and 8,702,000,000 of short-term debt. Since Sept. 30, 1932, the short-term debt was reduced by 645,000,000 reichsmarks, while the long-term debt was increased by 84,000,000. Since July 31, 1931, the foreign debt, not including direct investments, declined approximately 5,000,000,000 reichsmarks and during the period direct investments declined from 5,900,000,000 reichsmarks to 4,200,000,000 reichsmarks.

Not taking into account the effect of dollar depreciation, the burden of interest and amortization payments from Feb. 28, 1933, to Feb. 28, 1934, is estimated at 1,299,000,000 reichsmarks. Of this amount, 605,000,000 reichsmarks at the par of exchange, or nearly 50 per cent, is payable in United States dollars, which currently show a depreciation of about 30 per cent in comparison with the German mark.

BOOSTS IN PRICE OF BREAD AROUSE A. A. A. OFFICIAL

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—(AP)—The American Bakers' association has some further explaining to do before Dr. Fred C. Howe, consumers' counsel for the agricultural adjustment administration, is satisfied as to the seeming disparity in bread prices in several cities.

Dr. Howe said so today in making public a list of bread prices in a group of cities as of Aug. 29. Recently he reported that bread prices in several cities were more than a cent above the average for the country, and to these he said had been added Newark, N. J., where the price of a pound loaf of white bread "has gone up to 8.6 cents."

Retail prices of a pound loaf of white bread, Dr. Howe said, showed little change from those of Aug. 15, the average for the country, based on a study of 49 cities, remaining the same—7.6 cents. This represented a 1.2 cents advance above the average for 51 cities on Feb. 15.

Howe said the largest advance in individual cities between Aug. 15 and Aug. 29 "occurred in Washington, D. C. (7.2 cents to 7.9 cents). Butte (7.8 cents to 8.2 cents), Jacksonville (7.7 cents to 8.1 cents), Detroit (6.9 cents to 7.2 cents), and Louisville (7.1 cents to 7.4 cents)."

Week's Gold Exports Do Not Affect U. S. Holdings

Transactions affecting the monetary gold stocks of the country reported last week by the Federal Reserve bank of New York consisted of exports of $8,333,300 gold to France and $500,000 gold to England, all of which came out of stocks earmarked for foreign account and resulted, therefore, in no net change in the gold holdings of the country.

Men's Wear Mills Busy; Orders Total Thousands

"Men's wear mills are estimated to have booked orders running into thousands of pieces," says the New York Wool exchange. "Smaller mills began to share in the increased business last week, and in many instances booked enough orders to warrant full time operations until the end of the year."

BUSINESS MOVES EVENLY THROUGH INFLATION MIST

Retail Sales Maintained at Last Year's Level.

New York, Sept. 24.—(AP)—The nation's business moved forward on an even keel through the mists surrounding the inflation controversy last week.

The slump in steel production was checked by last minute orders for delivery against expiring contracts, automobile production receded a little, business expanded in cotton textiles, and the volume of retail trade was maintained at levels well above a year ago, despite the marked bulge of September, 1932.

The cloudy area on the business horizon was still the producers goods industries. The steel industry, however, was encouraged by the prospect of early action to stimulate heavy purchases of rails by making government credit available to the railroads. This, together with a moderate rise in steel prices resulting from the higher costs of operation under the NRA, was expected to bring enough new business to sustain the industry well into the winter.

Auto Reports Satisfactory.

Reports from the automobile industry were regarded as highly satisfactory for this season of the year, although they were a little less optimistic. Cram's placed output for the week at 43,699 units, off 4,354 from the preceding week, and said indications were that September production will be a little under 200,000, contrary to earner expectations. Incomplete reports indicated a little recession in retail sales for this time of year.

Dun & Bradstreet said the week's reports confirmed the strong resumption of consular buying. Substantial gains in retail trade were shown in Pacific coast and some of the middle western states, reports to this agency indicated, although there was some slight recession in the east.

Cotton Textiles Gain.

Among miscellaneous lines of consumers' goods, furniture manufacturers were reporting continuing operations close to capacity, and some pickup was noted in cotton textiles after the lull of recent weeks, with the week's sales of print cloths estimated at about three weeks' production. Shoe manufacturers, however, have largely completed their fall lines, and are showing some seasonal recession of activity.

The movement of freight for the week ended Sept. 16 was reported at 652,016 cars, a jump of 80,629 from the level of the Labor holiday week, and 64,770 cars above the corresponding period of a year ago, although 86,013 under two years ago. Electric Power production showed a gain of 12.7 per cent over a year ago, against 11.1 per cent for the preceding week.

Wool Prices at Boston Strong; Demand Active

Boston, Mass., Sept. 24.—A fairly large turnover of wool in the Boston market tended to moderate toward the latter part of the last week. Prices throughout the week were strong and some advances were realized. All grades of Ohio and similar bright fleeces including 58s, 60s, and lower qualities were offered only in moderate quantities and prices. Territory and other western grown wools were firm to slightly higher on an active movement which ran into a greatly reduced selection of some lines.

Northwestern Public Service.

Investors' Guide: Please give me some information regarding the standing of Northwestern Public Service first 5s, due 1957.—Mrs. F. L. N.

Answer: This subsidiary of North Western Utilities company is part of the Middle West Utilities system. It supplies utility services to 115 communities, including Huron, Mitchell, and Aberdeen, in South Dakota and Nebraska.

Gross revenues for 1932 totaled $2,493,000, against $2,759,000 for 1931 and $2,711,000 for 1930. Charges were earned 1.73 times in 1932, 2.29 times in 1931, 2.60 times in 1930 and 2.12 times in 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $1,037,000 and current liabilities were $730,000. On May 1, 1937, $220,000 assumed subsidiary bonds will mature. They matured originally on May 1, 1932, but were extended for five years. The $8,750,000 first 5s, due 1957, are secured by a first mortgage on all properties, subject to the bonds maturing in 1937. They are a business man's investment.

Mueller Brass.

Investors' Guide: Please give me some information on Mueller Brass company.—T. A. F.

Answer: Mueller Brass company manufactures brass products. Sales in the year ended Nov. 30, 1932, totaled $1,609,000, against $2,582,000 in the 1931 year, $3,686,000 in 1930 and $6,939,000 in 1929. Loss in the 1932 year was $310,000, against loss of $386,000 in 1931, loss of $573,000 in 1930 and net income of $539,000 in 1929.

A July 15, 1933, dispatch stated that the company was running on a full production scale.

On Nov. 30, 1932, current assets were $606,000 and current liabilities were $77,000.

The $769,000 first mortgage 6s, due April 1, 1937, are more a speculation than an investment.

Liquor Stocks.

Investors' Guide: What liquor manufacturers' stock do you think best and why? Not for speculative, but for investment purposes.—N. R. D.

Answer: This department has followed the policy of not suggesting securities for investment. If there is any particular company in which you are interested we shall be glad to send you a report on it, embodying such information as is available.
